FRIDAY, MARCH 20TH, 1891.

(No. 1286.)

SPEECH OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER delivered to the Legislative Council at the opening of the Session on Thursday, the 12th day of March, 1891.

GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL,

It is with much satisfaction that, in meeting you here to-day, I am able again to congratulate you on the abundant harvest of the past year. In opening the last session of the Council I referred to the cereal harvest of 1889 as having been the largest of any year for a very long period of time of which we had statistical information; and, although the barley crop of last year was not equal to that of 1889, the returns under the other heads were greater, and the total cereal assessment was the largest we have had, the quantities of barley, wheat and oats grown having been respectively, it is estimated, as much as 42 per cent., 59 per cent. and 94 per cent. more than the average, while the vetch crop was nearly three times as great as it is in ordinary years. The export of grain from our ports has also been larger than in any year of which we have record, and, though the prices have still been low, these also shew a slight increase as compared with the prices of the two preceding years.

The vintage of the year was abundant in quantity and fairly good in quality. Less Commanderia wine appears now to be made than was the case formerly, but on the other hand there has been a considerable increase in the production of Black and Red wines as well as of spirits. The quantity of Mavro wine made last year was greatly in excess of that of any previous year with the exception of 1886, and this was the case, though in a less degree, both with Red wines and with spirits. I am glad to learn that there is a good demand for Cyprus wine for exportation and that the prices which have so far been moderately good show an upward tendency. Another circumstance to be noticed with satisfaction is the growth in the export trade in Raisins. The export this year has been an exceptionally large one.

The area of land sown with cotton was greater in 1890 than it had been for many years. The season was favourable, the crop was large, and the quality of the cotton grown was unusually good. The prices for export, however, have been, I am informed, somewhat low. The tithe that was formerly taken on the crop when in the field was replaced by a duty taken on the cotton exported together with a small license duty on the extent of land planted. With the view of improving, where necessary, the quality of the Island grown cotton the Government has taken steps for the importation of some small quantity of cotton seed from America.

Of the other products I will here only mention that of the silk cultivation. There was again an increase in the quantity and in the value of the silk cocoons produced, and this increase, though slight, is the more satisfactory as it shews a steady continuance in the improvement that has taken place during the past few years. Our silk-growers, however, are still under the necessity of importing silk-worm eggs from abroad every year: and what is desirable is that the breed of the Island silk worms should be so improved as to make our silk cultivation independent of this annual importation with its attendant cost. This was the case many years ago until the silk-worm disease, to a great extent, ruined a flourishing industry. There is, I believe, no reason why this should not be the case again. In the Paphos District which has always been the principal silk growing District in the Island the Commissioner has given much attention to the subject with the view of securing a more healthy breed of silk worms, and what he has done is an encouragement to exertions on the part of those who are directly interested in the silk industry and who might be able to aid the work either by observations with the microscope or by carrying out as far as lies in their power the principles of the Pasteur system. The revival of this industry which would give employment to a number of people in different parts of the Island is a matter well deserving our attention.

Under the Irrigation Laws of 1887 and 1889 the Government has, during the past year, taken such measures as were within its means for the construction and maintenance of irrigation works. A new work has been carried out at Kiti in the Larnaca District, and the construction of sluices in the Pedias and Idalia canals has led to a more general distribution of water and has brought a larger area of land under irrigation.

Throughout the past year there have been several signs tending to show that the country is recovering from the effects of the bad harvest of 1887 and of the long depression that followed it. The steady improvement in the returns of imports is one proof of this, and everywhere a greater commercial activity is visible. I have also reason to believe that the peasants have been able to pay off a considerable portion of their debts, and this is a cause for much satisfaction.

Turning to the prospects of the year before us these are, I am happy to say, so far, favourable. There has been an abundant rainfall in all parts of the Island and although on account of the cold weather the crops are somewhat backward for the time of year, and although it would be premature to speak with confidence, the promise at this moment of the future harvest is as good as could well be desired.

The revenue of the year 1889-90, which is the last completed financial year, amounted to £174,499.

That of the previous year had been £149,363. The comparative result shews the improvement that had taken place before the 31st of March last year, and though the revenue of the later year was not equal to that of some other years it was above the average. The revenue receipts during the present financial year have also been, so far, satisfactory and I am informed that they will be larger than those of 1889-90.

The expenditure during the financial year 1889-90 was £106,838, being less by £3,000 than in any previous year under the British Administration.

The Estimates for next year have been prepared and will be laid before you on an early day. They have been prepared with every regard for economy consistent with the needs of the public service.

In compliance with the desire expressed by the Council last session that an enquiry should be made into the manner in which the new Revenue Survey was being carried out and into other matters connected with the Land Registration Department I took steps, after directing the adoption of certain changes in the procedure of the new registration with the view of at once removing some of the inconveniences of which complaint had been made, for the appointment of a Commission with instructions to make a full enquiry into the system of Land Registration in the Island and into other matters connected with the Land Registry Department. This Commission has completed its enquiry but I have not yet received its report. As soon as I have done so it will have the consideration of the Government and I will communicate with you further on the subject.

I have also, in accordance with the wish of the Council conveyed to me last session, appointed a Commission to enquire into the Establishments and expenses of certain Departments of the Government with the view of ascertaining whether any and what further economies can be effected in those Departments. This Commission is still sitting and though I doubt if its labours will be completed within the period of the present session I hope to receive from it, before the session is over, a report shewing the result of its enquiry, so far as it may then be carried.

The general health of the Island during the past twelve months has been satisfactory. The Coasts of Syria and Anatolia having been visited by an epidemic of cholera this Government has been obliged to adopt quarantine measures to prevent the introduction of the disease into the Island. These measures have so far been successful and the reports from the infected countries are now more favourable, the epidemic having abated, and, it is hoped, disappeared. But as there is no assurance against its return in the later spring it will be necessary for us to be still on our guard. In addition to whatever quarantine measures we may adopt it is very necessary that the sanitary condition of our towns and larger villages should be improved. The attention of the Municipal authorities of the former has been directed to this necessity, and I trust that what sanitary improvements are practicable will be carried out.

I regret to say that there is still a great deal of crime, more particularly of theft and cattle stealing, in the Limassol and Paphos Districts. I lately visited several villages in those Districts and heard the complaints of the people. The establishment of rural police stations which has been recently carried out will be most useful, but of itself it will not be sufficient to put an end to the evil. The Government is taking steps for the introduction of a stricter penal system of imprisonment with the object of making prison life more deterrent. Other measures also of prevention will be advisable and the question of what measures can be introduced which will best meet the circumstances of the case is now engaging my attention.

The Law that was passed by you last year for the amendment of "The Field Watchmen Law, 1885," I was unable to give my assent to, because it repealed those provisions of the Law of 1885 which provided for the payment of field watchmen and made no other provision in their place. The request which you made to me at the time that a Law might be prepared by the Government to provide for the payment of field watchmen and to make the payment a charge upon the villages where field watchmen should be appointed came too late in the session to enable the Government to deal with the subject at that time. It felt that it could not formulate a scheme without full enquiry, information and consideration. During the recess the question has received our consideration and a measure has been prepared to give effect to your wishes together with a scheme providing for the future payment of the field watchmen to be appointed. This measure will be laid before you on an early day. In considering it I would ask your attention to the suggestion I made to you last year—that the service of field watchmen and the charges which it will entail should as much as possible be made a matter of local option, and that, except in villages where the Government may find cause to intervene, the appointment of field watchmen and the levying of taxes for their payment should be dependent, as much as possible, on the wishes of the villagers themselves.

Amongst other measures that will be brought before you is one relating to medical practitioners in the Island and another relating to the segregation and treatment of Lepers.

The question of the establishment of an Agricultural Bank is still engaging the attention of the Government. The Law on this subject which was passed by you last year was reserved by me and transmitted home for the signification of the Queen's pleasure thereon. I will communicate with you farther on the subject during the session.

ADDRESS of the Legislative Council in reply to the Speech of His Excellency the High Commissioner presented on the 17th day of March 1891.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

The Council shares Your Excellency's satisfaction with regard to the abundant harvest of the past year, and only regrets that the agriculturists in general, from the necessity of selling their produce at an early date, were unable to profit by the present prices, which are considered satisfactory.

There is no doubt that last year's vintage was likewise abundant; but it appears to the Council that, in consequence of measures against adulteration taken by the countries in which our wines find a market, it is time that some provision should be made to secure our wines from the admixture of injurious substances which make them unacceptable to the European markets, because the practice of so treating the wines threatens to reduce the prices below the present hardly satisfactory rates.

We also wish to suggest to Your Excellency the expediency of protecting the industry of distillers in Cyprus against the excessive importation of inferior foreign spirits.

It is also gratifying to note that the yield of another of the chief products of the Island, namely cotton, has been successful; and we feel that it is desirable that, in future, still further facilities should be afforded for the planting of this crop.

It is with the greatest satisfaction that the Council sees the increase of silk cultivation in Cyprus and it is willing to give its coöperation to any measures the Government may wish to take for the promotion of that industry.

The Council sees with satisfaction that the Government of Cyprus does not undervalue or overlook the importance to the Island of irrigation works, and hopes that, in future, it will be found possible to execute all works authorised with greater despatch than has hitherto been found practicable.

There is no doubt that the good effect of the harvest of last year has afforded some relief from the effects of the scarcity of 1887. But the Council is of opinion that, for adequate relief, that which the country requires is a series of prosperous years and the alleviation of the great burdens to which the country is subject.

The Council cannot but thank Your Excellency for having been pleased to give effect to the wish expressed last year, by appointing a Commission to enquire into the working of the Land Registration Office, and trusts that the Commission will submit the necessary suggestions for the improvement of that Department, which represents very important interests.

The Council also thanks Your Excellency for the appointment of the Commission to enquire into the establishments and expenses of certain Departments, and hopes that the Commission, after careful consideration of the subject, will submit what means it is necessary to take for the reduction of the Public Expenditure, which is considered to be very great in proportion to the resources of the Country.

Our thanks are due to the Government for the measures which it has taken in order to protect the Island from the danger of Cholera, which has scourged the neighbouring Coasts, and we pray that, if necessary, the Government will continue to take such measures until it is convinced of the complete disappearance of that epidemic.

It is unfortunate that the prevalence of crime continues especially in the Districts of Paphos and Limassol. We wish to impress upon the Government the necessity for constant special supervision of the rural police stations recently established, without which it is to be feared that the experiment will prove a failure. And we trust that every means will be taken to attract to the ranks of the Police force a superior class of men.

The Council fully concurs in the views expressed by Your Excellency as to the introduction of a stricter system of prison discipline, and ventures to submit that provision should be made for the learning of some trade or handicraft by the prisoners. And the Council will not oppose any other measures for the prevention of crime which the Government may think it necessary to take. We also wish to call the attention of Your Excellency to the necessity for a more thorough application of the Law for the prevention of bearing arms.

The Council hears with pleasure that the Government intends to submit a measure to give effect to the wish of the Council with regard to the appointment of Field Watchmen. The Council does not wish prematurely to express an opinion, but it doubts whether the principle of local option will bring about the desired results.

We are glad to hear that the question of the Agricultural Bank is still engaging the attention of Her Majesty's Government, and we await with anxiety the communication which Your Excellency promises.

REPLY made by HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER on the 17th day of March, 1891, to the Address of the Legislative Council.

GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL,

I beg to express my acknowledgments to you for the Address which you have just presented to me in reply to the Speech with which I opened the Session last Thursday.

I am obliged to you for the promise which you have been good enough to give me of your coöperation in any measures that the Government may lay before you for the promotion of the silk industry, as also in any measures which we may consider desirable for the better prevention of thefts and other offences in the Limassol and Paphos Districts. With respect to "The Firearms Law, 1889," to which you refer, I shall be ready to give instructions for the application of that Law in any part of the Country where it is shown that it has not been sufficiently applied; but I should mention at the same time that the provisions of the Law are not, in my opinion, sufficient for the purpose for which the measure was introduced.

The question of checking the importation of deleterious or inferior foreign spirits into the Island, to which you also refer, is one the importance of which is fully recognised by the Government, and as soon as the Government is in a position to take the measures necessary for that purpose they will be taken.

NICOSIA MUNICIPALITY.

Nicosia, 6th February, 1891.

Sir,

In submitting our report on the examination of the accounts of the Municipality of Nicosia for the half-year ending 31st December, 1890, we beg also to attach a statement of Assets and Liabilities on the 31st December, 1890, and to make the following remarks with regard to the financial state of the Municipality.

We found that there was no uniform system of checking some of the collection of the Revenue and we pointed out this to the President of the Municipal Commission who has at once given the necessary instructions to the officials concerned, to comply with our suggestions.

In the Expenditure side of the account we observe an item for repairs and painting of sentry boxes for Police, £1 17s. 2c.p. which was sanctioned by the Commission of the Municipality. We are of opinion that this is not a charge which should be paid out of the Municipal Funds and have but quite reluctantly allowed this item, and, further, we request that it may be noted that in future similar charges should not be borne by the Municipality.

We have, etc.,

DRAFT OF A LAW,

"TO REGULATE THE PROCEDURE TO BE OBSERVED FOR PROVING THAT PERSONS CONVICTED OF OFFENCES HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY CONVICTED OF LIKE OFFENCES AND TO REMOVE DOUBTS AS TO THE POWERS OF THE COURTS TO PASS SENTENCE IN CERTAIN CASES ON PERSONS PREVIOUSLY CONVICTED,"

Be it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

Previous conviction how to be alleged and proved.

1. Where any person is tried on an information charging him with an offence and is, by reason of a previous conviction, liable on conviction of the offence charged in the information aforesaid to more severe punishment than he would otherwise have been liable to, no reference to such previous conviction shall be contained in the information, but, when the Court shall have found such person guilty of the offence charged in the information, the previous conviction alleged against the convict may thereupon be brought to the notice of the Court.

The Court shall require all such particulars of the alleged previous conviction to be stated as in the opinion of the Court are necessary to enable the convict to understand in respect of what offence it is alleged that he has been previously convicted, and, if, from the particulars furnished, it shall appear that the previous conviction is for such an offence as to render the convict liable to a more severe punishment than he would have been liable to in the absence of such previous conviction, the Court shall enquire of the convict whether he admits or denies that he has been previously convicted as alleged, and, if he shall admit that he has been, the fact of such previous conviction shall be assumed without further evidence.

If the convict shall not admit that he has been previously convicted as alleged the Court shall require that the conviction be proved.

Previous conviction to be recorded in judgment.

2. Where an accused person is proved in manner aforesaid to have been previously convicted of an offence the judgment of the Court shall specify the fact.

Powers of District Courts.

3. Where a person accused by information before any District Court of an offence within the jurisdiction of such Court is, by reason of a previous conviction, liable to greater punishment than he would otherwise have been the Court may, if he shall be convicted on the information, impose upon him any punishment allowed by the Law notwithstanding that the term of such punishment may exceed three years.

Power of Courts to regulate commencement of sentence on convict undergoing sentence.

4. Where a person convicted of any offence is, while undergoing sentence on such conviction, convicted of another offence, the Court before which he is convicted of such last-mentioned offence may direct that the sentence therefor take effect at any subsequent time not later than the expiration of the sentence which such convict is undergoing at the time of his subsequent conviction, and such sentence shall take effect accordingly.

Translation.

Papho, 28th March, 1891,

Honoured Sir,

In accordance with the relative provisions of the Law of 1882, we have audited the accounts of the Municipality from 30th June to 31st December, 1890, and found—

(a). A sum of twelve shillings, five piastres and thirty paras payable by the Municipality to the Cashier, but not debited to the Municipality. The Cashier, on being asked, replied that it was probable that he himself had paid this sum without informing the Clerk so that he might debit the Municipality.

(b). We have found some small items not exceeding five shillings, without receipts for payment. The President, on being asked, replied that these small sums used to be given by his order for the purchase of petty articles and also to some poor people of the street, and that they used to be admitted and sanctioned by the Commission among the other expenses of each month. We have seen the sanctions of every month and they agree on this point.

We are, etc.,

From and after the passing of this Law no carob wood or olive wood shall be sold or exposed for sale except under a permit in writing signed by a District Commissioner specially authorising the sale of such wood ; and any person who shall sell or expose for sale any such wood without such permit as aforesaid, shall be guilty of an offence and liable upon conviction thereof to a fine not exceeding or to both such penalties, and all carob and olive wood sold or offered for sale by any person without such permit as aforesaid shall be confiscated.

2. Olive and carob wood shall be deemed to be exposed for sale within the meaning of the preceding clause when it is being transported to any place for sale.

3. No District Commissioner shall issue any such permit as is mentioned in clause hereof except to a person dwelling within his District.

4. No permit issued under the provisions of this Law for the sale of olive or carob wood shall be valid for a longer period than weeks from the date thereof.

5. It shall be the duty of every person selling or exposing for sale olive or carob wood to have the permit of sale in his possession at the time when such wood is sold or exposed for sale.

6. It shall be lawful for any Zaptieh or Police Officer or for any official of the Forest Department to call on any person selling or exposing for sale any olive or carob wood to produce the permit of the Commissioner for the sale thereof, and if such person shall fail thereupon to produce such permit, the olive and carob wood in his possession may be seized by the person demanding production of the permit and delivered up to the custody of the Commissioner of the District to be sold.

7. Any wood that may be confiscated under the provisions of clause thereof or that may come into the possession of the District Commissioner under the provisions of clause hereof shall be sold under the direction of the Commissioner and the proceeds of the sale shall be paid into the Treasury and carried to the public account.

8. Any person having in his possession any carob or olive wood may be called upon to prove that such wood is his lawful property.

9. A complaint may be laid before a Magisterial Court by any person that any other person has carob or olive wood in his possession and that he is unable or refuses to account for such possession, and if it shall be stated on oath before such Court by any person that the person in possession of such wood is unable or refuses to account for his right to the possession thereof, such Court shall thereupon issue a summons to the person in possession of such wood calling upon him to appear before the Court to account for his right to the possession thereof.

10. If any person, when so called upon, fails to appear according to the summons the Court may compel his appearance by warrant.

If any person, when so called upon, shall fail to prove to the satisfaction of the Court his right to the possession of the wood found in his possession, he shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction thereof before such Court to a fine not exceeding £ or to imprisonment not exceeding or to both such penalties and all such wood found in his possession shall be confiscated.

12. If on the hearing of any such complaint the Court shall consider that the same was made without due cause, it may order the complainant to pay to the person complained against all costs incurred by him by reason of the proceedings and such reasonable indemnity for loss of time as to the Court may seem fit.

13. Where a complaint is made by any officer of the Government on information given by a private individual, it shall be lawful for the Court to make such order for costs and indemnity against the person on whose information the charge was made.

QUARANTINE REGULATIONS.

UNDER the powers conferred on him by the "Quarantine Ordinance, 1879," His Excellency the High Commissioner has been pleased to make the following Regulations:—

QUARANTINE.

1. Quarantine shall be of two kinds, viz.—Quarantine of observation and Strict Quarantine.

2. Quarantine of observation may be imposed for any period not exceeding 5 days, during which period the vessel will be isolated and will be daily visited by the Health Officer approaching on the windward side within speaking distance to ascertain the state of health on board, and whether proper hygienic measures are being taken on board to secure ventilation and cleanliness.

A vessel undergoing quarantine of observation may be subjected to strict quarantine if a case of infectious or contagious disease appears, or is suspected to have taken place on board.

3. Strict Quarantine consists of isolation for such period as the Health Officer (with the approval of the High Commissioner), having regard to the circumstances, shall think fit to impose, together with such measures of purification and disinfection as the Health Officer shall consider necessary.

Passengers.

4. Passengers arriving in Cyprus by any ship which shall be placed in strict quarantine, may be landed at a quarantine station, there to perform quarantine.
The duration of such quarantine shall be the same as that which the ship has been ordered to undergo, but quarantine commenced on board ship may be completed in the quarantine station.

5. Passengers who have performed their term of quarantine on board ship shall, before being allowed free pratique, be landed at the quarantine station with their baggage, and their baggage and clothing shall undergo such process of disinfection as the Health Officer shall direct.

6. In the event of a case of cholera, yellow fever, plague or small-pox occurring on board a ship undergoing strict quarantine, or in a quarantine station during a term of quarantine, the term shall recom-mence from that date, and the person attacked by the disease shall be at once isolated and all possible measures shall be taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

Goods.

7. For the purposes of quarantine, goods may be divided into three classes, viz.—Very Susceptible, Susceptible and Non-susceptible.

(i). Very susceptible goods consist of every description of rags, all worn clothing of suspected origin, all effects known to have been in the possession of persons who have died from cholera, yellow fever, plague or small-pox, and the clothing and effects in use of persons suffering from any of the above diseases.

(ii). Susceptible goods are the following, whether in a natural or unmanufactured state or manufactured or dressed in any way:—

Hides, skins, hair, feathers, wool, flax, hemp, tow, cotton, silk, vegetable-fibres, hay, straw,
herbs, pressed or in bale, letters, newspapers, paper-packets, carpets, and all objects which are mixed, connected, gummed, sewn or in any way united with susceptible material so that separation cannot take place.

(iii). Non-susceptible goods are all goods not comprised in the categories of "very susceptible" and "susceptible" goods.

Ἀμμοχ.
Ε.Δ.

8. Very susceptible goods may not be landed from a vessel in quarantine but must be repelled or burnt.

9. Susceptible goods may be landed from a vessel in quarantine, in a quarantine station, and will there undergo such process of disinfection as the Health Officer shall direct.

10. Non-susceptible goods may be landed in such manner as the Health Officer shall direct, and shall be delivered to the owners thereof without disinfection.

Mails.

11. Mails conveyed to Cyprus in vessels arriving from infected ports will be landed at a quarantine station, and will there be subjected to such process of disinfection as the Health Officer shall think fit, except mails arriving from non-infected countries and properly protected in tarred bags. Such mails after the removal of the outside covers will be delivered, without any further process, to the Post Office Authorities.

General.

12. No vessel shall be placed in quarantine without a cause being assigned, which shall be communicated to the Captain or Officer in charge of the vessel.

13. One or more guards shall be placed on board every vessel in quarantine, with instructions to prevent communication and to make such reports to the Health Officer as he shall require.

14. A vessel to which free pratique has been refused may put to sea again before being placed in quarantine or while undergoing quarantine. In such case the original bill of health shall be returned to the vessel, endorsed by the Health with a statement clearly showing the fact that the vessel was not admitted to free pratique, the length of her stay, and the state of health of those on board.

In such cases passengers whose destination is Cyprus, and cargo for Cyprus or for transhipment at Cyprus shall be landed at a quarantine station to undergo the quarantine imposed on the vessel.

15. Every person hindering or evading or attempting to hinder or evade, the carrying out of these Regulations shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence under these Regulations within the meaning of clause 32 of the "Quarantine Ordinance, 1879."

SANITARY MEASURES AT THE PORT OF ARRIVAL.

1. Immediately on the arrival of a vessel, or as soon after as practicable, a Health Officer shall approach the vessel on the windward side, within speaking distance, and should he find that she carries a foul bill of health or has called at and communicated with a country scheduled as infected with cholera, plague, yellow fever or small-pox, he shall at once order the vessel to proceed to the quarantine ground, there to undergo such quarantine as may have been directed to be imposed on such arrivals. Should the Health Officer find that the vessel carries a clean bill of health and has not called at and communicated with a country, scheduled as infected with cholera, plague, yellow fever or small-pox he will enquire as to the health at the port of departure and any intermediate port at which the vessel may have called, and the state of health of the passengers, if any. (a).

2. Should the answers be satisfactory the Health Officer will go alongside, examine the bill of health and, if this is satisfactory, will board the vessel where he will receive the usual pratique depositions signed by the master and surgeon (if any). Should this deposition be satisfactory, and should the Health Officer have no reason to doubt its correctness, he will admit the vessel to free pratique.

(a). NOTE.—All vessels which may enter a port in Cyprus, from whatever port they may arrive, will, before communicating with the shore or before allowing any boat to approach, have to be admitted to pratique.

3. If, on the contrary, the answers or depositions are unsatisfactory, or the Health Officer entertains any doubt respecting the condition of the vessel, he will not admit her to pratique, but will receive the bill of health, &c., in the special receptacle, in the same manner as from a foul vessel; and he will direct the master to deliver any mails he may have to the Post Quarantine Department and await further instructions. Should the Health Officer employed on this duty be other than the Medical Health Officer of the port or district he will, without delay, acquaint the latter of the circumstances and of the preliminary steps taken.

4. The following are the cases in which the provisions of sec. 3 shall be applied:—

(a). When a vessel, though provided with a clean bill of health, has had on board, during the voyage, ascertained cases of disease.

(b). When a vessel has communicated, at sea, with anything likely to compromise her sanitary condition.

(c). When a vessel, on her arrival, presents an infected sanitary condition connected with either her passengers or cargo.

(d). When there exists any doubt as to the truth of the tenor of the bill of health.

(e). When a vessel arrives from any port in Syria or Asia Minor where a British Consul is stationed without having the bill of health endorsed by such Consul, as required by the Orders of His Excellency the High Commissioner, contained in Gazettes Nos. 83, para. 7, of 3rd March, 1882, and 190, para. 8, of 1st May, 1884. (This sub-section does not apply to vessels of war.)

(f). When a vessel is without a bill of health or when the bill of health is irregular or incorrect, or when the vessel has touched at an intermediate port without obtaining the required endorsement.

(g). When a death has occurred on board during the voyage.

(h). When a vessel arrives from an infected port, but has received pratique at an intermediate port without having performed quarantine.

5. When a vessel has been refused pratique, or pratique has been delayed for any of the causes mentioned, the Medical Health Officer of the port or district will, as soon as possible, visit the vessel and act according to circumstances, as follows—

i.—If the vessel has not been allowed pratique for reasons stated in sec. 4, subsections (b), (c), or (d), he will investigate the case and medically inspect the passengers and crew, and, if he finds that the condition of the vessel is such as is stated in any one of those sub-sections, he will order the vessel to proceed to the quarantine ground and will report the case with full particulars to the Chief Medical Officer, who will recommend to the Government the adoption of such measures as the circumstances of the case may seem to him to render necessary.

ii.—If the condition of the vessel comes under sub-sections (a), (e), (f), (g), or (h), he will medically inspect the vessel, and if he finds no suspicion of communicable disease he will allow pratique. The case of vessels arriving without a bill of health or without having the bill of health properly viséd, will be dealt with by the imposition of a fine or otherwise as provided by law.

NOTE.—The penalty for an offence under any of these Regulations is a fine not exceeding £50, or imprisonment for a period not exceeding 3 months or both. (Vide cl. 32 Ordce. x. of 1879.)

iii.—If the condition of the vessel comes under sub-sections (a), (e), (f), (g) or (h), and the Medical Health Officer has any suspicion as regards the health of the vessel he will proceed as in para. 5. sub-section i.

6. Except under special circumstances pratique shall not be granted except between the hours of sunrise and sun-set.

G. T. M. O'BRIEN,

Troödos,

Chief Secretary to Government.

MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTS.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER is pleased to direct the publication of the following statements of the Revenue and Expenditure of the Municipalities of Famagusta, Larnaca, Lapithos and Karava for the Half-Year ended 30th June, 1891.

FAMAGUSTA MUNICIPALITY.

Honourable Chief Secretary,

We have the honour to attach hereto the accounts of Famagusta Municipality, which accounts we have examined and found to be correct.

We pray you to allow us to report the following on the state of the Municipality :—

From the establishment of Famagusta Municipality up to 31st December, 1890, never was any salary paid to the person discharging the duties of Cashier of the Municipality, and we see now that from the 1st of January, 1891, the Municipality pays a yearly salary of £3 to the Cashier, while before the appointment of the present Cashier, the services of an honest person had been offered with good security and gratis, but this has not been accepted by the Municipality.

The present Cashier keeps a shop and is a relative of the Mayor, and the interests of the present Cashier are connected with those of the President of the Municipality.

The Cashier keeps generally with him more than £50 during the year, which he uses in the dealings of his trade, and he confesses himself that he always keeps the money of the Municipality mingled with his own.

Having examined the money of the Cashier we found £27 of the Municipality mingled with his money, and with regard to the rest he fetched it from the Mayor's shop.

A person has been appointed by the Municipality at the rate of £1 per month to collect the Slaughter-house fees, and this person collects the money without giving any security, which would serve as compensation in case of any abuse being committed.

It would be better that this Collector should give a statement (addressed to the Cashier) shewing the number of the sheep killed every day and what sum of money should be paid for each, and this money to be paid by the butchers directly to the Cashier, and thus, as they will regularly receive receipts every day from the Cashier, the Auditors will be able to compare these receipts with those in the counterfoil-book.

Let us suppose that the Collector receives from a certain butcher the sum of 50 c.p. for Slaughter-house fees and gives over to the Cashier 30 c.p. in their stead, that the Collector receives himself the receipt and pretends having lost it, or that the butcher places confidence in the Collector and does not ask a receipt from him :—how would it be possible then to find out such abuse ?

The Municipality keeps a cart for town cleaning ; it removes thrice a week all the refuse and dung, which, we think, as they are required for the fields, should be sold. As we understand, there are some people, who want these, it is likely that they will be sold at $\frac{3}{4}$ to 1 c.p. per cart-load.

Having thought it good to communicate the above to you.

We remain, etc.

By His Excellency's Command,

G. T. M. O'BRIEN,

Nicosia, Chief Secretary to Government.
28th December, 1891.

The following is a translation of the law adopted by the French Government, and signed on the 11th July, for the repression of frauds in the sale of wines:—

Art. 1. Article 2 of the law of the 14th August 1889 is modified as follows:—

"The product of the fermentation of fresh grape-cake with water, with or without the addition of sugar, the mixture of this product with wine, in any proportion whatever, cannot be sold except under the name of grape-cake wine or vin de sucre."

Art. 2. The falsification of food products provided for and prohibited by the law of the 27th March 1851 is effected by every addition to wine (vin de sucre), or grape-cake wine, to fresh grape wine:

1. Of any colouring matter.
2. Of products such as sulphuric, nitric, chlorhydric, salicylic, and boric acids, &c.
3. Of chloride of sodium above one gramme per litre.

Art. 3. The sale is prohibited of wines plastered with gypsum containing more than two grammes of sulphate of potash or soda per litre.

Delinquents will be punished with a fine of from 16 to 500 francs and imprisonment for from six days to three months, or one of these two penalties according to circumstances. These dispositions will only be applicable to sweet wines two years after the promulgation of the present law.

Casks or receptacles containing wines plastered with gypsum must bear an indication in large characters. Books, invoices, and bills of lading must contain a similar indication.

Art. 4. Wines, grape-cake wines or vins de sucre, wine from dried raisins, will be kept separate in the warehouses by wholesale and retail merchants, and separate accounts kept of transactions in each description.

Art. 5. The Custom house papers in connexion with consignments over 200 kilogrammes in weight of dried raisins will be preserved for three years in the chief or divisional excise offices. They will be open to the inspection of any person on payment of a search fee of 50 centimes.

The demands for sweetening at a reduced tax made in view of the fabrication of vins de sucre defined by Art. 2 of the law of the 14th August 1889 are kept for three years at the head office or sub-office of indirect taxation. They will be communicated to any applicant on payment of a search fee of 50 centimes per article.

Art. 6. The present law is applicable to Algeria and the colonies.

ORANGE DISEASE.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER is pleased to direct the publication for general information of the following Memorandum on the subject of Orange Scale in Cyprus.

By His Excellency's Command,

G. T. M. O'BRIEN,

Nicosia, Chief Secretary to Government.
28th December, 1891

ORANGE trees in certain localities are peculiarly liable to be attacked by scale insects.

The particular insect now under notice (Aspidiotus Aurantii) is widely distributed throughout tropical and sub-tropical regions.

The scale or puparium is really a dirty white, but the body of the insect which underlies it gives the whole a brownish yellow or dark brown appearance.

There are three different stages of the insect—

- (i.) Large scales, which are the mature females after their second moult: the scale which covers them also protects the eggs when they are laid.
- (ii.) Small circular scales, which cover the female after its first moult. These are formed from the mobile larvæ after it has come to rest and cast its skin. After a second moult these become the large scales.
- (iii.) Small oval scales, which cover the small insect. These are formed in the same way as (ii) by the casting of the larval skin. They will ultimately give rise to the winged males. With a lens a few specks may be seen creeping over the orange peel. These are the mobile larvæ seeking a resting place.

Methods of Treatment.

The gas treatment as used in California. This process consists in covering the infested tree with an air-tight tent and afterwards charging the tent with hydro-cyanic gas.

The resin wash. This wash has proved very effective.

Resin	20 lbs.
Caustic soda 70 per cent.	6 „
Fish oil	3 „
Water enough to make 100 gallons.

To prepare the mixture, crush the resin and caustic soda into powder place the ingredients in a kettle and cover with water, boil and stir for 2 hours or until the mixture will dilute evenly with water, then add water slowly till the kettle is full. This may then be emptied into a large receptacle and diluted with water till it amounts to 100 gallons.

An orange-tree 16 feet high and 14 feet in circumference was syringed with 14 gallons which was an excessive amount : the cost of this was about 4c.p.

The wash should be applied twice a year in March or April and in August or September. Care must be taken that the scales on the under surface of the leaves do not escape the spray. [From Kew Bulletin.]

Another useful mixture is—

2 parts kerosine oil ;
1 part of boiling milk (sour milk will do) ; churn to a creamy fluid and dilute with 9 to 10 times the quantity of water ; or
Mix 2 lbs. of kerosine oil with 1 gallon of hot water in which ½ lb. of soap is dissolved and dilute with 10 times the amount of water.

Another method recommended by the Commissioner Famagusta is—Cut up and dissolve 75 drams soap in 3½ oke of hot water, then mix well ¾ oke of petroleum in it, and afterwards put in 42 oke of cold water and mix again. With this mixture sprinkle the affected trees.

Care should be taken not to use a larger proportion of oil, and to mix it thoroughly with the other ingredients ; otherwise, the trees may be damaged.
