THE CYPRUS GAZETTE

SUPPLEMENT.

(Published by Authority.)

FRIDAY, 11TH JANUARY, 1907.

A BILL

TO MAKE BETTER PROVISION FOR THE REGISTRATION OF TITLE TO AND THE VALUATION OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY AND TO AMEND THE LAW RELATING TO IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY IN CERTAIN RESPECTS.

Be it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as “The Immoveable Property Registration and Valuation Law, 1907.”

Short title.

2. In this Law unless the context otherwise requires—

Definitions.

The expression “immoveable property” means and includes lands, trees, vines, houses and other buildings and constructions of all descriptions and of any category and any share or interest (not being a leasehold interest) therein, but does not include any lands, trees, vines, houses or other buildings or constructions whereof the ownership is by any law or custom not required to be registered in the books of the Land Registry Office.

“Immoveable Property.”

The expression “unregistered owner” means any person whether in the occupation or not of any immoveable property, who is entitled to be registered in the books of the Land Registry Office as the owner or possessor of such immoveable property.

“Unregistered owner.”

The expression “Principal Land Registry Officer” means with reference to the District of Nicosia, the Registrar General, and, with reference to any other District, the Commissioner of the District, unless the High Commissioner shall otherwise direct.

“Principal Land Registry Officer.”

PART 1.—REGISTRATION.

3. When any immoveable property is not registered in the books of the Land Registry Office in the name of the person by Law entitled thereto, the Principal Land Registry Officer may compel the same to be so registered in accordance with the following provisions.

Compulsory registration of unregistered property.

4. For the purpose aforesaid the Principal Land Registry Officer may serve or cause to be served upon any person whom he may believe to be an unregistered owner a notice in writing, in English, Turkish, or Greek, as the case may require, calling upon him within sixty days from the date of the service of such notice to cause such property to be registered in his name or to shew cause why such registration should not be made, and a notice to the like effect shall be posted for general information at the place where public notices are usually posted in the village within the boundaries of which the property is situate.

Land Registry Office may serve notice on unregistered owner to register within sixty days.

Notice to contain particulars of property to be registered.

5. Every such notice shall contain a description of the immoveable property, its extent, boundaries and situation, and the grounds on which the right to be registered has accrued, together with a statement of the fees payable in respect of the registration.

Service of notice on unregistered owner.

Service of a notice upon an unregistered owner shall be effected by handing the same to the person to be served therewith, or tendering it to him and informing him that it is a notice from the Land Registry Office under the provisions of this Law, or by leaving it at his usual place of residence.

Service of notice on infants, persons of unsound mind and absentees.

6. In the case where the unregistered owner is an infant or of unsound mind, or resident abroad, the notice may be served upon the guardian or duly authorised agent of such person, as the case may require, or where such guardian, or agent cannot be found, by affixing the notice to some conspicuous part of the property or to the church or mosque of the village in which the property is situate.

If, in the case of an infant, no guardian has been appointed the notice may be served upon the living parent, if any, or upon the person with whom the infant resides or under whose care he is.

Where no guardian of a person of unsound mind or agent of an absentee has been appointed, or where such guardian or agent is unknown, the Principal Land Registry Officer may apply to the District Court to appoint a person to represent the unregistered owner for the purposes of this Law, and service of notice on the person so appointed shall be deemed to be good service for the purposes of this Law.

Power of Principal Land Registry Officer to register.

7. If the unregistered owner on whom notice is served fails to cause the immoveable property specified in the notice to be registered in accordance with the terms of the notice, or does not, within the time specified, show good cause why the registration should not be made, the Principal Land Registry Officer may proceed to register such property in the name of the unregistered owner.

Payment of fee on registration.

8. (i.) Upon the registration under the foregoing provisions of any immoveable property of the categories of Arazi-Mirié or Arazi-Mevcoufé or of any Vacouf property held in Ijaretein the fee which is by Law chargeable upon such registration (hereinafter referred to as the transfer fee) shall be payable in five equal instalments of which the first shall be due on the first day of October next following the date of registration and the remaining four upon the first day of October in each of the succeeding four years.

(ii.) Upon such registration of immoveable property of any category other than Arazi-Mirié or Arazi-Mevcoufé or Vacouf property held in Ijaretein the whole of the transfer fee shall be payable on the first day of October next following the date of Registration.

9. The payment of the transfer fee due in respect of any immoveable property registered under the foregoing provisions, shall be a charge upon such property having priority over all charges and incumbrances whatsoever and whether accruing before or after the date of registration and no subsequent transfer of the property shall be registered in the Land Registry Office until the transfer fee due in respect of the registration effected under the provisions of Section 7 has been paid in full.

Transfer fees a charge upon the property.

10. (i.) Where any sum or instalment by way of transfer fee remains unpaid after the date on which the same has become payable, the Principal Land Registry Officer may by notice in writing call upon the person by whom the fee is due to pay the same by a date to be fixed, and if payment be not duly made in accordance with the terms of the notice, it shall be lawful for the Principal Land Registry Officer without further process to sell so much of the immoveable property in the possession of such person as may be deemed sufficient to realize on sale—

Enforcement of payment of transfer fees by sale of property.

(1) The transfer fee or instalment then due;

(2) All other instalments remaining to be paid to complete the payment of the transfer fee in full.

(ii.) Every sale of property under the provisions of the preceding sub-section shall be conducted in conformity with the Rules of Sale for the time being in force with regard to the sale of immoveable property in execution of a judgment. Upon any such sale it shall be lawful for the Principal Land Registry Officer to fix a reserve price and to direct that the property ordered to be sold shall not be sold unless the amount bid therefor and to be paid by the purchaser shall be equal to or shall exceed such reserve price.

Sale to be held in accordance with Rules of Sale.

(iii.) On the completion of any such sale it shall be lawful for the Principal Land Registry Officer to apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the expenses of the sale, the transfer fee or instalment then due or all other instalments remaining to be paid as aforesaid, as the case may be; and, if the sum realized at the sale is more than sufficient to meet these payments, the surplus shall be paid to the unregistered owner, or, where he cannot be found, into the public treasury, to remain there until claimed by him or by his lawful heirs.

Application of proceeds on completion of sale.

(iv.) Where any unregistered owner or other person is aggrieved by any decision of a Principal Land Registry Officer to cause his property to be sold under the provisions of this section he may apply to the District Court of the District in which the property offered for sale is situate for an order to stay such sale and to restrain such Principal Land Registry Officer from taking further action in the matter, and, at the hearing of such application, it shall be lawful for the District Court to make such order as the justice of the case may seem to it to require.

Unregistered owner may apply to District Court for order to stay sale.

11. Where the transfer fee is calculated upon the value of such property, such value shall be taken to be the value at which the property is assessed in the books of the Land Registry Department for the payment of Vergli Kimat; and where any property is not so assessed the value shall be determined in manner provided by Part II. of this Law.

Determination of value for calculation of fees.

Ecclesiastical Properties.

12. No registration of immoveable property in the occupation of any Ecclesiastical Corporation as defined by "The Ecclesiastical Properties Law, 1893," shall be enforced under the provisions of this Law.

PART II.—VALUATION.

Valuation.

13. From and after the coming into operation of this Law every valuation of immoveable property for the purposes of assessment of the tax known as Verghi Kimat or of fees for the registration of the property in the books of the Land Registry Department shall be made in manner hereinafter appearing.

Appointment of Valuers.

14. Saving as provided for by Section 27 every valuation in pursuance of the provisions of this Law, shall be made by two persons to be styled "Valuers," one of whom shall be appointed from time to time by the High Commissioner, the other by the Elected Members of the Legislative Council of the District in which the property to be valued is situate by writing under their hands, and different Valuers may be appointed as aforesaid for different areas or for different classes of property in the same area.

Members of Legislative
appoint Valuer.

15. In case the Elected Members of the Legislative Council aforesaid shall fail to appoint a Valuer within thirty days from the receipt by them of an order of the High Commissioner requiring them so to do, the High Commissioner may appoint a person to be such Valuer to act with the Valuer appointed by him, and such person shall have the same powers and functions as if he had been duly appointed by the Members of the Legislative Council aforesaid.

Provided that where the Elected Members of the Legislative Council aforesaid are equally divided in opinion as to the person to be appointed they shall forthwith report the same to the High Commissioner who shall thereupon again refer the matter to such Elected Members, and if within 30 days of such reference they fail by a majority of their number to select a Valuer the same shall be selected by the High Commissioner from amongst the persons previously nominated by them.

Remuneration of Valuers.

16. Every Valuer appointed under this Law shall receive such remuneration for his services as the High Commissioner shall determine, and such remuneration shall be paid out of the Island Treasury.

Oath of Valuer.

17. Every Valuer, as soon as conveniently may be after appointment and before performing any duty under this Law, shall take the following oath, according to the form prescribed by his own religion, before the President of the District Court, who is hereby empowered to administer the same.

I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully and honestly and to the best of my skill and ability make any valuation required of me under the provisions of "The Immoveable Property Registration and Valuation Law, 1907."

Dismissal of Valuer appointed by the Members of
Council.

18. A Valuer appointed by the Elected Members of the Legislative Council shall cease to hold office if at any time by a majority of their number they shall pronounce him unfit to continue longer in such office and shall appoint another person in his place.

19. Before proceeding to make a valuation under the provisions of this Law the Valuers shall by general notice or summons request the attendance of all owners or occupiers of immoveable property concerned in such valuation on a date not less than 15 days from the issue of such notice or summons, and every such owner or occupier is empowered to attend the meeting at which the valuation is made.

Notice of valuation.

20. Every valuation made by the Valuers shall be reduced to writing in such form as the High Commissioner shall, from time to time, prescribe, and shall be signed by them, and the identification of any valuation so made with the property to which it relates may be by reference to the registration of such property in the books of the Land Registry Office and without further description.

Record of Valuation.

21. In the case where the Valuers agree the valuation so made by them shall be final and conclusive and shall come into force:—

Date valuation comes into force.

(a) For the purposes of assessment of Verghi Kimat, from the 1st day of January next following the date upon which it was made;

(b) For the assessment of any registration fee or charge incidental to the tenure of the property, otherwise than as specified in Sub-section (a), from the date upon which it was made.

22. In the case where the Valuers disagree as to a valuation their respective valuations shall be reduced to writing in duplicate in the form set out in Schedule I. hereto, one copy of which shall be delivered by them to the owner of the property valued or his duly authorised agent and the other to the Principal Land Registry Officer; and the valuation shall be determined by the District Court of the District in which the property is situate upon the application of the owner of the property or the Principal Land Registry Officer as the case may be.

Determination of valuation where Valuers disagree.

23. No application under the last preceding section shall be heard unless the Court is satisfied that due notice of the same and of the date fixed for the hearing of the application by the Court has been given to the owner of the property or his duly authorised agent or to the Principal Land Registry Officer in accordance with any rule made under Section 45, or, failing such rule, as the Court may decide.

Proceedings in Court.

24. Every valuation determined by the Court shall be entered upon the form in Schedule I. and such form shall be transmitted by the Court to the Principal Land Registry Officer who shall cause a copy of the same to be served upon the owner of the property valued.

Record of valuation determined by the Court.

25. Every valuation so determined by the Court shall be binding and conclusive upon all persons whom it may concern and shall operate in manner provided by Section 21.

Effect of valuation.

26. Where a period of five years has elapsed since the determination of the value of any immoveable property under the provisions of the preceding sections, and in the case of immoveable property not so valued or revalued the following provisions shall have effect. If the person in whose name the property is registered or the Principal Land Registry Officer consider that the same is valued at more than or less than its true value such registered owner or Principal Land Registry Officer may apply for a revaluation and the property shall then be revalued in manner provided by Sections 13 to 25 of this Law.

Provided however that where property has been revalued under the provisions of this section and application is again made within five years of the date thereof for a further revaluation of the same property, if, upon such revaluation, the total amount of the same is less than five per centum below the amount at which the property was previously valued, the applicant shall pay the cost incurred in respect of such revaluation.

Every valuation made under the provisions of this section shall come into force as provided in Section 21.

Interim valuations upon

27. Where application is made for the registration of title to immoveable property and the value of the same for the assessment of Verghi Kimat or of the fees payable in respect of such registration has not been determined under the provisions of the preceding sections or under any law, regulation or authority in force prior to the coming into operation of this Law, the valuation of the property, for the purposes aforesaid, shall be made by an officer of the Land Registry Department in conjunction with the Mukhtar and Azas (or any two of them) of the village or quarter within which such property is situate and if such officer of the Land Registry Department and the Mukhtar and Azas aforesaid are unable to agree to a valuation, or the Principal Land Registry Officer of the District or the person whose title to registration is in question, refuse, either or both, to accept such valuation, the valuation shall, on the application of either party, be determined by the District Court of the District within which such property is situate.

Every valuation so made shall remain in force until it is reviewed or amended under the provisions of Sections 13 to 26 of this Law.

Review of Verghi Kimat Tax on
valuation.

28. If on the completion of the valuation or revaluation of all properties in the Island an assessment at the rate of four per thousand on the values so determined yields a sum in excess of £30,000 the same shall be applied to a reduction of the rate of the Verghi Kimat Tax.

PART III.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Commutation of Succession Dues.

29. The fees heretofore payable in respect of any devolution of title by inheritance to immoveable property shall cease to be levied and taken in respect of all such devolutions occurring after the coming into operation of this Law, and in lieu thereof, there shall be paid annually a charge equivalent to one-fortieth part of the fee which would but for the provisions of this section have been payable upon the registration of such property upon the devolution of the same by inheritance.

The said charge shall be assessed and levied in like manner and at the same time as the Verghi Kimat on the property is assessed and levied.

Reduction in Fees.

30. In lieu of the fees heretofore levied and taken there shall be levied and taken

(1) Upon effecting an original registration of title to Arazi-Mirié or Arazi-Mevcoufé acquired by ten years undisputed possession, a fee at the rate of two and a half per centum of the value of the property so registered.

(2) Upon registering a title to Arazi-Mevcoufé acquired by inheritance prior to the coming into operation of this Law, a fee at the rate of two and a half per centum of the value of the property so registered.

(3) Upon registering a title to Idjaretein Mevcoufé acquired by inheritance prior to the coming into operation of this Law, a fee at the rate of one half per centum of the value of the property so registered.

(4) Upon registering a sale by parents to children of the following classes of immoveable property—

Mulk and Idjaretein Mevcoufé, one half per centum of the value of the same ;

Arazi-Mirié and Arazi-Mevcoufé, two and a half per centum of the value of the same.

31. (i.) Where immoveable property is held in undivided shares by two or more persons or where two or more persons have become entitled thereto it shall be lawful for the Principal Land Registry Officer on the application of one or more of such persons and subject to the provisions of the next section to make a partition of the property amongst the several persons entitled thereto in accordance with their respective shares and to register the portions into which the property is divided upon such partition in the names of the persons to whom the same are respectively allotted.

Partition of property among co-proprietors.

(ii.) Any person who is dissatisfied with the share allotted to him on any such partition, may apply to the District Court to have the partition varied or set aside and upon such application the District Court may vary the same as justice may require, or may set aside the partition and remit the matter to the Principal Land Registry Officer in order that a new partition may be made.

Provided that no partition shall be made under the provisions of this Section until due notice of the application for and of the time appointed for making the same has been served by the applicant for partition in manner provided by Sections 5 and 6 hereof upon the other person or persons co-interested.

And provided also that nothing in this section contained shall be construed as depriving any person co-interested in immoveable property from obtaining a partition of the same by proceedings in a Court of Law.

32. (i.) Where the shares of the persons entitled to any immoveable property are so small that, in the judgment of the Principal Land Registry Officer they cannot be held and enjoyed in severalty without prejudice to one or more of the persons entitled thereto, the Principal Land Registry Officer shall not be obliged to make a partition of the property.

Partition not obligatory in certain cases.

(ii.) Where the Principal Land Registry Officer has declined to make a partition of any property for the reason aforesaid, any person entitled to a share in the property may apply to the District Court of the District in which the property is situate and the Court may order that, unless the share of the applicant is purchased by some one or more of the other persons interested in the property at a price to be determined by the Court and the same is paid on or before a date to be named in the order, the property shall be sold by public auction and the proceeds of the sale, after deducting the expenses of the same, disposed of among the persons entitled thereto in accordance with their respective interests.

Penalty for not reporting death of owner of immoveable property.

33. Upon the death of any person possessed of or beneficially interested in any immoveable property it shall be the duty:

(1) Of any person on whom the property or any portion thereof or interest therein devolves by operation of law or otherwise, and

(2) Of the Mukhtar of the village in which the deceased person last resided to report such death forthwith to the Principal Land Registry Officer of the District, and, if such report be not made within months of the date of such death except by reason of absence from Cyprus, such person or Mukhtar shall be liable to a fine not exceeding:

(a) In the case of the person on whom the property or any portion of it or any interest therein devolves, per cent. of the value of the property or interest devolving on him;

(b) In the case of a Mukhtar, the sum of £ Rewards to Mukhtars.

34. It shall be lawful for the Principal Land Registry Officer to grant to any Mukhtar reporting a death as required by the preceding section a reward not exceeding 5 per cent. of the fees which would but for the provisions of Section 29 hereof have been payable upon the registration of the devolution by inheritance of the property of which the deceased died possessed.

Communication of decisions of Court affecting title to immoveable property.

35. (i.) Whenever the judgment or order of a District Court or of the Supreme Court, in any proceedings in which the title to any immoveable property is in question, in the opinion of the Court necessitates any new registration in the books of the Land Registry Office or any change in any existing registration, the Court shall direct the Registrar to furnish the Principal Land Registry Officer with certified copies of the judgment or order and of the writ of summons or application by which the claim was made.

(ii.) Every such certified copy shall be sufficient authority to the Principal Land Registry Officer to make in the books of the Land Registry Office the registrations or alterations required by the judgment or order to be made and to recover in the manner provided by Part I. of this Law any fees lawfully payable upon such registration or alteration.

Collection of Verghi and charges upon transfer or mortgage of immoveable property.

36. Where upon any proceedings in the Land Registry Office under the Land Transfer Amendment Law, 1890, for the sale or mortgage of property, the vendor or mortgagor fails to produce the receipt of a Revenue Collector or other evidence, to the satisfaction of the Principal Land Registry Officer, of the payment up to date of all Verghi and other charges incidental to the tenure of the property dealt with, the intending purchaser or mortgagee may deduct from the purchase money or the amount to be secured by the mortgage such sum as shall be sufficient to cover the Verghi and other charges aforesaid upon the said property for the three years next preceding the date of the intended transfer or mortgage.

The sum so deducted shall be deposited in the District Treasury, and the balance thereof, after satisfaction of all Verghi and other charges due in respect of the property in question shall be refunded to the vendor or mortgagor.

37. Every proceeding in a District Court had or taken under the provisions of this Law shall be by way of application; and the procedure thereon subject to any Rules of Court which may be made under this Law shall be regulated by the Rules of Court for the time being in force with regard to applications in civil actions.

Procedure.

The procedure upon appeals, subject as aforesaid, shall be governed by the Rules of Court for the time being regulating appeals to the Supreme Court from interlocutory orders.

Provided however that no fees of Court shall be taken in respect of applications to the District Court under Sections 10 (IV.) and 22 hereof nor by the Supreme Court in respect of an appeal against the decision of a District Court under Section 10 (IV.)

38. Except where specified to the contrary the Principal Land Registry Officer or any person affected by an order of the District Court disposing of any application made under the provisions of this Law may appeal against the same to the Supreme Court, and the Supreme Court shall have power to hear and determine such appeal.

Appeals.

39. Every District Court and the Supreme Court are empowered to make such orders as appear to them just in regard to the payment of the costs of proceedings had under the provisions of this Law.

Orders as to costs.

40. SPEECH

OF

His Excellency the High Commissioner

DELIVERED TO THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL AT THE OPENING OF THE SESSION,

COUNCIL,

I have great pleasure in welcoming to-day the new Legislative Council, appointed and elected since the close of the last Session. I welcome as old friends and colleagues those Honourable Members who had seats in the last Council, and to the newly elected Members I offer my congratulations on the high honour which has been conferred upon them by the electorate. I feel assured, from my experience of two sessions of the last Council, that this new Assembly will work with ardent zeal for the good of Cyprus and that the Island will benefit by its labours.

I am glad, in my first Address to the new Council, to be able to state that the financial position of the country is improving and is at the present time in my opinion more sound and more full of hopeful promise than it has been in modern times. With the prospect of a fixed grant-in-aid of £50,000 from the Imperial Treasury, it appears probable that the credit of the Island will be restored, the necessities of the people relieved and general progress and development facilitated. I sincerely believe that, under the blessing of Providence, there is now a bright future for Cyprus; but I must impress on the Council and on the people who are represented here that much patience will be required and much care and labour will be necessary before the Island can wholly recover from her present critical condition. The obligations to be met are extraordinarily heavy; the grant-in-aid will be required in its entirety and is not to be lightly appropriated in the face of the difficulties of the country.

The Trade of the Island was well maintained during the past year; the number and tonnage of Foreign Vessels shewed considerable increases and the Coasting Trade also shewed a corresponding improvement. The Imports and Exports, as compared with 1905, shewed increasing development and the Customs and Excise returns were satisfactory. The transactions in caroubs, fruit, cotton, silk cocoons, sheepskins, straw and gypsum were largely increased; but the export of animals, cereals, raisins, wine and sponges was not so great as in the preceding year.

The cereal harvest again shewed an increase in wheat and also in vetches; but these increases were more than counterbalanced by a smaller yield of barley and of oats.

In connection with the general prosperity of the people of the Island it may be regarded as satisfactory that the Savings Bank deposits have risen from £2,446 at the close of 1905 to £4,025 in the last quarter of 1906.

I am however informed by my Financial Advisers that the influx of capital into the Island is bringing about certain economical and not wholly acceptable conditions; the rate of profit is decreasing; wages and cost of living are increasing and, consequently, a steady depreciation of gold is taking place, accompanied by the natural economical corollary, a general rise in prices.

This rise in prices has been brought very prominently to my notice by the complaints of many of the officials in the public service that their salaries are no longer adequate to the cost of living. I have given this matter very careful consideration and while I cannot admit that the cost of living in Cyprus is, generally speaking, more than in other countries, I am bound to recognize that those officials whose salaries are below the scale usually paid in the Colonial service are not, in the existing circumstances, sufficiently remunerated. It is unfortunately obvious that the revenue of the Island is not, at present, sufficient to admit of a general rise of public salaries; but in the Estimates for the coming year I shall submit for your consideration certain small augmentations of salaries and emoluments, such as will afford some measure of relief to those who are now hardly pressed.

In connection with the complaint as to the high cost of living I may say that my attention has been drawn to an agitation on account of the export of sheep to Egypt, to which has been attributed the abnormally high price of mutton. I have examined the Customs returns of the export of sheep during the year 1906, and I have not found that the number exported has been in excess of the previous year.

The Chief Medical Officer informs me that the health of the Island during the past year has been very good and that, with the exception of some recent cases of small pox in the Nicosia District, no infectious or contagious disease has occurred. It has not been found possible to create the Sanatoria for patients suffering from phthisis which are so desirable and the necessity for which was strongly urged by the last Council; but the rural medical staff has been increased and careful precautions against the spread of that insidious disease are, as far as possible, enforced.

During the past year the Construction of the Railway has been proceeded with and trains are now running between Famagusta and Morphou. I have been glad to note a decided improvement in the receipts of the Line, and there is good reason to hope that, with a slight increase of the rolling stock, the financial results of the undertaking will soon be satisfactory. The Railway is receiving a very fair share of popular support and, considering the short time it has been opened, has already achieved a considerable measure of success. The financial condition of the country will not yet admit of any new railway enterprise; but the growing success of the existing line encourages the hope that further extension need not be postponed for any considerable time.

In connection with this subject, I have to inform you that a Resolution of the last Council, in reference to the construction of a Railway between Larnaca and Nicosia, was duly submitted by me for the consideration of His Majesty's Government and that I have been instructed that the idea of any Railway in Cyprus being constructed by a Company cannot be entertained.

I regret to have to inform you that the much desired Artesian water of good quality has not yet been found. Boring has been proceeded with under great difficulties owing to the nature of the strata through which the pipe has been driven. Several water bearing strata have been pierced and water in abundance has been found; but unfortunately it is of salt quality and has merely added considerably to the difficulties of the work. The limits to which the pipes may be driven has nearly been reached and the advisability of trying elsewhere, in a place where it is hoped that rock will be met with at a reasonable depth, is being considered.

The Harbour Works at Famagusta have been completed and have been handed over to the Government by the Consulting Engineers. The trade of that Port is, consequently, increasing.

The Irrigation Works were more successful last year; 1673 acres were irrigated and the water stored was not all used. The recent heavy rains have brought down further floods; all the Reservoirs, with the exception of one, have been filled and the amount of water now stored is sufficient for any irrigation that may be required in the spring and, possibly also, in the autumn.

The long drought of last year, during which road work was not possible, and the sudden and exceptionally heavy rainfall which succeeded it caused great damage to roads and bridges throughout the Island. The Public Works Department undertook the repairs with commendable activity; no expense was spared and the communications are being rapidly restored to a proper condition. I am glad to add that during the year, in addition to necessary maintenance and repairs, a considerable number of bridges and culverts have been built on Village Roads.

The report which I have received from the Chief Commandant of Police on the general condition of crime up to the 31st of December last is satisfactory and serious offences against Persons and Property throughout the Island show a decrease as compared with the previous year.

The pressing necessity of improvement in the landing facilities at Larnaca have continued to engage my attention and a visit to the Island by a member of the firm of Messrs. Coode, Son and Matthews resulted in a new scheme being devised such as met with the approval of the Municipal Authorities and the Commercial Body at Larnaca. That scheme is estimated to cost £21,500 and I am glad to be able to inform the Council that I have obtained the approval of His Majesty's Government to the work being proceeded with, subject to your concurrence, at the cost of the general revenue.

The re-establishment of regular weekly communication between Cyprus and Egypt has been effected and I believe that the service provided by the Limassol Steamship Company is affording general satisfaction.

In view of the great necessity which exists for an improvement of the Port of Papho, preliminary operations have been undertaken and it has been ascertained that the dredging necessary for the removal of existing obstructions and for securing the safe mooring of small vessels together with the lengthening of the Pier can be carried out at an estimated expenditure of £12,500. The work to be done at Larnaca has a prior claim on the revenue of the Island: but I hope that it will not be long before I shall be able to ask for your assistance in improving the smaller Port.

The erection of a suitable Museum which shall be a credit to Cyprus and a suitable and worthy depository for the valuable and unique archaeological treasures in the Island, has been engaging the close attention of the Museum Committee. Several designs have been submitted and examined and I hope to be in a position during the coming session to consult you as to the financial aspect of the matter.

The Estimates for the coming financial year will demand your special attention. They have been framed in such a manner as to shew, I think, more clearly than before, the revenue and expenditure of the Island and include every item of receipt and disbursement which should pass under your scrutiny. I have endeavoured, as far as possible, to meet the public requirements as they have been laid before me by your predecessors in this Honourable Council and if I have not been able in all respects to satisfy their wishes I have done my best with the means at my disposal. As I have already informed you, I have given full consideration to the question of increasing certain salaries of the officials and I am venturing to recommend for your approval some small augmentations to meet the increased cost of living. In the case of the Police who are paid one shilling a day I have not found it possible to propose any general increase; but I have made provision which will enable every holder of a good conduct badge to draw the additional amount attached thereto. Hitherto, partial provision only has been made for Good Conduct pay and many men who gained their stripe for exemplary behaviour found no pecuniary reward available. If the provision now proposed in the Estimates should meet with your approval every policeman qualifying himself for a good conduct stripe will receive the additional pay to which he will be entitled. This will add about £600 to the pay of the Police and will I hope serve as an inducement to the men to give satisfaction in the performance of their duties.

I have been anxious to meet the wishes of the people, as represented to me in the late Council, and to make a substantial increase to the assistance to be given to Education but for the present I have only been able to find £500 for the purpose.

You will find considerable provision proposed for the assistance of the Agricultural Department such as I hope will facilitate the Director in the important duties in which he is actively engaged.

The whole of the outlay on the Forest Department a large portion of which has hitherto been met from a separate Fund, will now be submitted to your scrutiny.

The proposed expenditure on Public Works will not admit of any considerable expansion during the coming year in consequence of the large amount appropriated for the Larnaca Pier and I hope that you will concur in the view that the urgent need of the latter work is sufficient reason for postponing for the present other pressing works in its favour.

Should the Island be blessed with a good harvest and should the estimates of revenue and expenditure work out correctly, there will remain at the close of the next financial year a small surplus which will I hope form the nucleus of a reserve on which the credit of the country can be based and which will serve for the relief of the people in any subsequent year of famine or distress.

The important question of the abolition or commutation of the tithes has, in accordance with an undertaking which I gave to your predecessors, occupied the serious attention of the Government and some progress has been made in the framing of a scheme by which the taxation now received from the tithes could be transferred to other items. But the matter bristles with difficulties, and while the Government, on the one hand, share the desire expressed by many Honourable Members in the last Council that the agricultural class should be as far as possible relieved from the inconveniences inseparable from the collection of tithes, on the other hand the Government cannot agree that the urban population of the Island should have their burdens materially increased in order that the villagers, to whom considerable relief has already been given, should be still further exempted from the general taxation of the Island of which they should bear their share. It appears also to be undesirable in the interests of the people themselves to substitute any fixed tax, such as might be laid on their property, for the payment of tithe which to a great extent fluctuates in proportion to their means.

In view of these considerations, and looking also to the fact that important changes have recently been made in the general taxation it has appeared to the Government to be advisable to await the results of those changes and to postpone for the present any scheme for the abolition of tithes.

I have not a large programme of legislation to lay before you. The most important measure is a Bill for the Registration and Valuation of property and deals with a matter of the greatest moment to all land owners in the Island.

The Bill is the outcome of a measure which was before the last Council and on which a Special Committee spared neither time nor pains. Your predecessors in this place considered that the great importance of the subject imposed its consideration by a new Council, and the Bill was therefore postponed till the present session. The Bill has been remodelled in some respects and I very sincerely hope that its principles will meet with your approval and that you will succeed, in regard to its details, in producing a law which shall meet the great necessity of the people and bring this long vexed question of Land Registration to a satisfactory conclusion.

A Bill of importance to amend the existing law in regard to Municipalities will also be laid before you. It aims at the correction of certain anomalies in the present Municipal system and is the outcome of representations made in this Council by your predecessors.

Other measures of perhaps less importance have been prepared for your consideration and others again may, possibly, be introduced during the progress of the session.

In reference to the legislation of the last session it is my duty to inform your Honourable Council that His Majesty's Government did not approve of my giving my assent to "The Contagious Diseases Prevention Law." The despatch of the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject will be duly laid before you.

In the consideration of these matters which I have mentioned to you, Gentlemen, and of any others which may be introduced into the Council during the coming session, I rely confidently on your assistance and co-operation.

It is the great wish of the Government to work in the utmost harmony with the elected representatives of the people and I trust that the concord which has so happily prevailed during the two last preceding sessions will continue; for the good of the country and for the welfare of the people. Differences of opinion are inevitable; but the Government will ever welcome the wholesome criticism which the experience of the people's representatives enables them to bring to bear on the conduct of public affairs.

I pray that during the coming session your deliberations and mine will be guided and directed by Divine Providence and I now in the name of King Edward the Seventh declare this Session to be formally open.

ADDRESS

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

IN REPLY TO THE SPEECH OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER AT THE OPENING OF THE SESSION ON 5TH FEBRUARY, 1907.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

The new Legislative Council warmly thanks Your Excellency for your courteous greeting to it, and particularly so do the elected representatives, who, emanating directly and quite recently from the free will of the Cypriot people, duly appreciate Your Excellency's kind esteem of them and of the people of Cyprus whom they represent.

And the Council feels confident that Your Excellency's special ability as a good and conscientious Governor will, by co-operation with the representatives of this people of noble descent and great historical past, conduce greatly to the desired advancement and prosperity of the people.

And it congratulates Your Excellency on the fact that during Your Excellency's tenure of office the relations between the people and the Government have, by a well considered administration, become smoother to the benefit of both.

2. The Council thanks Your Excellency that by the introduction of secret voting in the elections for the Legislative Council the free vote of the people has been better secured. It observes, however, that in some Polling Stations the voting did not conform strictly with the Regulations and voters were not required to vote aye or no for every candidate. The Council recommends that the same system of secret voting should also be applied to the election of persons, councils and committees provided by other laws.

3. It is with pleasure that the Council sees the development of the trade of the Island and the consequent proportionate increase of Public Revenue, which increase is due above all to the industry and enterprising spirit of the inhabitants and to a more abundant production of the Island on account of the prevalence of more favourable atmospheric conditions. The Council regrets, however, that no provision has hitherto been made against the protective measures which other countries, in their care for their own interests, have taken against the products of Cyprus. The Council unhesitatingly believes that, owing to the imperfect means of inland communication, the want of the absolutely necessary harbour facilities at the principal ports of Import and Export in the Island and the want of a sufficient and suitable Coasting Service round the Island, the general trade of the Island will continue to be defective and to be prejudiced in a substantial degree.

4. The Council agrees with Your Excellency with regard to the reasons which have brought about anomalies and difficulties in the means of the subsistence and maintenance of the people. It considers it satisfactory that the Government has taken into serious consideration the question of the officials who have always suffered greatly from the insufficiency of their pay, and it hopes that the increase in salaries will be commensurate to the rise which has taken place in the prices of the means of subsistence and maintenance so that some relief may be afforded to the really hardly pressed officials. In this connection the Council recommends that the free importation of animals for slaughter and of other victuals should be continued and extended, and also that, in places of less importance to the forests, pasturage should be afforded to sheep and goats to a greater extent so as to encourage animal-breeding in Cyprus which is, in a great measure, feeding and supporting the people.

5. The Council thanks Your Excellency that a commencement has been made, as regards lands included within the reserved forests which are owned by virtue of title-deeds and for which those to whom they belong are still assessed, to concede such lands to their owners, and prays that this just measure may be made a general one and that, when such concessions are made, the real extent of land comprised within the boundaries given in the title-deeds should be taken into account. The Council observes that the Forest Department continues its oppressions as regards (a) the sale of firewood which is cut on private lands; (b) the practice of bringing villagers before the Courts from very distant places whereby they are sentenced to comparatively excessive Court expenses for insignificant offences against the Forest Laws, in consequence of the neglect of some of the Commissioners to compound offences, as they have the power to do under the respective law; (c) the production before the Court of a great number of forest cases the majority of which are dismissed to the peasants' great detriment. The Council appreciates duly the plantations which the Forest Department has hitherto made in carrying out a re-afforestation proportionate to the insufficient means placed at its disposal for the purpose. But it emphasizes again the necessity of an annual provision for the Forest Department, such as would be sufficient to carry out a gradual re-afforestation of places denuded of their trees and especially of marshy places situate near towns or villages for purposes of sanitation. Further, the Council suggests the encouragement and stimulation of the dissemination, through the public elementary schools, of some knowledge of forestry and an infusion into the minds of children of a love for forests, and also the consideration and organization, to the advantage of the forests themselves, of a better system of forest service, such as will be in accordance with the new progress attained in European Forest Services.

6. The Council learns with great pleasure that more adequate means are placed this year at the disposal of the Agricultural Department which has for its object, assisted, as it is, by the special ability of Mr. D. Saracomenos, to foster the agriculture of the Island in general, that is that factor which is pre-eminently conducive to the enrichment of Cyprus. The Council recommends warmly the establishment of a practical agricultural school and the dissemination among the people of a knowledge of agriculture, arboriculture, cattle-breeding, fowl-breeding, bee-keeping and sericulture, especially through the public elementary schools, by means of suitable elementary lessons to be taught on payment to the school-teachers of some adequate allowance. Furthermore, it recommends the gratuitous grant to agriculturists of trees and plants from the nurseries, the supply from abroad and propagation in the country of selected seeds of cereals, cotton, vegetables and other products, the improvement, by grafting, of the various species of fruit trees, the complete combating of various diseases which are injurious to trees, vines and crops, and the destruction by all possible means of rats which are most injurious to fruit-bearing trees. The Council points out as indispensable the practical application of the newest methods of cultivation; and considers it to be conducive to this purpose that the Government should obtain and supply the necessary agricultural machinery and implements to the agricultural communities, at their actual cost and under conditions which would facilitate the acquisition and payment of the same. It recommends that practical directions should be communicated for the guidance of the public concerning the preservation and methodical packing of fruit sent out of the Island, and submits the opinion that periodical shows of the various agricultural and industrial products of the Island shall be organised and held by turns in various Districts. Moreover, it draws the serious attention of the Government to the fact that the object of The Silk-worm Egg Protection Law, 1897, is defeated owing to the bad quality of imported silk-worm eggs whereby the local production of silk-worms and silk-worm eggs is considerably injured.

7. The Council thanks the Government for the Agricultural Bank the establishment of which was fervently advocated for many years by the representatives of the country, but it observes with much regret that this credit establishment does not meet the reasonable expectations of the agricultural population (a) because the rate of interest, 9 per cent., is very excessive, especially in the present financial condition of the country and in view of the great facilities which the Government has accorded to the Bank, (b) because the said Bank requires as security landed property of three or four times the value of the loan given, thereby fettering the villager's whole property and destroying his credit which is indispensable to him for his many other wants; (c) because it lends money on land mortgages only and overlooks, strange to say, the great value of fruit trees which constitute one of the most valuable kinds of property in Cyprus. And whereas it is very probable that properties may be mortgaged to the Bank by villagers who also owe money without security to Cypriot capitalists who will thus be unable to recover their claims, the Council deems it its duty to recommend that the Government should bring this matter to the notice of the said Bank and endeavour to prevent any fraud being committed at the expense of the native capitalists.

8. The Council expresses its thanks for the annual grant-in-aid of £50,000 and the wish that that sum may be increased so as to meet other wants of the country.

9. The Council is glad to learn from Your Excellency that the Railway has achieved a considerable measure of success and shares most fully Your Excellency's hopes that, ere long, the line will be further extended, and it strongly recommends that, in such further extension, Larnaca and Limassol should be first dealt with, the former being connected with the capital of the Island via Dali and the latter with Troödos and Morphou through the caroub, wine and raisin producing villages of the Limassol and Papho Districts.

10. The Council agrees with Your Excellency that works of public utility, such as the Railway to Larnaca, should be executed by the Government, but when the Government is unable or omits to execute the same, the Council thinks that the interests of the country will suffer if the construction of such works is not allowed to be done by private capital, more especially when such works are after the lapse of a fixed time to become the property of the country.

11. The Council thanks His Majesty's Government and Your Excellency for the projected execution of harbour facilities at Larnaca and Papho, and recommends that harbour improvements be also carried out at Limassol and that the Government should give its attention to the state of the Kyrenia harbour. It submits the view that the said harbour works of Larnaca and Papho should, if possible, be carried out by a loan, the interest and sinking fund of which should be repayable out of the public revenue, so as to facilitate the construction of other necessary public works. Further, the Council solicits the close attention of the Government to the execution of necessary public works in those parts of the country which are reasonably complaining that they have hitherto been overlooked by the Government.

12. The Council observes that, in spite of all the zeal of the Public Works Department in the construction and repair of public works, a comparatively large number of roads, bridges and culverts have been injured by the rains and washed away by torrents, in some cases, on account of misconceived economy and in others on account of the inexperience of the staff. It draws the attention of the Government to the fact that the zeal of the villagers in constructing and repairing their village roads is abating owing to the great injury the said roads sustain, after they are constructed with so much toil on the part of the villagers, in consequence of the violation by the Government of its legal obligation to construct what skilled work is absolutely necessary for the completion and upkeep of such roads. And the Council implores particularly the attention of the Government to the fact that it should complete as soon as possible those carriage roads for the construction of which the villagers have contributed a great amount of work on the understood condition that the Government would provide for the rest of the work, which, however, has now, for many years, been postponed by the Government. And it observes that, with the object of executing and properly maintaining such public works in the Island as are absolutely necessary, it is incumbent on the Government to appropriate an annual sum of money greater by far than that appropriated hitherto which unfortunately is so very insufficient.

13. The Council is glad to hear that crime in the country has diminished in a sensible degree, and confidently believes that, were the Police Branch of the Service improved both in quality and in numbers by the promotion and encouragement of those native Police Officials who distinguish themselves, by the dismissal of inefficient Police Officials and by the employment of a sufficient number of Policemen—all of whom should be adequately remunerated—crime would be reduced to the smallest degree in a country where public order is deeply appreciated.

14. Although, according to the information afforded by the Honourable the Chief Medical Officer, the health of the Island has been, fortunately, very good during the past year, the Council reiterates its recommendations (a) concerning the establishment of a sanatorium for patients suffering from phthisis; (b) that provision be made for keeping statistical returns of the various diseases in the Island and of the respective deaths therefrom; (c) concerning the establishment of clinical wards for midwifery and gynaecology owing to the many and frequent deaths of women in child-birth, so that destitute encephalic women should find refuge in them and that empirical midwives should be trained therein, by turns, in their profession and the method of applying the antiseptic means required by science, and that, moreover, other young women should be taught midwifery therein; (d) for combating malarial fevers by the carrying out of the necessary sanitary measures under the supervision of the Government so that all the medicinal requirements for the purpose should be procurable clean and cheap, and as far as possible, within easy reach; (e) for a compulsory vaccination and revaccination of the inhabitants in every seven years; (f) for organizing a regular and compulsory disinfection service in the case of infectious diseases; (g) for medical supervision of the provisions and kitchen utensils used in restaurants, with publication in the local press of unfavourable reports against restaurants; (h) for a further increase in the number of Rural Medical Officers by the appointment of able men of the medical profession; (i) for the application of the Public Health (Villages) Law to all villages; (j) for a more rigid supervision over the cleanliness of towns; (k) for imparting in public elementary schools instruction regarding hygienics, and for the erection and rearrangement of school buildings in conformity with hygienic rules.

15. It is satisfactory that irrigation by means of the Irrigation Works has been this last year more successful than in former years, but the Council regrets that it is unable to say that the said works have, on the whole, been successful. Moreover, the Council draws the attention and care of the Government to the serious complaints of persons possessed of old rights and of those who obtain water for irrigation purposes from the said works.

16. It is with regret that the Council is informed that the work done at a fixed place for the purpose of finding artesian water has not been crowned with success, and agrees with Your Excellency that similar work should be done in more suitable places, but suggests that a better skilled service should, as far as possible, be used for the purpose.

17. The Council warmly congratulates the Government on accepting the tender of the Cyprus Steamship Company for the weekly mail communication with Egypt which communication is, according to public opinion, calculated to serve the general interests of the Island in an important manner. The Council is of opinion, however, that it is just that the Company's Steamers which are employed in this service under the mail contract should be exempted from the Famagusta Harbour Dues, and the Council recommends to the Government to make the earliest possible provision for the establishment of a disinfecting apparatus at the Harbour of Famagusta for the facility of passengers landing thereat.

18. The Council follows with very deep interest the efforts made for erecting a Museum which shall be a worthy depository of the archaeological treasures of our Fatherland Cyprus and a real credit to her and which shall call forth the appreciation and admiration of visitors on account of the valuable monuments of our ancestral glory that will be contained therein. And the Council makes a fervent recommendation that a sum of money, adequate to the pious interest of the Cypriots and the civilized world in the admirable antiquities of Cyprus, should be granted annually for carrying out archaeological excavations under the direction of expert persons of integrity and for acquiring, by purchase, rich private archaeological collections. It also implores a more rigorous vigilance so as to prevent the theft and exportation of antiquities.

19. The Council considers education to be a most vital matter, and regards the sum of £500 which has been granted by way of an increase to the vote for the object of education to be a very insufficient one. It deems it to be indispensable that the vote for education should be increased by much more still in order that education should efficaciously achieve its high object through an increase in the number of schools and Inspectors of Schools and a more adequate remuneration to school masters, and in order that relief may as far as possible be accorded from the very heavy taxation levied in the shape of school fees which has been undertaken by the inhabitants from a paramount necessity for the sake of their education, although it was the duty of the Government to afford the necessary funds required for education, levying, as it does an exorbitant taxation from the people. The Council emphasizes, as it has already done on so many other occasions, that it is high time to give effect to the generally and lively expressed will of the country that an Inspector, being a Greek by birth and a member of the Greek-Orthodox Church, should be placed at the head of Greek Education in the country.

20. The most important question of the abolition or commutation of the tithes requires the close and most serious consideration of the Council, which is of opinion that it is a sine qua non that the agriculture of the Island should be relieved from the tithes which, owing to the method of their imposition and recovery, are oppressing, beyond all measure, the numerous class of agriculturists in the country. Therefore, the Council firmly believes that it will be possible, by serious and sincere co-operation with the Government, to find a settlement which will be strictly just and fair and which, while, on the one hand, freeing the peasantry of the prejudicial inconveniences of the collection of tithes, will not, on the other, materially increase the burdens of the urban population. And the Council is of opinion that, until such a settlement is arrived at, it is incumbent on the Government to free the seed-corn of taxation by reducing the tithe to 8 per cent.

21. The Council admits the great importance of the Bill for the Registration and Valuation of property and of the Bill to amend the existing Law in regard to Municipalities, which Law is the chief cause of the sad state of the Municipal corporations of Cyprus generally, and will heartily contribute the best of its efforts towards the most successful legislation in both matters.

22. The Council is glad to learn that the Estimates for the coming financial year have been framed in such a manner as to allow a closer investigation and scrutiny by the Council of the public revenue and expenditure, and awaits their production so as to give to their consideration that special attention which the claims and interests of the country require.

23. The new Council sees with feelings of pain the unusually prolonged vacancy in the Archiepiscopal Throne of Cyprus which is paralysing, from a moral and religious point of view, the Greek-Orthodox people of the Island, to the greatest detriment of the interests of Cyprus generally, and confidently believes that, in such an unsettled state, in which even the ecclesiastical property is aimlessly squandered away, it becomes urgently incumbent to make legislative provision for the administration of the property of the Archiepiscopal See and for the election of an Archbishop in accordance with the rites and traditions of the Autocephalous Greek-Orthodox Church of Cyprus.

24. The Council will, with patriotic zeal, take up the consideration of any legislative work which may be placed before it, and assures Your Excellency that the excellent tokens of prudent policy and parliamentary behaviour given by Your Excellency strengthen in the mind of the elective representatives the conviction that, in spite of any differences of opinion, the harmonious co-operation which, by Divine Help, has prevailed during the two last preceding sessions will continue for the benefit of the Island.

25. The Council expresses the hope that the interests of the Island, the dictates of contemporary civilization and the liberal traditions of the great English people may acquire the grant to the country of a fuller financial and political enfranchisement so that the country may be enabled to fulfil the high task of its progress, prosperity and vocation.

SUPPLEMENT.

(Published by Authority.)

FRIDAY, 22ND FEBRUARY, 1907.

A BILL

TO AMEND AND EXTEND THE LAWS RELATING TO MUNICIPALITIES.

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:—

1. This Law may be cited as “The Municipalities Amendment Law, 1907.”

Short title.

2. In the interpretation of this Law the expressions “Municipality” and “Municipal area” shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them by The Municipal Councils’ Law, 1896, and the expression “Municipal Commission” means a Municipal Commission established under The Municipal Councils’ Law, 1885.

Definitions.

3. Every Municipality shall after the coming into operation of this Law forthwith direct a new valuation list of all the rateable property within the Municipal area and all the provisions of The Municipal Councils’ Ordinance, 1882, concerning the making and otherwise of a valuation list shall be applicable to every valuation list to be made under this Law.

Municipalities forthwith to direct a new valuation list.

4. Every Municipality shall further in addition to the powers vested in it by Section seventy of The Municipal Councils’ Ordinance, 1882, direct a new valuation list in the manner prescribed by the last preceding section at least once in every five years after the passing of this Law.

Municipalities to direct a new valuation list at least once in five years.

5. Any Municipal Commission that may have been heretofore or shall hereafter be appointed shall hold office for such period as the High Commissioner in Council may in such case determine and direct or in the event of no period being fixed during his pleasure and it shall be lawful for the High Commissioner in Council at any time to cancel or annul the appointment of any Municipal Commission as a whole or of any member or members constituting the same and to appoint any person or persons in lieu thereof.

Municipal Commission to hold office during the pleasure of the High Commissioner in Council.

6. If any Municipality fails to comply with the provisions of this Law the members constituting the same shall be severally liable to the penalty imposed by Section one hundred and four of The Municipal Councils’ Ordinance, 1882.

Penalty on Municipalities.

A BILL

TO APPROPRIATE A SUM NOT EXCEEDING ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN POUNDS TO THE SERVICE OF THE TWELVE MONTHS ENDING THE THIRTY-FIRST DAY OF MARCH, IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD ONE THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND EIGHT.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for such expenses of the Government of Cyprus for the year ending the thirty-first day of March, 1908, as are not already lawfully provided for or shall not hereafter be provided for by any Law.

BE it therefore enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

Short title

1. This Law may be cited as “The Appropriation Law, 1907.”

Appropriation of £180,316.

2. In addition to the sums already lawfully appropriated to the service of the King or which may be hereafter lawfully appropriated thereto, there shall be issued and applied to the service of the twelve months ending the thirty-first day of March, 1908, any sum not exceeding the sum of One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Three Hundred and Sixteen Pounds for defraying the charge of the Government of Cyprus for such period.

Limitation of the sum to be spent on Personal Emoluments.

3. A sum not exceeding the amount set down under each head in the Schedule hereto may be issued and spent in respect of the Establishment or Service specified and referred to therein; provided that the total sum spent on Personal Emoluments during the financial year, whether appropriated under this Law or otherwise, shall not exceed the sum of Ninety-one Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-seven Pounds.

A BILL

TO AMEND THE PENSIONS LAW, 1905.

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as "The Pensions Amendment Law, 1907," and shall be construed as one with The Pensions Law, 1905 (hereinafter styled "The Principal Law") and this Law and the said Law may be cited together as "The Pensions Law, 1905 and 1907."

Short title.

2. In reading hereafter Section 6 of The Principal Law the words "High Commissioner" in line 10 of the said section shall be omitted and the words "Head Officer or Officers of his Department" shall be inserted and read in lieu thereof.

Amends Section 6 of The Principal Law.

3. Regulation seven in the second Schedule to the Principal Law is hereby repealed and the following shall be substituted for and read in lieu thereof:

Substitutes amending Regulation for No. 7 in The Principal Law.

Where a public officer whether holding a pensionable or a non-pensionable office has been permanently injured:

- (a) In the actual discharge of his duty, and
- (b) Without his own default, and
- (c) By some injury specifically attributable to the nature of his duty, and his retirement is thereby necessitated or materially accelerated he may receive in addition to the pension, if any, granted to him under these Regulations an annual allowance, in proportion to the extent of his injury, as follows :—

When his capacity to contribute to his support is—

Slightly impaired...	...	...	Five-sixtieths.
Impaired...	...	...	Ten-sixtieths.
Materially impaired...	...	...	Fifteen-sixtieths.
Totally destroyed...	...	...	Twenty-sixtieths.

Provided that in the case of a pensionable officer no such allowance shall, together with the pension, exceed fifty-sixtieths of his salary at the date of the injury. The allowance shall be less than the above mentioned maximum by such amount as the High Commissioner in Council shall think reasonable in the following cases :—

- (a) Where the injured man has continued to serve for not less than one year after the injury in respect of which he retires;
- (b) Where the injured man is fifty years of age and upwards at the date of the injury;
- (c) Where the injury is not the sole cause of retirement, i.e., the retirement is caused partly by age or infirmity.

4. Regulation eight in the second Schedule to The Principal Law is hereby repealed and the following shall be substituted for and read in lieu thereof:

Substitutes amending Regulation for No. 8 in The Principal Law.

When the public officer so injured is a pensionable officer but has less than ten years' service, and he is not entitled to an ordinary pension, he may receive in lieu of a gratuity an annual allowance of so many sixtieths as the years he has actually served, in addition to the number of sixtieths that may be awarded to him under Regulation seven.

Substitutes an amending Regulation for
No. 17 in The Principal
Law.

5. Regulation seventeen in the second Schedule to the Principal Law is hereby repealed and the following shall be substituted for and read in lieu thereof :—

Any officer who has been or may hereafter be transferred from a pensionable office to a non-pensionable office or to temporary employment in any Harbour, Railway or Irrigation work or any other work which the High Commissioner may authorise, may be allowed to count the period of his temporary employment for pension purposes, provided always—

- (a) That he retires under circumstances which would otherwise entitle him to a pension.
- (b) That if he is superannuated from the service to which he has been transferred or within three years of his retirement therefrom, his retiring allowance will be based on the pensionable emolument of the last pensionable appointment or appointments held by him prior to retirement.

Provided that in the case of an officer who previous to his transfer was holding an office with a salary on an incremental scale, the words "pensionable employments" shall be taken to include the increments which he would have earned by the date of his retirement if he had not been so transferred.

Amends
Regulation
21 of The
Law.

6. In reading hereafter Regulation 21 in the second Schedule to The Principal Law the words "held a pensionable office in the service" at the beginning of the said Regulation shall be omitted and the words "been in the service" shall be substituted for and read in lieu thereof.

ORDER OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER IN COUNCIL.—No. 425.

C. A. KING HARMAN,
High Commissioner.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER, in exercise of the powers vested in him by Section one of The Goats Law, 1888, and with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to grant permission to Ali Hadji Rashid, to import from the port of Kylandria 75 male goats for the Courban Bairam festival, subject to the following conditions and restrictions:—

1. That the goats so imported shall be accompanied by a certificate of health under the hand of the Health Officer of the place whence they are imported.

2. That the goats, before being landed, shall be submitted to inspection by an Officer appointed by the Chief Medical Officer for the purpose who may order the same to be detained in quarantine at such place and for such period as may appear advisable, or may refuse to allow the same to be landed if it appears to him to be necessary so to do.

3. That all expenses of and incident to the inspection of the said animals shall be paid by the importers.

Given under the hand and official seal of the High Commissioner at Nicosia, this 21st day of January, 1907.

ORDER OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER IN COUNCIL.—No. 427.

C. A. KING-HARMAN,
High Commissioner.

WHEREAS by Section 1 of the Tithe Ordinance 1881, it is provided that the tithe on all crops and other produce shall be taken in money and not in kind unless the High Commissioner in Council shall, prior to the month of April; in any year, direct that the tithe on any crop or other produce for that year shall be taken in kind,

And Whereas it has been shewn that it is expedient that the tithe on all wheat, barley, vetches and oats for the year 1907 should be taken in kind and not in money,

Now, therefore, in the exercise of the powers vested in him by the Tithe Ordinance, 1881, and with the advice of his Executive Council, His Excellency the High Commissioner is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the tithe on all wheat, barley, vetches and oats for the year 1907 shall be taken in kind and not in money.

Given under the hand and official seal of the High Commissioner at Nicosia, this 2nd day of March, 1907.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR STANDING QUARTERLY BOARDS OF SURVEY.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER has directed that the Standing Quarterly Boards of Survey shall be governed by the following instructions:—

2. Surveys to be held, Credit Stocks and Imprests (if any) to be reported on, Forms on which Reports are to be made and Members comprising the Boards are detailed below.

3. The President of each Board is responsible for arranging that the Board shall meet on the first working day of each Quarter, and will arrange with the other Members, through the Heads of their Departments, the hour of meeting.

4. Should the President be unable to attend the meeting of the Board owing to other pressing public duty, he should nominate another Officer to act for him, and at once report to the Chief Secretary the name of the Officer nominated.

5. It is desirable that in all cases the Boards should consist of the President and two Members, but in a case where the absence of one of the Members is unavoidable, the President should arrange with the Head of the Department to which the absent Member belongs, to appoint another Officer of his Department to take his place; failing such substitute the Board may consist of the President and one Member only.

6. All previous instructions relating to Standing Quarterly Boards of Survey are cancelled.

CYPRUS.

No. I., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO AMEND THE LAW RELATING TO EXEMPTIONS FROM DUTIES OF CUSTOMS.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[4th March, 1907.]

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as “The Customs Exemptions Amendment Law, 1907.” Short title.

2. So much of any enactment now in force as exempts any goods imported for the use of the High Commissioner from the payment of duties of Customs shall have no application in the case of any person other than the person holding the office of High Commissioner at the date of the coming into operation of this Law. Exemption from Customs duties disallowed on goods imported by future High Commissioners.

Passed in Council this twenty-first day of February, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seven.

ARTHUR G. PAGE,

Clerk of Council.

A BILL

TO MAKE PROVISION FOR THE PURPOSE OF STRENGTHENING THE FAITH BETWEEN DEBTORS AND CREDITORS.

(Proposed by Mr. Th. Theodotou.)

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. Every applicant to the Agricultural Bank for a loan must give the Manager thereof a statement of his debts and creditors, and it shall be incumbent on the said Manager to give immediate notice to the creditors.

Any person who may omit to give a statement of his debts and creditors can be prosecuted by the creditor or creditors and may be sentenced to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months.

2. The above punishment notwithstanding and independently of the fact that the debt to the Agricultural Bank or the debts to a third or third persons have or have not become due, the creditor or creditors shall be entitled to institute an action against the debtor who has made default in giving a statement of his debts and creditors, and shall, on obtaining a judgment, be entitled to execute the same on all the property belonging to such debtor, including also the property mortgaged to the Agricultural Bank, but in the latter case the debts due to the Agricultural Bank shall be satisfied first.

3. In case there may be more than one creditors as against the same debtor, preference shall be given to the creditor who has first entered his judgment on record, and then to the one who comes next in order and so on.

4. If the creditor who has first entered his judgment on record or any one of the creditors who come next to him in order shall neglect or delay to proceed with the execution of his judgment, he shall be forced to do so by an order of the Court which shall issue at the instance of the creditor whose interests are prejudiced, and, should the creditor against whom the order has issued disobey the same, he not only shall incur the legal consequences involved by his disobedience, but also forfeit his right of priority which shall then devolve on the creditor who comes next to him in order.

5. This Law may be cited as "The Faith between Creditors and Debtors Strengthening Law."

A BILL

TO PROVIDE FOR THE NUMBERING AND LICENSING OF PUBLIC VEHICLES AND TO REGULATE THE FARES PAYABLE IN RESPECT OF HACKNEY CARRIAGES.

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Law may be cited as "The Public Vehicles Law, 1907."

Definitions.

2. For the purposes of this Law,

"Public Vehicle" means any vehicle drawn by one or more animals which is ordinarily used for the carriage of passengers or goods for hire and includes a "Hackney Carriage."

"Hackney Carriage" means any carriage for the conveyance of passengers which plies for hire in any town or within five miles thereof.

"Proprietor" means every person who, either alone or in partnership with any other person, keeps any such public vehicle.

Obligation to have public vehicles licensed and numbered.

3. It shall be unlawful for any person to use a public vehicle on any public road or street unless such vehicle has been licensed and numbered in accordance with this Law.

Numbering and licensing of public vehicles.

4. Upon this Law coming into operation it shall be the duty of the proprietor of every public vehicle to make an application in writing to the Principal Officer of Police of the District within which such proprietor resides to inspect the public vehicle and if such officer of Police is satisfied that the same is fit to be used he shall assign a number to it and shall give to the proprietor thereof a license for the use of the same.

Such license shall contain a statement as to the number of persons including the driver or to the weight of the burden or load the public vehicle is allowed to carry or draw and the said license may be in the form contained in the Schedule to this Law.

5. The Principal Officer of Police, whenever he assigns a number to a public vehicle, shall issue to the proprietor thereof a plate on which shall be legibly printed or marked the number so assigned and the proprietor shall place and affix the plate upon the off or right hand side of the public vehicle in such manner that the number shall be at all times plainly and distinctly visible.

Issue of numbered plates to owners of public vehicles.

Upon the issue of a plate a fee of one shilling shall be paid by the proprietor of the public vehicle.

6. Before issuing such license the Principal Officer of Police shall record a copy of it in a book to be kept for the purpose and shall sign the same, and a copy thereafter made from such record and certified under the hand of the Principal Officer of Police to be a true copy shall be received as conclusive proof of all that is therein stated.

Issue of licenses to owners of public vehicles.

A fee of one shilling shall be charged for every license or copy thereof issued to the proprietor of the public vehicle.

7. Whenever the proprietor of any public vehicle which has been numbered and licensed under the authority of this Law transfers his public vehicle to any other person he and the transferee shall forthwith notify the transfer to the Principal Officer of Police in the District in which each resides, and it shall be the duty of the transferee to apply to have the public vehicle renumbered and a license issued in his name according to the provisions of this Law, and any omission to comply with the provisions of this section shall be deemed an offence punishable under this Law.

Procedure on transfer of numbered and licensed public vehicles.

Upon receiving notice of the transfer the Principal Officer of Police shall make such entries in the book required to be kept under this Law as may be necessary to record the transfer.

8. If the Principal Officer of Police of the District is at any time satisfied that any public vehicle numbered and licensed under the authority of this Law is not in a fit condition to be used, he shall forthwith give notice in writing to the proprietor stating in what the unfitness consists prohibiting the use of such public vehicle until the same is put in such a fit condition as such Principal Officer may deem sufficient.

Suspension of license issued to owner of public vehicle.

If, while such notice remains in force and uncanceled by such Principal Officer of Police, any such public vehicle is used the proprietor thereof shall be liable to a penalty under this Law for each day such public vehicle is so used.

9. The proprietor of any public vehicle, who—

Penalties.

- (1) uses or allows the same to be used for hire on any public road or street without having obtained a license or without having a plate fixed thereon in accordance with this Law, or having such plate or any part thereof defaced or covered purposely so as to be illegible; or
- (2) uses or allows the same to be used for carrying or drawing more than the number of persons or the weight of the burden or the load allowed by the license issued to him under this Law; or
- (3) refuses to produce to any Police Officer such license whenever called upon to do so; or

(4) does any act or thing declared under this Law to be an offence, shall, on conviction before a Magisterial Court, be liable to a fine not exceeding £5.

Rash driving
on a public

The Food and Drugs Law came into force on the 1st day of January, 1906, and during the first six months it has been in operation 196 samples were analysed, a considerable proportion of which were found to be adulterated. A large number of persons have been prosecuted and fined with good effect, and now it is generally admitted that the quality of the food has improved and the percentage of adulterated samples decreased. The common adulterants used for milk are water, water and ground rice, and water and sugar. I have found that the flour and bread contain a considerable quantity of sand and earthy matter amounting, in one instance, to as much as 3.6 per cent. The presence of the sand is due to the wheat and barley not having been previously cleaned before grinding, and also to the soft nature of the millstones used. I have also found dangerous quantities of alum in food an adulterant which is quite unnecessary and injurious to health. I am glad that the authorities at home have at last come to the decision that preservatives are unnecessary, and have prohibited the addition of them to food.

This Law is greatly appreciated by the public generally, and will do a great deal to improve the health of the people.

THE CYPRUS GAZETTE

SUPPLEMENT.

(Published by Authority.)

FRIDAY, 5TH APRIL, 1907.

A BILL

TO PROVIDE FOR THE ELECTION, IN A QUITE EXCEPTIONAL CASE, OF THE ARCHBISHOP OF THE AUTOCEPHALOUS GREEK-ORTHODOX CHURCH OF CYPRUS.

(Proposed by Mr. J. Kyriakides.)

WHEREAS the Autocephalous Greek-Orthodox Church of Cyprus has, generally, been reduced to a critical state owing to a more than unusual prolongation of the vacancy in the Archiepiscopal Throne—the election of an Archbishop being insolubly complicated owing to insuperable obstacles—and whereas there appears to be now an imperative necessity for making, in this entirely exceptional case, careful provision, by way of legislation, for electing an Archbishop without prejudicing the rights of the clergy and laity.

BE it therefore, in accordance with the rites of the Autocephalous Church, enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. For the purposes of this Law the following expressions shall have the following meanings :—

- (a) “Those who have proclaimed the elections” means the two Metropolitans if the elections for the election of an Archbishop have been proclaimed by both of them by a joint circular, and “he who has proclaimed the elections” means the one of the two Metropolitans if the elections have been proclaimed by the one of them only ;
- (b) “Elector” means every male Orthodox Cypriot who has completed the 20th year of his age and whose name stands in the electors’ list as is herein below provided ;
- (c) “A person eligible as general representative” means every elector who has completed the 25th year of his age ;
- (d) “Mukhtar” means every Greek-Orthodox Mukhtar and his duly authorised representative ;
- (e) “Synodical Members” means all the surviving members of the Holy Synod ;
- (f) “Mixed Arbitration” means a Court of arbitration consisting of one or two Metropolitans and three Greek-Orthodox Ordinary Judges.

2. As soon as this Law is assented to and within ten days from such assent, the Commissioner of each District shall prepare, on the basis of registers concerning births kept by the Government, lists of all electors in his District, and shall forward the same to the respective Mukhtars of towns and villages for general information of all electors.

3. The Electors' lists shall bear at the end the signature of the Commissioner and the seal of the Commissioner's Office, and, if they consist of more than one pages, shall be initialed by the Commissioner at the end of each page.

4. On receiving the respective electors' lists, the Mukhtars shall notify the receipt thereof to the Orthodox inhabitants of their towns, quarters or villages, and shall permit to them the free perusal and the making of copies thereof, and shall attend, during the day appointed for the election of general representatives, at the Polling Stations to which their towns, quarters or villages are assigned for the purpose of identifying the electors.

5. Within 20 days from the date of the assent to this Law, the two existing Metropolitans or the one of them, if the other dies or refuses to act, shall proclaim, by a circular addressed to the whole Greek-Orthodox Community of the Island, elections of general representatives for the election of an Archbishop.

6. The circular concerning the election of an Archbishop shall be published in all the Greek Newspapers in Cyprus 15 at least days before the date appointed for the election which date must be a Sunday and not later than 40 days from the assent to this Law.

7. The said circular shall specify the place where the election is to take place and the day and hour of the commencement and close of the voting, the total number of general representatives to be elected throughout the Island, the number of general representatives to be elected at each Polling Station and the proportion in which the latter shall be elected from among the clergy and laity.

Provided however that the circular herein above mentioned will effect no change whatever on the circular of the 25th July, 1900, under which elections were held in that year for the election of an Archbishop, whether as regards the total number of general representatives or the number of general representatives to be elected at each Polling Station or the Polling Stations or the villages assigned to the various Polling Stations or the proportion in clergymen and laymen to be elected as general representatives.

8. In the same or a subsequent circular the names will be given, and separately so for each Polling Station, of the persons who are to preside at the various Polling Stations and conduct the voting, and such persons shall be as follows :

As regards Polling Stations in the towns they shall be the Greek-Orthodox Ordinary Judges of the District Courts sitting in those towns, and, as regards Polling Stations in the villages, the Orthodox Village Judges, the Orthodox Registrars of District Courts, the Orthodox Assistant Registrars and, if the number of these Court Officials is insufficient for the purpose, the Orthodox Mudirs; and to all these officials due notice must be given by serving on them a copy of the respective circular.

9. The voting shall be a secret one and shall be carried out in the same way and with the same ballot boxes as in the last elections for the Legislative Council, and all ballot boxes for candidates from the same party shall be placed in such a row near each other as to facilitate the carrying out of the voting. Each elector shall vote aye or no for every candidate.

10. Each candidate is entitled to be present at the voting in person or by proxy, each such proxy to be an educated person and supplied with a power of attorney from the candidate represented by him and such power of attorney to be delivered by him to the Presiding Officer at the Polling Station. Any such candidate or representative shall be entitled to seal up, after the close of the voting, his own ballot box and even those of the other candidates.

11. Before the commencement of the voting the Presiding Officers together with the candidates or their representatives, according as the candidates are present in person or by proxy, shall examine carefully the ballot boxes on the inside and then close them up, a minute to that effect being signed by the Presiding Officer and the said candidates or representatives.

12. A book shall be kept at the voting wherein the full name and the village or quarter of each elector who votes shall be inserted with a consecutive number, and each person will be permitted to vote after he is identified by the respective Mukhtar with the elector registered in the electors' list, his name being then marked in the list also with the same consecutive number as in the book above mentioned and initialed by the Presiding Officer.

13. The Presiding Officers at the elections are entitled to impose order through the Police, if necessary, which shall be placed under their instructions and shall be commanded by a commissioned or non-commissioned Officer of the Force, and, regard being had to the distances from the Polling Stations of the various villages, the said Presiding Officers shall fix, as far as that will be possible, the order in which each village must vote, without, nevertheless, depriving any elector who may not be present at the turn of his village of the right to vote, and, if at the time appointed by the circular for the close of the voting there are still electors who come forward to vote, the voting shall be prolonged untill all of them will have voted, and with a view to avoid taking any further precautions and incurring any further delay the voting shall not be interrupted at mid-day, but shall be proceeded with till it is brought to a completion.

14. After the close of the voting each ballot box shall be properly sealed up by the Presiding Officer, the candidate or candidates or, if the latter is or are present at the voting by proxy, by their representative or representatives, and upon a minute being drawn up on the spot concerning the voting, the number of persons who have voted, the sealing up of the ballot boxes and the number of seals affixed to each ballot box and concerning also the names of those who have affixed their seals to the ballot boxes, the same shall be taken over by the Presiding Officer and carried by him under a Police escort and delivered personally to the Commissioner of the respective District.

15. The minutes drawn up by the Presiding Officer before the commencement and after the close of the voting shall be signed by him and the candidates or their representatives with or without any reservation ; in case, however, any one of the aforesaid persons may sign any such minute with a reservation, he shall have to insert the reasons of his so signing, as, otherwise, he will be taken to have signed without a reservation, and, in case he may refuse to sign or he may not be present either in person or by proxy, he shall be taken to admit the contents of the minutes in question.

16. Objections against one or more general representatives are allowed only on grounds of bribery and personation in connection with one or more electors, and such objections must be made in writing by a candidate general representative, must bear his signature and must be handed over by himself personally to the Presiding Officer, if made at the time of the voting, or, if made after the close of the voting, to the Commissioner to whom the ballot box or boxes of the general representatives against whom such objection is made shall be delivered; such objections, however, must be made only until the time of the counting of the votes and before the commencement thereof, as otherwise they shall be null and void.

17. On the second day after the elections, that is on the Tuesday next following, the Commissioner shall, in the presence of the Officers who have presided at the elections of his District and of representatives of the candidates, make the counting of the votes and shall, on the completion thereof, transmit the result without delay to the Chief Secretary to Government who shall communicate the same to the Metropolitans who have by their circular proclaimed the elections or, in case the elections have been proclaimed by one Metropolitan only, to such Metropolitan. The Commissioners shall also transmit to the Chief Secretary without delay all objections made in writing and also any papers or books connected with the election, and all such objections, papers and books shall be forwarded as soon as possible to the same Metropolitans or Metropolitan.

18. Those who have proclaimed the elections or he who has proclaimed the elections must summon all the Synodical Members, within ten days from the date of the election, to a meeting at the Archbishopric for the examination and trial of all lawful objections against general representatives, and shall, at least five days before the date of the hearing of such objections, give due notice to the persons objecting and those against whom the objections are made of the day and hour fixed for such hearing, and the persons to whom notice shall be given as aforesaid must appear on the day of the hearing with all their evidence and counter-evidence.

19. No objection shall be valid, unless made as herein mentioned and unless the person making the objection states therein the kind of bribery or personation committed, the persons who have committed bribery or personation, the place and time of the commission of bribery or personation and, one by one, all the means of evidence. The person objecting must serve on the person against whom the objection is made a copy thereof within two days from the day on which the same has been lodged by him, as, otherwise, the objection will not entertained.

20. The Synodical Members, under the presidency of the Metropolitan who comes first in order or, whenever he is not present, under the presidency of some other Metropolitan, shall proceed, on the appointed day and hour, to examine and try the lawful objections, and shall, after hearing the evidence and counter-evidence, pronounce their decision which shall be without appeal if no Metropolitan or Metropolitans disagree to it, but which, even if one Metropolitan disagrees to it, shall be referred to a Mixed Arbitration for the purpose of being reheard, and such Arbitration shall consist of the two Metropolitans or even of the one of them, if the other is not alive or is absent, and of three Greek Ordinary Judges of District Courts who are senior in the judicial service.

21. The Mixed Arbitration shall meet at the Archbishopric within 20 days from the election and shall, under the presidency of the Metropolitan who comes first in order or, in case no such Metropolitan exists, under the presidency of a Metropolitan, hear the pros and cons of the decision or decisions of the Synodical Members, and shall also hear further evidence and counter-evidence as they may think fit, and shall give a judgment as they may deem just, and such judgment shall be final.

22. The Mixed Arbitration shall try likewise, in the manner aforesaid, every other objection which shall not have been tried by the Synodical Members by the time the Mixed Arbitration meet, that is, by the 30th day after the election.

23. If any votes are annulled by the decisions of the Synodical Members or of the Mixed Arbitration and thereby the result is altered as to the election of one or more general representatives, then those who have pronounced the decision shall order the election to be repeated under such conditions and in such manner as they may see fit for a safer ascertainment of the opinion of the respective electors. If, however, the conditions and manner under and in which the repetition of the election is ordered by the Synodical Members are disagreed upon by even one Metropolitan, such conditions and manner shall be determined and ordered as soon as possible by the Mixed Arbitration.

24. Objections against a repeated election shall be tried by the Mixed Arbitration only, and the decision thereof shall be without appeal.

25. On the completion of the trial of all lawful objections to elections and at the close of all repeated elections the Metropolitans or Metropolitan who have or has proclaimed the elections shall, as soon as possible, summon all the Synodical Members and all elected general representatives to an electoral meeting at the Archbishopric on an appointed day and hour for the election of an Archbishop, and such electoral meeting shall be presided over by the Metropolitan who is first in order or, if he is not alive or is absent, by any Metropolitan.

26. The election shall be made by a secret voting with voting tickets bearing on the one side the signature of the President of the electoral meeting and which shall be distributed to the general representatives and the Synodical Members just before the voting.

27. Each such person shall write on the blank side of the voting ticket with his own hand or, if he is illiterate, with the assistance of a person of his confidence, the name of the candidate he wishes, and shall throw the voting ticket into the ballot box with his own hand in the presence of two collectors of the votes appointed by the President.

28. After the close of the voting the counting of the votes is made by the President and the two collectors of the votes in the presence of the electoral meeting, each voting ticket being shown to them and the name recorded thereon being read out loudly.

29. The candidate who has received the greatest number of votes shall be deemed to have been elected by the clergy and laity of the Greek-Orthodox Community of the Island lawfully and in accordance with the rites of the Autocephalous Greek-Orthodox Church of Cyprus.

30. The result of the election shall be announced immediately to His Excellency the High Commissioner of the Island by the President of the electoral meeting and to the Greek-Orthodox people of Cyprus by the elected Archbishop who shall duly issue a proclamation to that effect.

31. This Law being enacted to hold good for once only as a quite exceptional Law due to the most difficult position in which the Autocephalous Greek-Orthodox Church of Cyprus is found and from which it is absolutely impossible for that Church to extricate itself with its own means, shall cease to be in force immediately upon the election of an Archbishop.

CYPRUS.

No. II., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO APPROPRIATE A SUM NOT EXCEEDING ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN POUNDS TO THE SERVICE OF THE TWELVE MONTHS ENDING THE THIRTY-FIRST DAY OF MARCH, IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD ONE THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND EIGHT.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[28th March, 1907.]

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for such expenses of the Government of Cyprus for the year ending the thirty-first day of March, 1908, as are not already lawfully provided for or shall not hereafter be provided for by any Law. Preamble.

BE it therefore enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as “The Appropriation Law, 1907.” Short title.

2. In addition to the sums already lawfully appropriated to the service of the King or which may be hereafter lawfully appropriated thereto, there shall be issued and applied to the service of the twelve months ending the thirty-first day of March, 1908, any sum not exceeding the sum of One Hundred and Eighty Thousand Three Hundred and Sixteen Pounds for defraying the charge of the Government of Cyprus for such period. Appropriation of £180,316.

3. A sum not exceeding the amount set down under each head in the Schedule hereto may be issued and spent in respect of the Establishment or Service specified and referred to therein ; provided that the total sum spent on Personal Emoluments during the financial year, whether appropriated under this Law or otherwise, shall not exceed the sum of Ninety-one Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-seven Pounds. Limitation or the sum to be spent on

A BILL

TO AMEND THE PUBLIC HEALTH (VILLAGES) LAW, 1892.

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Law may be cited as “The Public Health (Villages) Amendment Law, 1907.”

Constitution of Village Commission. 2. In The Public Health (Villages) Law, 1892 (hereinafter called The Principal Law) the expression “Village Commission” means the Mukhtar and Village Commission elected or appointed under The Village Authorities Law, 1906, and any Law amending the same, and the Mukhtar shall act as President thereof. Whenever in any village there is more than one Mukhtar the Commissioner shall appoint one of them to be President of the Village Commission, and whenever in any village there is more than one Commission, such Commissions, united together, shall form the Village Commission for the purpose of the Principal Law.

Repeal. 3. Sections 1 and 3 of the Principal Law are hereby repealed.

the surface, or within 40 pica of any well from which water is obtained by any water-wheel, pump or other mechanical appliance, an action is instituted before the District Court by the owners, or by any one of the owners, of any existing chain of wells, spring, or well, the plaintiffs in such action shall be deemed to have the right on their side, and the newly sunk wells shall be closed by order of such Court.

3. Any sections or paragraphs in The Wells Law, 1896, and The Wells Law Amendment Law, 1897, capable of being interpreted and construed as containing anything repugnant to this Law shall be deemed as having been repealed.

A BILL

TO PROVIDE FOR THE INSPECTION OF STEAM BOILERS.

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as “The Steam Boilers Law, 1907.” Short title.

2. In this Law the term “boiler” means any closed vessel used for generating steam or for heating water or for heating other liquids, or into which steam is admitted for heating, steaming, boiling or other similar purposes. Interpretation.

3. The High Commissioner may appoint any persons he thinks fit to be Inspectors of boilers for the purposes of this Law, and may remove any such Inspectors and give directions as to the performance of their duties. Appointment of Inspectors.

4. Every Inspector of boilers is hereby empowered to enter any premises in or upon which any boiler may be at any time between the hours of 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. or at any time when the machinery is in motion for the purpose of inspecting and testing such boiler under this Law, and the owner or person in charge thereof shall afford to such Inspector all reasonable facilities for such inspection and testing. Inspection of boilers.

5. If the Inspector after making such inspection is satisfied that the boiler is in a defective condition he shall within of such inspection serve or cause to be served upon the owner of, or upon the person in charge of, the boiler a notice in the form in the Schedule or to the like effect. Notice of defect.

6. It shall be the duty of Inspectors under this Law to keep copies of all notices served by them under the provisions of Section 5 and to endorse thereon the date of the service thereof. The production of any such copy so endorsed and certified by any Inspector under this Law as correct shall be prima facie evidence in any Court of Law of the facts stated in such notice and of the due service thereof. Evidence of contents and of service of notice.

7. If any person is injured by the explosion of any boiler with regard to which a notice has been given in accordance with Section 5 he shall be entitled to recover compensation in respect of such injury from the owner of the boiler by a civil suit unless the owner prove that the defects mentioned in the notice were duly remedied or that he was not guilty of any negligence. Provided that the liability of the owner under this section shall be in addition to and not instead of any liability to which he would have been liable if this Law had not passed. Liability of owner.

ANNUAL REPORT.

I have the honour to submit for the information of His Excellency the High Commissioner the annual report with the statistics of the Medical and Sanitary Department for the year 1906.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

With the exception of the prevalence of whooping cough which started at Limassol, probably imported from Egypt and spreading to almost every part of the Island; sporadic cases of typhoid fever, generally speaking of a mild character, two cases of diphtheria reported in Larnaca and two at Platres, a village of the Limassol District, one case of small-pox in Nicosia and one at Peristerona a village of that District, which were promptly isolated and satisfactorily dealt with there has been no infectious or contagious zymotic disease in an epidemic form and the general health of the Island, on the whole, was good during the year under report.

Malarial fevers were remarkable for their decrease. The number of patients treated for it in the various hospitals and dispensaries throughout the Island being only 5,761, whilst in the previous year there were 16,101. This decrease of course must be principally attributed to climatic conditions, but I believe that the better precaution taken by the people to avoid infection and the free issue of quinine from all the district and rural dispensaries must have reduced the mediums of infection and certainly contributes to this notable decrease. Tuberculosis, owing unfortunately to the great reluctance shown by the private practitioners in not complying with the instructions issued to report all cases that may come under their notice the returns of this disease are very unsatisfactory and unreliable, but from the information, however, at hand there is no doubt that pulmonary tuberculosis is on the increase, principally in the towns, which is not to be wondered at, taking into consideration the great apathy evinced by the people in all matters affecting the public and even their own private welfare and their great disregard, through ignorance, to all the elementary principles of hygiene.

The reports of the District and Rural Medical Officers are very satisfactory.

HOSPITALS AND OUT-DOOR DISPENSARIES.

These institutions continue to carry out their work very satisfactorily.

In the six hospitals 1,748 patients were treated, 88 deaths occurred and 353 surgical operations were performed.

In the six district dispensaries 20,008 patients attended whilst in the eleven rural divisions 8,642 making a total of 30,398 who received medical attendance and medicines free; these numbers favourably compare with the numbers treated last year which was 33,811, and as there was no apparent falling off in the attendance of patients, and there were a greater number of rural dispensaries, the decrease can only be attributed to a healthier year in comparison with the previous one.

RURAL MEDICAL SERVICE.

This service has not only proved a great boon to the inhabitants of remote parts of the Island, where medical aid was unobtainable, but it has greatly contributed towards the prevention and restriction of infectious diseases and, to a certain extent, the better sanitation of the villages.

Four more Rural Medical Officers were appointed, and two compounders, and when it will be possible to appoint two more there will be practically no part of the Island without medical assistance. The appointment also of a few more compounders for large centres is greatly to be desired.

LEPER FARM.

The number of inmates in this institution at the end of the year was 96, 58 males and 38 females. Two were released, three admitted and 17 deaths occurred during the year; this rather high death rate must be attributed to the exceptionally severe cold winter, most of the deaths being the result of influenza and its complications and among old people, otherwise the health of the other inmates was good.

LEPER CHILDREN.

The health of the leper children, eight in number, who reside in a separate locality was very good and they continue to look as healthy as any one could desire showing no sign of the disease. In addition to instruction given them by a school mistress appointed for the purpose, the girls are taught also needlework and weaving which will afford them in future life an independent occupation and means of existence.

LUNATIC WARDS.

There were 15 admissions to this institution during the year and 12 were discharged, relieved or cured, 45 remained at the end of the year, 34 males and 11 females, no death occurred and the health of the inmates notwithstanding the overcrowding, unfortunately unpreventable owing to lack of space, was very good. The greatest number of the inmates are very inoffensive idiots or suffering from weak mindedness following epilepsy and would be more proper inmates of a poor house than a lunatic asylum, but as such does not exist for the present, they have, when abandoned by their friends, to be confined, and their friends and relatives not caring to keep them they are allowed to roam about until teased and persecuted by children they commit some misdemeanour and find their way, through the hands of the police, to the lunatic wards.

VACCINATION.

10,726 vaccinations were performed during the year, imported glycerinated calf-lymph being exclusively employed; of these 5,757 were primary vaccinations of which 5,453 were successful, 105 unsuccessful and 199 not accounted for; 4,969 revaccinations were performed of these 3,314 were successful, 1,068 unsuccessful and 587 not accounted for.

To this regular vaccination and revaccination since the occupation of the Island should be largely attributed the restrictions of an extensive outbreak of small-pox.

QUARANTINE.

I am pleased to record that with the exception of a medical inspection and disinfection of the effects of third class passengers, as also susceptible goods on arrivals from Egypt, Beyrout and Adalia it was not found necessary to enforce any quarantine during the year under report.

Owing to the new harbour at Famagusta and the mail and other steamers calling there a Health Officer has been appointed and a disinfecting apparatus established in order that free pratique may be granted when medical inspection with disinfection is imposed.

ANIMAL DISEASE.

The Veterinary Surgeon reports that the disease in the Island for the past year has not been serious.

Sheep and Goats: Variola or pocks or scab; Oxen: Quater-ill and anthrax; and in one case, tuberculosis, suspected. He reports also that there has been a few cases of rabies.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY.

There has been considerable work done in this branch, particularly in connection with Food and Drugs Act which came into force at the commencement of the year.

Chief Medical Officer.

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

THE following Order of His Majesty The King in Council is published for general information :—
13th May, 1907. (C.S. 1411/07.)

AT THE COURT AT-BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

The 11th day of February, 1907.

PRESENT,

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

LORD PRESIDENT.

LORD CHAMBERLAIN.

LORD SANDHURST.

LORD REAY.

LORD TWEEDMOUTH.

MR. MCKENNA.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient.

And whereas a Convention was concluded on the twelfth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five, between His Majesty and the President of the United States of America, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Convention is in the terms following :—

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and the President of the United States of America, being desirous of enlarging the list of crimes on account of which extradition may be granted under the Conventions concluded between the United States and Great Britain on the twelfth July, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and the thirteenth December, one thousand nine hundred, with a view to the better administration of justice and the prevention of crime in their respective territories and jurisdictions, have resolved to conclude a Supplementary Convention for this purpose and have appointed as their Plenipotentiaries, to wit :

His Britannic Majesty, the Most Honourable Henry Charles Keith Petty-Fitzmaurice, Marquess of Lansdowne, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs ;

And the President of the United States, the Honourable Joseph Hodges Choate, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the United States at the Court of His Britannic Majesty ;

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, which were found to be in due and proper form, have agreed to and concluded the following Articles :—

ARTICLE I.

The following crimes are added to the list of crimes numbered one to ten in the first Article of the said Convention of the twelfth July, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and to the list of crimes numbered eleven to thirteen in Article I of the Supplementary Convention concluded between the United States and Great Britain on the thirteenth December, one thousand nine hundred, that is to say :—

14. Bribery, defined to be the offering, giving, or receiving of bribes made criminal by the laws of both countries.

15. Offences, if made criminal by the laws of both countries, against bankruptcy law.

ARTICLE II.

The present Convention shall be considered as an integral part of the said Extradition Conventions of the twelfth July, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and the thirteenth December, one thousand nine hundred, and the first Article of the said Convention of the twelfth July, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, shall be read as if the lists of crimes therein contained had originally comprised the additional crimes specified and numbered fourteen and fifteen in the first Article of the present Convention.

The present Convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged either at Washington or London as soon as possible.

It shall come into force ten days after its publication in conformity with the laws of the High Contracting Parties, and it shall continue and terminate in the same manner as the said Convention of the twelfth July, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

In testimony whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the present Convention in duplicate, and have thereunto affixed their seals.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Convention were exchanged at Washington on the twenty-first day of December, one thousand nine hundred and six.

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Him by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the twenty-second day of February, one thousand nine hundred and seven, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the United States and of the said Convention with the President of the United States of America.

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed 1886, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

OVERTIME ALLOWANCES TO OFFICERS.
OF THE POSTAL DEPARTMENT.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER has been pleased to approve the following Rules for the payment of overtime allowances to officers of the Postal Department, to take effect from the 1st May, 1907 :—

1. For official attendances in excess of 42 hours per week officers employed in dealing with Foreign Mails will be paid overtime allowances (subject to the rules set out below) at the following rates :— per hour.

Sub-Postmasters in charge of District Offices	s.	cp.
Clerks in receipt of salaries exceeding £100 p.a.	1	4½
Auxiliary Clerks	0	6
Messengers and letter carriers	0	4½

2. Post Office Officials will be required to give at any hour, and at any season of the year, a total attendance of 42 hours per week without extra allowance. Attendances between midnight and 6 a.m. will be reckoned as 1½ hours for every hour of attendance, Sundays and Public Holidays will be reckoned as 6 hours in the calculation of attendance for the purposes of these regulations.

3. Subject to such general directions as the Island Postmaster may give District Sub-Postmasters will arrange the attendance from time to time of such officers as may be required for the disposal of business at the respective offices, taking care not to require their attendance at an earlier or later hour than is absolutely necessary, and to relieve them from duty as soon as the work of the office will permit.

4. Each Postal Official will keep a record of his work and of the exact periods of actual attendance on duty daily. District Sub-Postmasters will be held strictly responsible for verifying and certifying the accuracy of this record; also for seeing that any intervals of absence from duty on the part of an officer after he has once signed on be duly noted in the Attendance Book. Neglect to comply with the provisions of this Rule or failure to exercise a full and efficient control in this respect will expose the officer in charge of a District Post Office to one of the penalties imposed by Rule 7, according to the gravity of the offence committed.

5. Claims for overtime allowances will be rendered monthly to the Island Postmaster on forms provided for the purpose. Claims will be consecutively numbered throughout the year in respect of each office, the number of the claims and dates of submission being noted on the Officers' Daily Record. The Island Postmaster, after due examination and such test as he may see fit to apply, will submit a summary of claims to the Receiver General for payment.

6. No claims for overtime allowance will be admitted for bringing up arrears of work nor when any officer is detained to complete any work in connection with the ordinary routine of the Department.

7. If any officer attends unnecessarily or lingers on duty when his services are not required he will forfeit all claim to overtime allowance for a period of six months. Any officer who makes a false entry in his daily record with the object of claiming overtime allowances or of claiming a larger sum than he is properly entitled to will be dismissed from the service.

8. Nothing in these Rules will be deemed to be a waiver of the right of the Crown to the whole of the services of any Postal Official, nor shall the Rules be held to confer any indisputable right of privilege upon any Postal Official and the allowances will only be paid so long as the amount provided in the Estimates is not exceeded.

CYPRUS.

No. III., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO PRESCRIBE WORKING AND TRANSACTION HOURS ON SUNDAYS FOR PUBLIC HOUSES.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[4th April, 1907.]

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as the Sunday Observance (Greek-Orthodox) Law, 1907. Short title.

2. No Greek-Orthodox Christian shall be allowed, for any transaction or business whatever, to open or enter, any grocer's shop, cook-shop, drinking-shop, coffee-house, confectioner's shop, barber's shop, reading-room, or premises occupied by any club or society at any time on Sundays before 9 in the forenoon in the towns of Nicosia, Larnaca including Scala, Limassol, Famagusta including Varoshia, Ktima, and Kyrenia or before 8 in the forenoon in any other town or village. Restriction of business on Sundays.

Provided that this Law shall not apply to towns and villages where fairs or weekly bazaars are customarily held on the days of such fairs and bazaars nor to the supply of food and refreshments to persons on a journey at khans outside towns and villages by the side of public roads.

3. Any person who shall contravene any provision of this Law shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten shillings. Penalty.

4. This Law shall remain in force for two years from the date of its coming into operation. Duration.

Passed in Council this twenty-seventh day of March, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seven.

ARTHUR G. PAGE,

Clerk of Council.

No. V., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO PROVIDE FOR THE INSPECTION OF STEAM BOILERS.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[10th May, 1907.]

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

- Short title. 1. This Law may be cited as the Steam Boilers Law, 1907.
- Interpretation. 2. In this Law the term “boiler” means any closed vessel used for generating steam: Provided that this Law shall not apply to boilers on steamships.
- Appointment of Inspectors. 3. The High Commissioner may appoint any skilled persons he thinks fit to be Inspectors of boilers for the purposes of this Law, and may remove any such Inspectors and give directions as to the performance of their duties.
- Inspection of boilers. 4. Every Inspector of boilers is hereby empowered to enter any premises in or upon which there is a boiler at any time between the hours of 6 in the forenoon and 6 in the afternoon for the purpose of inspecting and testing such boiler under this Law, and the owner or person in charge thereof shall afford to such Inspector all reasonable facilities for such inspection and testing.
- Notice of defect. 5. If the Inspector, after making such inspection, is satisfied that the boiler is in a defective condition he shall, with all reasonable despatch, serve or cause to be served upon the owner of, or upon the person in charge of, the boiler a notice in the form in the Schedule or to the like effect.
- Evidence of contents and of service of notice. 6. It shall be the duty of Inspectors under this Law to keep copies of all notices served by them under the provisions of section 5 and to endorse thereon the date of the service thereof. The production of any such copy so endorsed and certified by any Inspector under this Law as correct shall be prima facie evidence in any Court of Law of the facts stated in such notice and of the due service thereof.
- Liability of owner. 7. If any person is injured by the explosion of any boiler, with regard to which a notice has been given in accordance with section 5, he shall be entitled to recover compensation in respect of such injury from the owner of the boiler by a civil suit, unless the owner prove that the defects mentioned in the notice were duly remedied or that he was not guilty of any negligence. Provided that the liability of the owner under this section shall be in addition to and not instead of any liability to which he would have been liable if this Law had not passed.

No. VI., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO FURTHER CONTINUE IN OPERATION THE ECCLESIASTICAL PROPERTIES LAW, 1893.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[13th May, 1907.]

WHEREAS by the first section of the Ecclesiastical Properties Law, 1893, it was enacted that the said Law should remain in force for a period of one year from the passing thereof and no longer. Preamble.

And whereas the operation of the said Law has from time to time been extended by various Laws for the terms therein named.

And whereas the said Law will expire on the thirty-first day of May, 1907, and it is expedient that the same should be continued in force for a further term.

BE it therefore enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:—

1. This Law may be cited as the Ecclesiastical Properties (Continuance) Law, 1907. Short title.

2. The Ecclesiastical Properties Law, 1893, shall continue in force for a further term of two years from the 31st day of May, 1907. Continuance of the Ecclesiastical Properties Law, 1893.

Passed in Council this twenty-fifth day of April, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seven.

No. VII., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO AMEND THE EDUCATION LAW, 1905, AND THE SECONDARY EDUCATION LAW, 1905.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[14th May, 1907.]

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Law may be cited as the Education Laws Amendment Law, 1907.

Greek-Christian Education Town Committees.

Election of Greek-Christian
Town
Committees.

2. (1) In the case of the election of Committees in respect of the Greek-Christian Schools for Nicosia, Larnaca (including Scala), Limassol, Ktima, Famagusta (including Varoshia), and Kyrenia (hereinafter called Town Committees) the candidates for election shall be nominated as hereinafter mentioned, and the Committees elected shall hold office with the Bishop as Chairman for two years.

(2) In the event of a See being vacant, or of the absence of the Bishop, the Committee shall choose one of their number to be Chairman.

Town
be Committees for Elementary and Secon-
tion.

(3) As regards elementary education (save as herein otherwise appears) the provisions of the Education Law, 1905, with regard to Village Committees shall apply to Town Committees, and, as regards secondary education, Town Committees shall have the like powers, duties and obligations as are vested in Governing Bodies under the Secondary Education Law, 1905: Provided that it shall be the duty of Town Committees strictly to keep all accounts, records and documents relating to elementary education distinct and separate from accounts, records and documents relating to secondary education: Provided also that, as regards secondary education, the Town Committees shall not exercise any authority thereover until the expiration of the term for which the Governing Bodies of Greek-Christian Secondary Schools under the Secondary Education Law, 1905, were elected or appointed.

candidates.

3. (1) The nomination of candidates for election as members of Town Committees shall be within the first ten days of June and shall be in writing signed by the candidates and by at least five electors of the town, and shall be deposited at the office of the Commissioner of the District within the time aforesaid.

(2) If at the expiration of the said ten days no more than seven candidates stand nominated, the Commissioner shall declare all the candidates nominated to be elected and shall post a notice of their election at his office and shall notify the Chief Secretary of their election.

(3) If at the expiration of the said ten days more than seven candidates stand nominated, the Commissioner shall adjourn the election in order that a poll may be taken.

Poll.

4. (1) In case of a poll at an election, the election shall be by secret ballot and shall take place not later than the last day of June under the direction of the Commissioner.

(2) The High Commissioner may from time to time make regulations for determining the time and place for holding the elections, and every such election shall be held as far as possible in accordance with the regulations in force for the last elections to the Legislative Council which shall have been held prior to such election.

Power to make regulations for elections.

(3) The candidates, or one representative for each candidate duly appointed for that purpose by power of attorney, may be present in the polling station and at the counting of the votes.

(4) The result of the election shall be posted up at the Commissioner's Office and he shall notify the names of the persons elected to the Chief Secretary and the Bishop of the Diocese, if any.

Notification of result.

5. In case of any dispute as to whether a person seeking to vote is entitled so to do or not, the decision of the Commissioner shall be final and conclusive thereon.

Disputes as to votes.

6. Where an equality of votes is found to exist between any candidates at an election, the question of which of such candidates shall be declared duly elected shall be decided by the drawing of lots under the supervision of the Commissioner.

Equality of votes.

7. In the case of the first election of Town Committees held under this Law, every person whose name appears in the list of persons entitled to vote as electors of the town at elections for the Legislative Council in force at the time of the passing of this Law shall be entitled to vote at such first election.

Qualification of voters at first election.

8. Subject to the preceding section, all male persons who have attained the age of 21 years and whose names appear in the assessment lists of the town as having been assessed for school fees during the year next preceding an election and have duly paid the same shall be entitled to vote at such election: Provided that no person who has not attained the age of 21 years shall be liable to be assessed by a Town Committee for school fees nor be reckoned as a tax-paying inhabitant of the town for the purposes of the Education Law, 1905.

At subsequent elections.

9. Any member of a Town Committee may resign his membership by giving notice in writing to the Chairman of the Committee.

Member may resign.

10. Any vacancy in a Town Committee shall be filled by the Committee by appointing a duly qualified person to fill the vacancy.

Filling vacancies.

11. (1) Within twenty-one days of the 31st of July in every year the accounts of the Town Committees down to that date shall be closed, and, after having been examined and verified by the Committee, shall be signed by at least three members thereof and shall be submitted to be examined and audited by two persons to be appointed by the Board of Education for that purpose.

Accounts to be audited.

(2) The accounts within fourteen days of the completion of the audit shall be forwarded to the Chief Secretary by the Auditors with such report thereon as they may think fit to make, and the accounts shall be published in the Cyprus Gazette.

(3) If any Town Committee makes default in submitting their accounts for audit, the members of such Committee shall be jointly and severally liable to a penalty not exceeding one pound for every day during which such default continues.

Default in submitting accounts for audit.

Moslem Educational Bodies.

Committees.

12. No person who has not attained the age of 21 years shall be eligible as a member of the Board of Education or District Committee or Village or Town Committee for Moslem Elementary Schools or of the Governing Body of Moslem Secondary Schools.

Summoning meetings of
Board.

13. (1) The Chairman of the Governing Body for Moslem Secondary Schools shall summon meetings of the Body as often as may be necessary; and he shall summon a meeting, if requested so to do by a notice in writing signed by three of the members, within three days of the receipt of the notice.

(2) If the Chairman shall fail to summon a meeting as lastly hereinbefore mentioned, it shall be lawful for any three members of the Body to summon the Chairman and members to a meeting by a notice in writing signed by them.

Quorum.

(3) Four members, including the Chairman, or five members, in the absence of the Chairman, shall form a quorum.

Chairman.

(4) In the absence of the Chairman, the members present shall choose one of their number to preside over the meeting.

Engagement
from abroad.

14. Notwithstanding anything contained in the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 17 of the Secondary Education Law, 1905, the Governing Body for Moslem Secondary Schools may enter into engagements with teachers coming from abroad for a period not exceeding five years.

District Committees.

Election of
atives.

15. (1) Every Town Committee and every Village Education Committee shall elect one of their number to be the town or village representative for the election of District Committees for the purposes of the Education Law, 1905.

(2) The Commissioner shall, not later than one month before the date fixed for the election, send a notice in writing to each of the Town and Village Committees in his District requesting them to forthwith elect one of their number to be town or village representative; and the name of the person so elected by the Town or Village Committee shall be notified to the Commissioner in writing signed by the majority of the Electing Committee as soon as possible after the receipt of the notice.

Election of District
Committees.

(3) On a day and between the hours to be notified in writing by the Commissioner to the Committees, the representatives shall attend at the office of the Commissioner and shall intimate to the Commissioner the names of the four persons for whom they wish to vote, and the four persons obtaining the majority of votes shall be declared duly elected.

(4) In case of an equality of votes in any election under sub-section (1) or sub-section (3), the question of who shall be deemed to have been elected shall be decided by the drawing of lots under the supervision of the Commissioner or his nominee.

(5) The Commissioner shall preside over the election, and shall allow any person claiming to be a candidate or the representative of a candidate, to the number of not more than twelve, to be present thereat.

Miscellaneous.

Limit of
assessment.

16. Sub-section (2) of section 33 of the Education Law, 1905, shall be read as if it referred to section 2 of this Law.

Repeal.

17. The enactments mentioned in the Schedule are hereby repealed to the extent therein specified.

(No. 8618.)

ORDER OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER IN COUNCIL.—No. 432.

C. A. KING-HARMAN,
High Commissioner.

WHEREAS by an Order of His Excellency the High Commissioner in Council bearing date the 25th January, 1897, His Excellency was pleased under the powers vested in him by the Prison Discipline Law, 1879, to make Regulations for the government of Prisons and whereas it is desirable to amend the said Regulations in certain particulars:

Now therefore His Excellency the High Commissioner in exercise of the power vested in him by the said Law and with the advice of the Executive Council is pleased to cancel Regulations 166, 167 and 194 of the said Regulation and to substitute therefor the following Regulations bearing the same numbers, and to amend Regulation 170 in manner hereinafter appearing:—

166. No work shall be done by any convicts except for Government without written authority from the High Commissioner.

167. Subject to the provisions contained in the rules in force for the time being, a convicted prisoner may receive letters and write one letter at the expiration of three months from the date of his imprisonment and at the expiration of every subsequent three months.

Provided that any letter containing news of an urgent nature may be delivered by the Governor to the prisoner at any time, and

Provided that the Governor may permit any prisoner to write a special letter for the purpose of making arrangements respecting his property or otherwise immediately after his conviction, or at any time in a case of grave urgency or necessity. The Governor shall make an entry in the letter book of the date on which such special letter was sent and the reason for which permission was given.

170. The following shall be read as a proviso to Regulation 170: "Provided that the Governor may permit any prisoner to see his friends immediately after conviction for the purpose of making arrangements respecting his property or otherwise."

194. No official or person employed in any prison shall purchase or procure therefrom any produce, refuse or old stores, without the written sanction of the High Commissioner.

Given under the hand and official seal of the High Commissioner at Nicosia, this 11th day of June, 1907.

E. H. HEIDENSTAM,
(C.S. 187/07.) Clerk of Council.

(No. 8619.)

ORDER OF HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER IN COUNCIL.—No. 433.

C. A. KING-HARMAN,
High Commissioner.

WHEREAS by an Order of the High Commissioner in Council No. 427 of the 2nd March, 1907, it was ordered that the tithe on all wheat, barley, vetches and oats, should, for the year 1907, be taken in kind and not in money,

And Whereas by section 5 of the Tithe Ordinance, 1881, it is provided that it shall be lawful for the High Commissioner in Council, from time to time, to make regulations as to the time, place and manner in which payments in respect of tithes shall be made:

Now, Therefore, in exercise of the powers vested in him by the Tithe Ordinance, 1881, and with the advice of the Executive Council, His Excellency the High Commissioner is pleased to order that the following regulations shall take effect from the date of this Order in Council until further orders; and it is hereby further ordered, that all payments in kind made in respect of tithe on wheat, barley, vetches and oats shall be delivered not later than the 31st day of October, 1907, at the Government Stores appointed for the purpose, to wit:—

EVKAF.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER is pleased to direct the publication of the following Report of the Delegates of Evkaf and Statement of Evkaf Accounts for the year 1906-7.

June, 1907. (C.S. 1572/07.)

EVKAF OFFICE, NICOSIA,
23rd May, 1907.

THE HONOURABLE
THE CHIEF SECRETARY,

- In submitting for publication the accompanying
- Evkaf accounts for the year 1906-7, we have the honour to report that the total Mazbuta receipts (excluding proceeds of land sales at Famagusta and Kiti) were £4,646, a figure much in excess of that of any previous year. The increase arises chiefly in an exceptionally large collection by the Land Registry Department. The net expenditure was £3,878, also the highest on record. The principal heads of expenditure compare as follows with averages of the last five years :—

	1906-7	Average last five years
Establishment charges ...	657	599
Services of Mosques and Schools	988	920
Works and repairs, including grants to Village Mosques and Schools ...	1,669	756
Miscellaneous, including Cost of collecting Tithes and Land Registry Revenue, Government Taxes and Audit Fees ...	564	533

2. Including the proceeds of sales of lands we commence the new year with a Cash Balance of £6,738, the greater part of which, if not the whole, will be invested in building shops, etc., in Nicosia and Famagusta, from which we shall derive, we anticipate, a substantial income in the future.

3. The opportunity is perhaps a favourable one for the publication of further figures exhibiting, as far as such accounts are able to do so, the development of Evkaf properties and revenues since they were entrusted, by the Annex to the Convention of 1878, to two Delegates appointed respectively by the Ottoman and British Governments.

4. In Table I. we shew the Mazbuta revenue and expenditure of the five years 1873-4 to 1877-8. The average annual receipts were £1,658, of which £683 were expended locally.

5. In Table II. we shew the annual receipts and expenditure from 1879-80 to date, both on account of Mazbuta and Mulhaka deposits which pass through the office. The averages of Mazbuta income and expenditure over the whole period (excluding land sales) have been £2,220 and £2,132 respectively.

6. As better displaying the progress made, the averages in respect of Mazbuta may be compared as follows :—

Period	Average Revenue	Average local Expenditure
Five years to 1878 ...	1,658	683
Twenty-three years, 1879-80 to 1901-2 ...	1,992	1,916
Last five years (excluding land sales in 1906-7) ...	3,268	3,123

7. The annual income of the Department is steadily increasing and it will be materially augmented by the profitable investment this year of the large balance carried forward.

8. During the year under review we have completed the re-building of the Jami Kebir at Limassol by which the wants of the Moslem Community in that town have been fully met. We have also completed the repairs of Haidar Pasha Mosque on a large scale, and improved the surroundings of this ancient edifice.

9. We reported last year that we have had it in contemplation to extend the St. Sophia School and provide for Rushdie Classes therein. This has been accomplished, we make provision this year for a complete teaching staff, and we hope the school will be in full operation at an early date.

10. The following grants for rebuilding or repairing Village Mosques, Schools and Cemeteries were made during the year :—

Geuneli Mosque ...	19	4	5
Pileri Mosque ...	25	7	8

11. All religious edifices under the direct control of the Delegates are now in a good and substantial state of repair, and our estimates for the present year provide for additional expenditure on the services of the Mosques and in respect of education.

12. The due control and examination of the Mulhaka Vakfs continues. During the year the accounts of 93 such Vakfs in charge of Official Mutavellis were audited by the Local Auditor, and the Evkaf Mouhas-sabedji examined locally 50 in charge of other Mutavellis and audited the accounts of 35.

13. The deposits received on account of Mulhaka Vakfs include £915 for sale of lands belonging to the Janboulat Tekke, Famagusta, which has been profitably invested on loans secured by mortgages.

CYPRUS.

No. IX., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO AMEND THE LAWS RELATING TO MUNICIPALITIES.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[22nd May, 1907.

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows—

1. This Law may be cited as the Municipalities Amendment Law, 1907. Short title.

2. All Municipal Councils shall come into office on the 1st of April and, subject as hereinafter appears, shall continue in office for three years. Duration of Councils.

Qualification and Registration of Voters.

3. (1) Every male person of 21 years of age and—

(a) Whose name, on the last day of December in the year next preceding an election, appeared on the list of voters for the Legislative Council of the place for which the Municipal Council is to be elected, or

(b) Who, on the last day of December in any year, shall, during the whole of the preceding twelve months, have had his principal residence within the Municipal limits and who, during the period aforesaid, has paid, or has been under agreement to pay, rent for such period of not less than three pounds in respect of a house, warehouse, office, shop or other building, or of any part of a house, warehouse, office, shop or other building, situated within the Municipal limits, shall be entitled to vote at elections of Municipal Councils.

(2) Persons who are entitled under sub-section 1 (b) to vote at elections of Municipal Councils are hereinafter called "Rent-payers." Qualification of voters.

4. (1) The Commissioner of the District shall, on or before the 13th of January in every year, make out or cause to be made out lists of rent-payers (hereinafter called "Rent-payers' Lists") for each of the Municipalities in his District showing therein the property in respect of which any person on the list is entitled to be thereon. Rent-payers' lists.

(2) Rent-payers' lists need not include the names of persons who are entitled to vote at Municipal elections by virtue of sub-section 1 (a) of section 3.

copies of
lists.

5. All rent-payers' lists shall be kept at the office of the Commissioner, and the Commissioner shall cause a copy of each of such lists to be deposited in some convenient place within the limits of the Municipality affected and shall publish within such limits a notice in English, Turkish and Greek of such deposit stating that the copy may be perused by any person at all reasonable hours between the 13th and 25th of January.

Claims for rectification.

6. Any person, who is not included in a rent-payers' list and claims to be included therein, and any person who objects to the inclusion of a name in a rent-payers' list, shall deposit in writing his claim for rectification duly signed by him, or duly marked by him and witnessed, at the Commissioner's Office not later than the 25th of January.

Consideration of claims by
sioner.

7. The Commissioner, having considered such claims, shall make such alterations in the rent-payers' lists as he thinks necessary, and shall cause a copy of such of the lists as he has altered to be deposited in some convenient place within the limits of the Municipality affected, and shall publish within such limits a notice in English, Turkish and Greek of such deposit stating that the list may be perused at all reasonable hours between the 15th and 22nd of February.

revisions by
sioner.

8. (1) Any person, who wishes to object to any alteration made by the Commissioner under section 7 or whose claim for rectification has been rejected by the Commissioner, may apply to the District Court in manner hereinafter appearing.

(2) All objections under this section shall be filed in the District Court on or before the 22nd of February, and no such objection shall be entertained unless at the time of such filing a sum of five shillings is deposited with the Registrar of the District Court, which sum shall be forfeited to the Municipal Fund if the objection fails from any cause.

Commissioner to send revised lists and objections to President of District Court.

Notice of hearing by President of District
Court.

9. (1) On or before the 23rd of February, the Commissioner shall transmit to the President of the District Court the rent-payers' lists with such alterations therein as the Commissioner may have made under section 7 together with all objections deposited under section 6, and the President of the District Court shall, as soon as conveniently may be, cause a notice in English, Turkish and Greek to be posted in each of the Municipalities affected by the alterations that all objections thereto will be heard and determined by him at a time or times to be specified in the notice.

(2) Such proceedings before the President of the District Court shall be deemed to be judicial proceedings within the meaning of clause 193 of the Cyprus Courts of Justice Order, 1882.

Lists as finally revised by President of District Court to be returned to
sioner.

10. On or before the 18th of March, the rent-payers' lists of voters, with such additions and alterations as the proceedings under section 9 may have rendered necessary, shall be returned by the President of the District Court to the Commissioner of the District. Such lists shall be sealed with the seal of the District Court and shall be conclusive evidence of the persons for the time being entitled to vote by virtue of being rent-payers.

Cost of lists payable by Municipality.

11. All costs, charges and expenses, incurred in the preparation or revision of any rent-payers' list by or at the instance of the Commissioner, shall be paid by the Municipality affected to the Commissioner out of the Municipal Fund.

12. After the 18th of March, the Commissioner shall deliver a copy of the rent-payers' list to any elector of the Municipality affected thereby, who applies for the same and prepays such sum as the Commissioner shall deem reasonable for such copy.

Commissioner to furnish copy of rent-payers' list on prepayment.

Qualification and Election of Councillors.

13. (1) Every person who is qualified to vote at an election for a Municipal Council and who is not subject to any of the disqualifications hereinafter mentioned shall at such election be eligible as a member of a Municipal Council: Provided that the fact that the name of a person appeared in either of the lists mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 3 which were used at the election in question shall be conclusive evidence of his qualification to vote at the election.

Qualifications and disqualifications of Councillors.

(2) The following persons shall be disqualified for being elected and for sitting or voting as members of a Municipal Council:

- (a) Judges of any Court in the Island;
- (b) Persons holding any office or place of profit, other than that of President, in the gift or disposal of the Municipal Council;
- (c) Any persons having directly or indirectly, by himself or his partner, any share or interest in any contract with by or on behalf of such Municipal Council;
- (d) Bankrupts;
- (e) Persons convicted of any offence under section 25 of this Law: Provided that the Court shall, in its judgment, specify the time during which the person convicted shall be ineligible as a member of a Municipal Council.

(3) If any person, who is not eligible as a member of a Municipal Council, shall be returned as a member at any election, such election shall be void as regards such person and a new election shall be held as if his office as Councillor had been duly vacated; and if any member of a Municipality shall, after election, become disqualified from sitting and voting as aforesaid, his office as Councillor shall be deemed to be thereby vacated.

Election of unqualified person.

(4) Any person who, having been ineligible at the time of his election, or, whilst subject to any of the disqualifications hereinbefore mentioned, shall sit and vote in a Municipal Council, shall, for every occasion on which he sits or votes, forfeit the sum of five pounds to be recovered by action in any District Court by any person who shall sue for the same: Provided that all acts and proceedings of any persons in the office of and acting as President, Vice-President, or Councillor shall, notwithstanding any disqualification or want of qualification, be as valid and effectual as if such person had been duly qualified.

Penalty on unqualified person who sits or votes.

14. If any vacancy shall be occasioned in the office of Councillor, an election to fill such vacancy shall be held on the 1st of April following the occurrence of the vacancy. The provisions of section 107 of the Municipal Councils Law, 1882, shall apply to this section.

Filling of vacancies.

15. The High Commissioner may, from time to time, make regulations for determining the time and place for holding Municipal elections.

High Commissioner's power to make Regulations for elections.

Save in so far as the High Commissioner may from time to time otherwise order, every such election shall be held, as far as possible, in accordance with the regulations in force for the last elections to the Legislative Council which shall have been held prior to such Municipal election.

Nomination.

16. A candidate for election to serve as a Councillor on any Municipal Council shall be nominated in writing. The writing shall be subscribed by any two persons who are entitled to vote at an election of a Municipal Council for the place for which the Council is to be elected, and shall be delivered during the time appointed for election to the Commissioner or his representative by the candidate himself or his proposer or seconder.

Election where no poll necessary.

17. (1) If, at the expiration of one hour after the time appointed for the election, no more candidates stand nominated than there are vacancies to be filled up, and the candidates so standing nominated shall be Moslems and Christians in the same proportion as are the numbers of Moslem and Christian vacancies on the Council, the Commissioner or his representative shall declare all the candidates who may stand nominated to be elected.

Election where candidates not divided in same proportion as Moslem and Christian vacancies.

(2) If the number of the candidates who so stand nominated be not divided in the same proportion as the number of Moslem and Christian vacancies on the Council, the Commissioner or his representative shall declare those candidates, either Moslem or Christian, as the case may be, who shall not exceed the number of vacancies for which they are eligible under the provisions of this Law, to be elected; and shall, for the purpose of filling up the other vacancies, adjourn the election in order that a poll may be taken in manner in this Law mentioned.

Election where more candidates of both communities than vacancies.

(3) If, at the expiration of one hour after the time appointed for the election, more Christian and Moslem candidates stand nominated than there are respectively Christian and Moslem vacancies to be filled up, the Commissioner or his representative shall adjourn the election in order that a poll shall be taken in manner in this Law mentioned.

Election where poll.

18. In the case of a poll at an election, the election shall take place under the presidency of some person (herein referred to as the Presiding Officer) to be named in that behalf by the High Commissioner; and any candidate or his duly appointed representative shall be entitled to be present at such election.

Manner of voting.

19. (1) At every election Christian voters shall vote for Christian candidates only and Moslem voters for Moslem candidates only.

(2) No voter shall give more than one vote to any candidate.

Equality of votes.

20. Where an equality of votes is found to exist between any candidates at an election, the question of which of such candidates shall be declared duly elected shall be decided by the drawing of lots under the supervision of the Commissioner.

Notification of result.

21. (1) The Commissioner shall, as soon as possible, notify the names of the persons elected to a Municipal Council, or the name of any person elected to fill a vacancy therein, in writing to the Chief Secretary, who shall cause the same to be published in the Cyprus Gazette.

(2) If the Commissioner reports to the Chief Secretary that from accident or other inevitable cause no election was carried out the High Commissioner shall order another poll to be held at the earliest possible date; and, in the case of the election of a new Council, the Council or Commission who were in office at the time of the abortive election shall continue in office until the expiration of one week from the date of the holding of the last mentioned poll.

22. Any member may resign his office as Councillor by giving notice in writing to the President or Vice-President of the Council. Resignation of members.

23. Subject to sub-section (2) of section 21, the Commissioner and the Presiding Officer shall make all arrangements for the conduct of the election of a new Council so as to ensure its completion and the ascertainment of the result on or before the 28th of March, and on the 1st of April following the new Council shall come into office. Arrangements for election of new Council.

Offences.

24. Every person who—

Offences at elections.

(1) Forges or fraudulently defaces or destroys any nomination paper, or delivers to the Presiding Officer any nomination paper knowing the same to be forged ;

(2) Wilfully obstructs, or by threats or violence interferes with, any voter while on the way to vote or while in the polling station ;

(3) Without due authority takes, opens, or otherwise interferes with any ballot box ;

(4) In any way wilfully interrupts or impedes an election ;

(5) Impersonates any voter and votes or attempts to vote in his place, shall be guilty of an offence and on conviction shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both such punishments.

25. (1) Any person who is convicted of bribery or intimidation, as hereinafter defined, at any Municipal election, or of being an accomplice therein, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both such punishments. Bribery and intimidation.

(2) Every person who, in order to induce any voter to vote or refrain from voting, does any act which is defined as bribery by Article 67 or Article 76 of the Ottoman Penal Code, shall be deemed guilty of bribery. Bribery.

(3) Every person who, by himself or by any other person on his behalf, uses any violence or threatens any violence or damage or resorts to any fraudulent contrivance to restrain the liberty of a voter so as either to frighten him into voting or abstaining from voting otherwise than as he freely wills, shall be deemed guilty of intimidation. Intimidation.

(4) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, any member of a Municipal Council, convicted of an offence under this section, shall ipso facto cease to be a member of the Council and shall be disqualified from voting and from being a candidate at any election of a Municipal Council for such a term of years as the Court shall direct, not being more than ten years from the date of such conviction. Disqualification.

(5) Any person accused of an offence under this section may give evidence on oath, on his own behalf, at any stage of the proceedings at which evidence can be called for the defence. Accused may give evidence.

(6) Prosecutions for offences under this section shall be initiated by private persons only, and shall be subject to the following conditions:— Prosecutions to be initiated by private persons only.

(a) The prosecutor must be a person who was entitled to vote at the election in respect of which the offence is alleged to have been committed ;

- (b) The prosecution must be instituted within one month of the publication in the Cyprus Gazette of the result of the election ;
- (c) The prosecutor, on applying for a summons, must deposit with the Registrar of the District Court of the District, in which the prosecution is begun, the sum of twenty pounds in respect of each defendant, which sum shall be repaid to the depositor if the accused person is convicted ; and, if he shall be acquitted, the said sum shall be dealt with in such manner as the Court shall deem just.

Miscellaneous.

Appointment of President and Vice-President.

26. (1) As soon as conveniently may be after the election of a new Council, the Commissioner shall summon a meeting of the Council, at which meeting the Councillors shall appoint one of their number to be President, and another to be Vice-President, of the Municipal Council who shall continue in office until the expiration of the term for which the Council was elected.

(2) If a vacancy occurs in the office of President or Vice-President during such term by reason of death or otherwise, a new election shall take place from among the Councillors to fill the office which may be so vacated for the remainder of the term for which the Council was appointed.

meetings.

27. If any person holding the office of President, Vice-President, or Councillor of any Municipal Council shall wilfully fail to attend at three consecutive meetings of the Council, except with the permission of the Council so to do, or shall be absent from the place for which the Council sits for more than four months at one and the same time, unless in case of illness, then, and in every such case, such person shall thereupon immediately become disqualified, and the Council thereupon shall forthwith declare the office to be void.

Meetings to

CYPRUS.

No. VIII., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO PROVIDE FOR THE NUMBERING OF PUBLIC VEHICLES AND CARTS AND TO REGULATE THE FARES PAYABLE IN RESPECT OF PUBLIC CARRIAGES.

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as the Vehicles and Traffic Regulation Law, 1907. Short title.

2. In this Law unless the contrary intention appears— Definitions.

“Carriage” means any conveyance whether drawn by one or more animals or propelled or drawn by mechanical means, and includes public vehicles and public carriages.

“Public Vehicle” means any vehicle drawn by one or more animals which is ordinarily used for the carriage of passengers or goods for hire and includes a public carriage.

“Public Carriage” means any carriage for the conveyance of passengers which plies for hire.

“Principal Officer of Police” means the Local Commandant or the officer in command of the Police of the District.

“Proprietor” means every person who, either alone or in partnership with any other person, keeps any carriage.

3. From and after the expiration of three months after the coming into force of this Law it shall be unlawful— Obligation to have certain vehicles numbered.

(1) For any person to drive a public vehicle on any public road or street unless such vehicle has been numbered in accordance with this Law; and

(2) For any proprietor of a carriage constructed for conveying merchandise or other materials or things to use or to permit it to be used on any public road or street unless such carriage has been numbered in accordance with this Law.

4. (1) Every proprietor of a public vehicle or of a carriage constructed for conveying merchandise or other materials or things shall apply to the Principal Officer of Police for the issue to him of a number for such vehicle or carriage. Issue of numbered plates.

(2) The Principal Officer of Police, whenever he assigns a number to such public vehicle or carriage, shall issue to the proprietor thereof a plate on which shall be legibly printed or marked the name, or a letter or letters indicating the name, of the District in which the plate is issued and the number so assigned, and the proprietor shall place and affix the plate in such place on the public vehicle or carriage and in such manner as the Principal Officer of Police shall deem best for rendering the number at all times plainly and distinctly visible.

(3) Upon the issue of a plate a fee of one shilling shall be paid by the proprietor of the vehicle or carriage.

Register of numbers.

5. Before issuing such plate the Principal Officer of Police shall record the number and the name and address of the person to whom it is issued in a book to be kept for the purpose and shall sign the same, and a copy thereafter made from such book and certified under the hand of the Principal Officer of Police to be a true copy shall be received as conclusive proof of all that is therein stated.

Procedure on transfer.

6. (1) Whenever the proprietor of any carriage or public vehicle which has been numbered under the authority of this Law transfers it to any other person he and the transferee shall forthwith notify the transfer in writing or personally to the Principal Officer of Police in the District in which such transfer takes place, and it shall be the duty of the transferee to apply to have the carriage or vehicle renumbered in his name according to the provisions of this Law, and any omission to comply with the provisions of this section shall be deemed an offence under this Law.

Record of transfer.

(2) Upon receiving notice of the transfer the Principal Officer of Police shall make such entries in the book required to be kept under this Law as may be necessary to record the transfer and shall communicate the fact of the transfer to such other Principal Officer of Police as it may concern.

Prohibition to use unsafe public carriages.

7. (1) If the Principal Officer of Police is at any time satisfied after inspection that any public carriage is not in a safe condition to be used he shall forthwith give notice in writing to the proprietor stating in what the unsafeness consists and prohibiting the use of such carriage until the same is put in such a safe condition as the Principal Officer of Police may deem sufficient.

Appeal from prohibition.

Provided that any proprietor aggrieved by any decision of the Principal Officer of Police under this sub-section may apply to the Commissioner of the District who shall as soon as possible inspect the carriage and may if he thinks fit cancel the notice.

Offence to use during prohibition.

(2) If while such notice remains in force and uncanceled by the Commissioner or the Principal Officer of Police any such public carriage is used the proprietor thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound for each time it is so used.

Offence to use vehicle unnumbered or number illegible.

8. (1) The proprietor of any public carriage or carriage constructed for conveying merchandise or other materials or things who uses or allows the same to be used on any public road or street without having a plate fixed thereon in accordance with this Law, or having such plate or any part thereof defaced or covered purposely so as to be illegible, and Overloading carriage.

(2) The proprietor of any public carriage who uses or allows the same to be used for carrying such a number of persons or such a burden or load as shall be deemed to be excessive shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound for an offence under sub-section (1) and not exceeding two pounds for an offence under sub-section (2).

9. (1) Whoever drives any carriage or rides any animal on any public road or street in a manner so rash or negligent as to endanger human life or to be likely to cause hurt or injury to any other person shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month or to a fine not exceeding five pounds or to both of such punishments.

Dangerous driving and riding.

(2) Whoever being the person having the charge of any carriage is intoxicated or asleep while driving or in charge of the same shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three weeks or to a fine not exceeding three pounds.

(3) Whoever rides any bicycle or tricycle in any public road or street in a manner likely to cause hurt or injury to any other person shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two pounds.

(4) Whoever permits a carriage under his charge to be left on a public road without some competent person in charge thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two pounds.

10. No person shall drive a public carriage unless he shall have attained the age of 18 and has been licensed under this Law.

Age of licensee to drive.

11. (1) Licenses to drive public carriages shall be in the form in the Schedule or to the like effect and shall be issued by the Principal Officer of Police, on payment of one shilling, to such persons as he shall be satisfied have had not less than one year's experience of driving and who shall produce certificates of good character from the Mukhtar and an Aza of their village or quarter or from two trustworthy persons.

License to drive.

(2) Such licenses shall be in force until cancelled in manner hereinafter referred to.

12. Every person—

Offence by licensees.

(1) Who shall drive a public carriage without being licensed under this Law ;

(2) Who being licensed under this Law shall refuse, without good reason, to produce his license to any police officer when called upon so to do, or

(3) Who being licensed under this Law shall commit the offence mentioned in sub-section (2) of section 8, shall be guilty of an offence under this Law.

13. Any person holding a license to drive a public carriage under this Law who shall be convicted of an offence for the third time or any subsequent time under this Law shall be liable, at the discretion of the Court, in addition to any other penalty to have his license cancelled by the Court who convicts him.

Cancellation of licenses.

14. It shall be lawful for Municipalities from time to time to make regulations for fixing the places within the Municipal limits at which public carriages must stand when plying for hire and not actually hired, and any driver of a public carriage who loiters in any public street or who causes a public carriage when plying for hire and not actually hired to stand at any place other than a place so fixed as aforesaid shall be guilty of an offence under this Law.

Stands for public carriages.

15. (1) Every Municipal authority shall fix and may from time to time alter the fares payable by persons hiring public carriages for journeys within the Municipal limits or within five miles from the Commissioner's Office.

Tariffs of fares.

(2) The tariff of such fares shall come into operation when it has been approved by the High Commissioner in Council and been published in the Cyprus Gazette.

16. (1) The Municipal authority shall deliver to every proprietor for each public carriage kept by him a card with the tariff of fares legibly printed thereon in English, Turkish and Greek, each such card to be numbered with the same number as the number of the carriage for which it is given.

Tariff of fares to be affixed inside carriage.

(2) Every such proprietor shall, on pain of being liable to a fine not exceeding five shillings, keep such card affixed to the inside of such carriage, in such a position that it may be seen distinctly by any person travelling in the carriage.

(3) When any such card is worn out or rendered illegible by use, the proprietor shall procure a new card from the Municipal authority and affix the same in like manner, on pain of a like fine.

Penalty on driver exacting more than the legal fare.

17. If the driver of any public carriage exacts or attempts to exact from any person any sum exceeding the fare to which he is entitled, such driver shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one pound.

No. X., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO AMEND THE VILLAGE AUTHORITIES LAW, 1906.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[18th June, 1907.]

BE it enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Law may be cited as the Village Authorities Amendment Law, 1907, and shall be read as one with the Village Authorities Law, 1906 (hereinafter called the Principal Law) and this Law and the said Law may be cited together as the Village Authorities Laws, 1906 and 1907.

2. For the purposes of this Law the term "Christian" Definition. refers to and includes each and every Christian Community.

3. (1) In all villages and quarters in which there are more than 50 inhabitants of the Maronite or Armenian Communities an election by the electors of those communities of a Mukhtar and Azas shall be held on such Sunday, as soon as possible after the coming into operation of this Law, as the Commissioner shall direct under the presidency of some person nominated by him. Provisions for holding elections in certain cases.

(2) In the case of any village or quarter where the Medjlis Idaré have appointed a Mukhtar or Azas :

(a) By reason of there having been an equality of voters at an election ; or,

(b) By reason of the report of an election having been lost, or, where an election having taken place, a report thereof was wilfully withheld ; or,

(c) By reason of there having been no election held owing to a mistake, it shall be lawful for the High Commissioner on receipt of a petition signed by not less than twenty male inhabitants of any such village to order a fresh election to be held under such conditions as he shall direct.

(3) Every Mukhtar and Aza elected under this section shall hold office until the first day of April, 1909, and no longer, and any person who may have been heretofore appointed by the Medjlis Idaré to serve as such under the provisions of the Principal Law shall cease to hold such appointment when the result of the election hereby authorised is notified by the Commissioner.

4. Section 4 of the Principal Law is hereby repealed and the following shall be read instead thereof :

Christian and Moslem Mukhtars, when both.

One Mukhtar shall hereafter be elected for every village or for each quarter of a town by the Christian electors from amongst their own Community and one Mukhtar for such village or quarter aforesaid by the Moslem electors from amongst their own Community : Provided always that, when the mixed population of Christians and Moslems of a village or quarter does not contain, according to the latest Census, a population of thirty inhabitants either of the Christian or Moslem Community, as the case may be, there shall only be elected one Mukhtar, and such Mukhtar shall be elected by the electors of both the Christian and Moslem Communities : Provided also and notwithstanding anything in this Law contained there shall not be more than one Christian Mukhtar and Commission in any village or quarter.

And when one only.

5. If in any village or quarter there are less than five persons possessed of the qualifications prescribed by the Principal Law to serve as Mukhtar or Azas, the Commissioner shall appoint such persons as he shall think fit to be Mukhtar and Azas of the village or quarter.

Deficiency in number of qualified persons.

6. If any Mukhtar shall die or become disqualified to act or incapable of acting or shall be dismissed under the provisions of section 9 of the Principal Law, the Commissioner shall forthwith call upon the village to elect a fit and proper person to serve as Mukhtar for the remainder of the term for which such Mukhtar was elected.

Filling vacancy.

7. (1) The High Commissioner shall, from time to time, make regulations for the proper conduct of the elections of Mukhtars and Azas in villages and quarters, and it shall be the duty of every person appointed by the Commissioner to preside over the election of Mukhtars and Azas to carry out such election in accordance with such regulations in all respects; and any person so appointed who shall, without reasonable cause, fail or neglect to conduct such election in manner aforesaid or to report forthwith the result to the Commissioner shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three pounds.

High Commissioner to make regulations for elections.

(2) All regulations made under this section shall be published in the Cyprus Gazette.

Power of Commissioner to order fresh election.

8. If the Presiding Officer reports to the Commissioner that no election has been held, or if the Commissioner is of opinion that an election has not been conducted in accordance with the Law or regulations governing such elections, or if any person elected refuses to serve, the Commissioner shall order a further election to be held on such date, as soon as possible thereafter, as he shall determine under the presidency of such person as he may appoint, and such further election shall be conducted in like manner with the elections authorised by the Principal Law and be subject to this Law and to the regulations made thereunder.

Penalty for obstructing election.

9. Any person who wilfully obstructs the proper carrying out of any election shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding one month or to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

Age of Mukhtar.

10. Section 8 of the Principal Law shall be read as if the words "has attained the age of twenty five years" had been inserted therein instead of the words "has completed the thirtieth year of his age."

Number of Azas in certain cases.

11. The following shall be inserted as a proviso to subsection 1 of section 16 of the Principal Law :

Provided always that when in any village or quarter a Mukhtar has been elected in respect of more than one Community there shall only be elected two persons to serve as Azas in respect of each Community.

Conviction when a disqualification.

12. Every person who, after the passing of this Law, shall be convicted of any crime and shall undergo imprisonment for any term exceeding twelve months shall be disqualified for five years from the expiration of his sentence from being elected as a Mukhtar or Aza.

Equality of votes.

13. In case there shall be an equality of votes in any election held under this Law the question of who shall be deemed to have been elected shall be decided by the drawing of lots under the supervision of the Commissioner or his nominee.

Date of elections.

14. Notwithstanding anything in section 5 of the Principal Law contained as to the date of holding elections, elections thereunder may be held on such day in December or January and between such hours as the Commissioner shall direct and notify.

Provisions in cases where both Christian and Moslem Mukhtar.

15. (1) Where there is both a Christian and Moslem Mukhtar in any village or quarter, the Mukhtar to perform the duties and to receive the fees referred to in section 9 of the Malicious Injury to Property Law, 1894, shall be the Mukhtar of the Community to which the petitioner belongs.

(2) In the case of a sale of animals, as defined by the Cattle Certificate Law, 1889, the Mukhtar to issue the certificate (unless the parties otherwise agree) shall be the Mukhtar of the Community to which the vendor belongs.

(3) In cases of certificates given by Mukhtars or by Village Commissions such certificates shall be given by the Mukhtar or Village Commission of the Community to which the applicant belongs.

(4) Except where otherwise provided, where there is a Christian and a Moslem Commission in any village or quarter the combined Commissions shall be the Village Commission for the purpose of performing any duty or discharging any obligation imposed by Law on a Village Commission, and where any dispute arises as to which Mukhtar ought to discharge the duties by Law assigned to the Mukhtar the dispute shall be referred to the Commissioner, whose decision thereon shall be final : Provided always that for the purposes of the Births and Deaths Registration Law, 1895, each Mukhtar shall be the Registrar for his own Community.

16. Where the electors fail to elect a Mukhtar or Azas Failure to elect. at any election under section 8 of this Law or where the electors fail to fill any vacancy under sub-section (5) of section 16 of the Principal Law, the Commissioner shall appoint qualified persons as Mukhtar or Azas to fill the vacancies.

LORD ALLENDALE.
LORD JUSTICE KENNEDY.
MR. WINSTON CHURCHILL.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient;

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twenty-sixth day of January, one thousand nine hundred and four, between His Majesty and the President of the Republic of Peru, for the extradition of criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following :—

Treaty of Extradition between Great Britain and Peru.

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and His Excellency the President of the Republic of Peru, having determined, by common consent, to conclude a Treaty for the extradition of criminals, have accordingly named as their Plenipotentiaries :

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, William Nelthorpe Beauchamp, His Majesty's Minister Resident in Peru ;

And His Excellency the President of the Republic of Peru, José Pardo, his Minister for Foreign Relations ;

Who after having exhibited to each other their respective full powers and found them in good and due form, have agreed upon the following Articles :

ARTICLE I.

The High Contracting Parties engage to deliver up to each other, in accordance with the stipulations of the present Treaty, any persons who, being accused or convicted in one of the two countries of one or more of the offences enumerated in the following Article are found in the territory of the other.

ARTICLE II.

Extradition shall be reciprocally granted for the following crimes or offences :—

1. Murder (including parricide, infanticide, poisoning) or attempt or conspiracy to murder. The Peruvian Government may, however, in its absolute discretion, refuse to deliver up any person charged with a crime punishable with death.

2. Manslaughter.
3. Procuring or attempting to procure abortion.
4. Rape, abduction and indecent assault.
5. Unlawfully detaining or kidnapping children, abandoning or exposing them.
6. Bigamy.
7. Wounding or inflicting grievous bodily harm.
8. Assault occasioning actual bodily harm.
9. Threats, by letter or otherwise, with intent to extort money or other things of value.
10. Perjury, or subornation of perjury.
11. Arson and other malicious injury to property if such injuries are indictable.
12. Burglary or housebreaking, robbery with violence, larceny, or embezzlement.
13. Fraud by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, director, member, or public officer of any Company punishable with imprisonment for not less than one year.
14. Obtaining money, valuable security, or goods by false pretences; receiving any money, valuable security, or other property, knowing the same to have been stolen or unlawfully obtained.
15. Counterfeiting or altering money or bringing into circulation counterfeited or altered money.
16. Making or having possession of instruments adapted and intended for the counterfeiting of the coin of the realm or for the forgery of documents. Forgery and uttering what is forged.

17. Offences against bankruptcy law.

18. Any malicious act done with intent to endanger the safety of any persons travelling or being upon a railway.

19. Piracy by the law of nations.

20. Dealing in slaves in such manner as to constitute a criminal offence against the laws of both States.

21. Extradition is also to be granted for other crimes or offences against persons or things which, according to the laws of the High Contracting Parties, are Extradition offences and are punishable by not less than one year's imprisonment.

The extradition is also to be granted for participation in any of the aforesaid crimes, provided such participation be punishable by the laws of both Contracting Parties.

Extradition may also be granted at the discretion of the State applied to in respect of any other crime for which, according to the law of both the Contracting Parties for the time being in force, the grant can be made.

ARTICLE III.

Each of the High Contracting Parties reserves the right to grant or refuse the surrender of its own subjects or citizens.

ARTICLE IV.

The surrender shall not take place when the person claimed by the Government of either of the two nations has already been tried and sentenced by the authorities of the other for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed should be awaiting trial in the territory of one of the two nations, or be undergoing sentence in it on account of any other crime than that for which his extradition is claimed, his surrender shall be deferred until after he has been discharged, whether by acquittal or on the expiration of his sentence, or by pardon or otherwise.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution or the conviction, thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applying or applied to.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he proves that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VII.

A person surrendered may in no case be kept in prison or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place, until he has had an opportunity of returning to the State by which he has been surrendered.

This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents of the High Contracting Parties respectively; in default of these by the Consular Officers, and in the absence of both of these, directly, from Government to Government.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

Also, in case of extradition being demanded by Great Britain for a crime which is an offence against some statute, a copy of the said statute shall be sent; and if for a crime at common law only, an extract from some text-book generally recognized as authoritative may be sent, as indicating the punishment applicable to the offence giving rise to the requisition.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by the sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A sentence passed in contumaciam is not to be deemed a conviction, but a person so sentenced may be dealt with as an accused person.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

ARTICLE X.

When either of the Contracting Governments considers the case urgent it may apply for the provisional arrest of the criminal and the safe keeping of any objects relating to the offence.

Such request will be granted, provided the existence of a sentence or warrant of arrest is proved and the nature of the offence of which the fugitive is accused is clearly stated.

The warrant of arrest to which this Article refers should be issued by the competent judicial authorities of the Country applying for extradition. In the United Kingdom the accused shall on arrest be sent as speedily as possible before a Police Magistrate. The prisoner shall be discharged if the State applying does not complete the requisition within the term of ninety days counting from the date of the arrest of the prisoner.

ARTICLE XI.

The extradition shall take place only if the evidence be found sufficient according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the same State, or to prove by the documents presented which shall contain a description of the person claimed and any particulars which shall serve to identify him, that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition and that the crime of which he has been convicted is one in respect of which extradition could, at the time of such conviction, have been granted by the State applied to; and no criminal shall be surrendered until after the expiration of fifteen days from the date of his committal to prison to await the warrant for his surrender.

ARTICLE XII.

In the examination which they may have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the Authorities of the State applied to shall admit as valid evidence the sworn depositions or the affirmations of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, and certificates of, or judicial documents stating the fact of a conviction, provided the same are authenticated as follows:

1. A warrant must purport to be signed by a Judge, Magistrate or Officer of the other State.

2. Depositions or affirmations, or the copies thereof, must purport to be certified under the hand of a Judge, Magistrate or Officer of the other State to be the original depositions or affirmations, or to be true copies thereof, as the case may require.

3. A certificate of or judicial document stating the fact of a conviction must purport to be certified by a Judge, Magistrate or Officer of the other State.

4. In every case such warrant, deposition, affirmation, copy, certificate, or judicial document must be authenticated either by oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice or some other Minister of the other State; but any other mode of authentication for the time being permitted by the law of the country where the examination is taken may be substituted for the foregoing.

ARTICLE XIII.

If the individual claimed by one of the High Contracting Parties in pursuance of the present Treaty should be also claimed by one or several other Powers on account of other crimes or offences committed upon their respective territories, his extradition shall be granted to the State whose demand is earliest in date.

ARTICLE XIV.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within ninety days from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, or within such further time as the State applied to or the proper Tribunal thereof shall direct, the fugitive shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XV.

When extradition is conceded the papers and other articles connected with the offence or its authors, or which were in their possession at the time of their arrest, shall be delivered to the State to which extradition is granted.

This State shall be bound to return them after the termination of the trial, if any persons shall satisfy the Authorities of the State granting extradition that they have a right to them.

ARTICLE XVI.

All expenses connected with extradition shall be borne by the demanding State.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at Lima on the thirtieth day of November, one thousand nine hundred and six :

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Him by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the 20th day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seven, the said Acts shall apply in the case of Peru, and of the said Treaty with the President of the Republic of Peru :

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada passed in 1886, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

ARTICLE XVII.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the colonies and foreign possessions of His Britannic Majesty, so far as the laws in such colonies and foreign possessions allow.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or chief authority of such colony or possession by the Chief Consular officer of the Republic of Peru in such colony or possession.

The Governor or chief authority may dispose of the requisition, in accordance with the laws of the territory in which he exercises authority, and shall be at liberty to grant the surrender or to refer the matter to his Government.

Requisitions for the surrender of a fugitive criminal emanating from any colony or foreign possession of His Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVIII.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties by a notice not exceeding one year, and not less than six months.

It shall be ratified after receiving the approval of the Congress of the Republic of Peru, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Lima as soon as possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and affixed thereto their respective seals.

Done at Lima this twenty-sixth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and four.

COLONIAL OFFICE JOURNAL.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER directs the publication of the following Circular despatch, dated 4th May, 1907, from the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for general information :—

"Circular."

DOWNING STREET,

4th May, 1907.

SIR,

A proposal has been submitted to me by Mr. W. H. Mercer, one of the Crown Agents for the Colonies, for the establishment of a quarterly journal which would deal with matters of special interest to Colonial Officials, under the editorship of himself and a member of the Colonial Office.

The proposal is based mainly on the fact that valuable reports are constantly being issued on subjects of general concern, but that in many cases their utility is restricted for want of wide publicity. Colonial reports on railways and other engineering works, sanitation, education, and other administrative questions, would be abstracted and reviewed in cases when the information appeared to be generally interesting. Parliamentary reports and books appearing in this country would also be noticed.

It is further proposed to publish notes on matters of personal interest to Colonial Officials, such as points relating to the payment of salaries and pensions, outfits, new appointments, and reminiscences and experiences of Colonial matters.

A list would be given of all officials from the Crown Colonies on leave of absence, and if desired (in which case a note could be made on the leave certificate) the address and duration of leave would be added.

Observations would be given on trade and manufacturing points, as suggested by the Board of Trade, by the experience of Colonial Officials, or the explanations of suppliers.

Correspondence would be invited and dealt with as usual in the press; i.e., suitable letters would be printed with or without the name of the writer, as desired.

The enterprise would be a private one, and would have no official authority. As, however, I am disposed to think that it might serve a useful purpose, I bring the proposal to your notice, and should be glad to learn whether you are of opinion that it should be encouraged by the Crown Colonies. I understand that it is at present contemplated that the price per copy should be 1s. 6d., and that the first number should appear early in June. The editors will forward to the Colonial Secretary the same number of copies of this issue as are supplied of the Colonial Office List, and it would be a great convenience if the Colonial Secretary's Office would bring the publication to the notice of officials, distribute the copies to be issued, and account in due course to the editors for the copies so disposed of. The Colonial Government would have no liability for unissued copies. If it appears possible that any demand for the numbers may come from the public, the editors suggest that the Colonial Secretary's Office might deliver any number of copies which it may think fit to local booksellers, who would account for the copies sold, less their usual commission.

It will be seen that the editors do not ask for any Government subscription or guarantee, and that the publication would take its chance on its merits, but that the kindly assistance of the Colonial Government would be greatly appreciated as regards the distribution of copies.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

ELGIN."

Copies of the Colonial Office Journal for June can be obtained on application at the Chief Secretary's Office. Price 1s. 7cp.

ANGLISIDES IRRIGATION WORKS.

(Notification No. 8221 in the Cyprus Gazette No. 863 dated 24th August, 1906, is cancelled.)

RULES DRAWN UP BY THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED UNDER THE IRRIGATION (REGULATION) LAW, 1889, FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE ANGLISIDES IRRIGATION WORKS.

Present :—

THE COMMISSIONER OF LARNACA
IBRAHIM HASSAN
PANAYI SPARSI
KYRIAKO SPARSI } OF ANGLISIDES.

1. Every proprietor of land benefited by the Anglisides Irrigation Works shall pay two piastres per year for each donum of land and twenty paras for each tree so benefited for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the repairs and improvements mentioned hereafter.

2. The sums due under the preceding Rule shall be collected by the 30th September in each year.

3. The assessment will be based on the lists set out in the Schedule hereto, which show the names of the proprietors and the number of donums and trees possessed by each, which will be benefited by the Anglisides Irrigation Works : subject always to any changes of ownership which may have occurred since that date and which will be notified by the Committee to the Commissioner.

4. If the Committee find that the sum of two piastres per donum and twenty paras per tree is insufficient to cover the expenses of the year, they are hereby authorised to levy one more piastre per donum and twenty paras more per tree from each proprietor on the list, provided the sum levied shall not exceed three piastres per donum and one piastre per tree.

Provided always that, in the event of the accounts at any time showing a surplus revenue, the Committee are authorised to reduce the assessment imposed under Rule 1 by such amount as they may deem practicable.

5. If the Committee report in writing to the Commissioner that a proprietor has neglected to pay his dues under the above rules by the 30th September, such proprietor, as long as he shall continue in default, shall be precluded from taking water from the channel. If he persists, by fraud or force, in taking water he shall be prosecuted by the Committee under Law I., 1889.

6. The Commissioner shall collect the dues leviable under these rules, and shall meet therefrom, so far as the fund allows, the expenses duly sanctioned by the Committee.

7. The Committee shall appoint a Guard, with pay at a rate not exceeding £2 a month, for such months as the Committee shall think necessary.

8. Urgent repairs, not costing in any one case more than £10, may be authorised by the Committee and carried out under the superintendence of one of their number to whom the Commissioner will advance money from the funds collected, and who will furnish vouchers to the Commissioner on the completion of the work.

9. No person shall enlarge or lessen the width of any branch, canal or open any new channel, or interfere in any way with the works without the leave in writing signed by the Committee, and no leave shall be given under this rule until 10 days after a notice has been published in the village of Anglisides so that any complaints against the application may be enquired into by the Committee and the Commissioner.

10. No one shall be allowed to cut the water either with a view of obtaining more water for his own fields or for any other purpose whatever.

11. Every person upon whom a notice for that purpose has been served by the Commissioner or the Committee shall, within eight days from such service, clean such part of the channel as runs through his field of any stones or rubbish which might divert the water or stop its proper course, and shall even remove all stones and other things intended to direct the water on to his field at the proper time.

12. Any Court or other expenses necessary for the prosecution of offenders shall be paid from the funds collected under these Rules.

13. The present Committee shall hold office until the 30th day of June, 1907, and a meeting of the proprietors shall be held by the Commissioner on some day to be fixed by him in the last fortnight of May, 1907, for the purpose of electing a new Committee.

14. Two members with the Commissioner shall form a quorum. If all four members present are equally divided on any question, the Commissioner as President shall have a casting vote.

15. A statement of Receipts and Expenditure under these Rules shall be furnished by the Commissioner and posted in the village of Anglisides between June 15 and 30 in each year.

28th June, 1907.

(C.S. 3667/1902.)

CYPRUS.

No. XI., 1907.

A LAW enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof,

TO MAKE FURTHER PROVISION FOR THE TWELVE MONTHS ENDED ON THE THIRTY-FIRST DAY OF MARCH, 1907.

C. A. KING-HARMAN.]

[8th August, 1907.]

WHEREAS it is necessary to make additional provision for the service for the twelve months ended on the thirty-first day of March, 1907.

BE it therefore enacted by His Excellency the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. This Law may be cited as the Supplementary Short title.
Appropriation Law, 1906–7.

2. There shall be issued and applied to the service of the twelve months ended the thirty-first day of March, 1907, an additional sum not exceeding the sum of seven thousand five hundred and two pounds for defraying the charges of the Government of Cyprus for such period. The said amount shall be appropriated as follows :—

Vote 8.—Treasury	1,177
„ 15.—Medical Departments	262
„ 17.—Education	1,009
„ 18.—Miscellaneous Services	156
„ 19.—Post Office	683

„ 21.—Forest Department	513
„ 24.—Public Works, Recurrent	570
„ 25.—Public Works, Extraordinary.....	1,133
	£7,502

Appropriation of £7,502 for twelve months ended 31st March, 1907.

3. It shall be lawful for the High Commissioner to cause to be issued and paid for the purposes aforesaid any sum not exceeding in the whole the sums in that behalf hereinbefore specified.

High Commissioner may authorise payment of the same.

Passed in Council this fourth day of June, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seven.

ARTHUR G. PAGE,
Clerk of Council.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF AGRICULTURE FOR THE YEAR 1906-7.

1. From the time I submitted my last Report, one could notice many pleasant indications of progress in the industry and farming of the Island. Among the most remarkable things, we can mention here the daily increasing demand for new agricultural implements and the more and more extension of the cultivation of fruit-trees.

2. During the last year my attention was particularly drawn by two matters in which is substantially interested the agriculture of the Island. These are (a) a vine disease in the areas of Omodhos, Perapedhi and Kalopanayiotis, called "the vine disease in Omodhos," and (b) the serious damage caused by the caterpillar of a lepidopteron—the Oecophora of wheat (Tinea Temperatella)—to the cornfields of many villages, where it is known as the ⁽¹⁾ "Sirividhi" or "Sirivis."

3. I have already submitted a Report on the former disease, which appeared in the Cyprus Gazette No. 864, page 5983, and in which I describe the nature of the disease, that is due to the development of a minute fungus; and by comparing figures, some taken from the work by the eminent P. Viala, and some carefully made by me from the natural, it is clearly shown that the fungus developing in the grapes of the above-mentioned vineyards is not, as was believed, the Guignardia Bidwellii which brings the Black Rot of grapes, but the Fungus "Phoma Flaccida" which being a saprophyte, is quite harmless.

4. This matter, however, was, again last year, given my consideration, because, the Black Rot appearing, as stated at the end of my Report, in the months of June and July, I could not, owing to my arrival in Cyprus a little time before vintage, express a decisive opinion as to whether the disease existed or not in the Island. But, as mentioned in subsequent reports, I duly visited the vineyards of Omodhos, etc., twice, and, on careful examination, ascertained that it was about the development of the Phoma Flaccida in those vineyards—which fungus is, as I have said, harmless; for it lives saprophytically, developing in grapes that are rotten owing to their having been attacked by other diseases and especially by the Oidium and Cochylis or Tortrix Botrana. The means indicated for the combating of those diseases could also prevent the development of the fungus in question.

5. With regard to the "Sirividhi," as the combating of the insects that attack profitable plants becomes difficult, if not feasible, without knowledge of their life-history, and as hitherto nothing was known about the life and habits of the Tinea Temperatella, I undertook, some months ago, as I informed the Government, the carrying out of experiments, and now I am in the pleasant position to submit, together with this Report, an exhaustive treatise dealing with the insect which brings the disease to cornfields, as well as with the means of combating the pest. Experiments on the œcophora of wheat are still being carried on in Pissouri, and I will, in due course, submit a supplementary Report on the efficacy of all the means suggested for combating the insect, some of which have already been confirmed by experience.

6. In my tours throughout the Island during the year ended, I delivered many lectures, in the vine-growing places, on viticulture, in general, which is, as stated in my previous Report, very defective; because to prune the vine immethodically, to scrape the soil of vineyards with the native primitive plough as in the days of Hesiod, and to leave the rest to the kind providence of Heaven—all this cannot, of course, be called a careful cultivation. Digging the ground deeply with the spade in winter and trenching the stems around—by which means are effected the airing of the soil and the strengthening of plants—and then hoeing, removing the superfluous vine-branches during the growth, leaf-collecting and shoot-cutting—which all contribute to the increase in production and improvement of the produce—all these cultural treatments of the vine are unknown here.

7. The sulphuration of the vine is also carried on defectively and in very few villages only. The measure, however, to which the Government has resolved to proceed for the purpose of spreading the use of sulphur, will greatly conduce to the larger yield of this shrub, the produce of which is, as is known, decimated unreasonably by the Oidium of Tuckeri.

8. But also winemaking is carried on in the Island under bad conditions. I, therefore, repeated in my lectures this year the necessary instructions as to that industry in many places. It is to be noticed, here, with special satisfaction, that, in some of these places my advices with regard to keeping wine receptacles very clean, and the necessary temperature during the fermentation of wines, were followed by some proprietors of vineyards last year, who also avoided mixing much gypsum with their wines. Owing to the good result obtained therefrom, many others will, I feel confident, imitate those few vinedressers.

9. In places where cereals are grown I lectured about the advantages of the European plough, and the necessity of its being substituted for the native plough. In support of what I spoke, I took an iron plough round with me, and had a piece of land tilled with it in the presence of farmers in each of the following places: Vatili, Prastio, Ay. Theodoros, Trikomo, Lefkoniko, as well as Pissouri, in the District of Limassol, showing practically its superiority over the native plough, the former preparing the soil more perfectly than the latter.

10. The introduction of the European plough is incumbent on most places in the Island also for the purpose of destroying, by tilling more deeply, the weeds that grow plentifully in the fields, as well as the worms of the Tinea Temperatella in many places in the Island, the existence of which is due, to a great extent, to the imperfect work of the native plough.

11. In some villages I had pieces of land ploughed with a three-furrow plough and harrow, which are most necessary implements for owners of large farms, as they contribute to the acceleration of cultivation and sowing, and, therefore, render production less expensive.

12. In many corn-producing districts I spoke also about the necessity of selecting seed corn, and freeing it from the seeds of noxious wild plants and weeds, and taught them how they should protect the seed from the attack of insects and from its being plundered when sown.

13. The selection of seed corn is unknown here. I have, however, noticed that some farmers of plain villages with a view to improving their cereals, are in the habit of procuring sometimes the seed they need for sowing from mountainous places, as they find such seed more productive. Nothing is more erroneous than that; because it has been made known by experience that the seed of a certain variety of corn which is cultivated in a country, improves, yielding a produce superior in quantity and quality, as long as the selection of seed is carefully exercised, whereas the seed imported from abroad and especially from a different climate does not always succeed. It rather degenerates gradually, and sometimes even from the first year. This influence of the environment is to be noticed not only in the case of seeds, conveyed from one country to another, but also when transported from one place to another in the same country. Sometimes this influence is beneficial, and the seed imported from a foreign country keeps its characters and advantages also in its new native country, as is, for instance, the six-rowed barley (H. Hexastichum), which was imported from Asia Minor into the Papho District, and has prospered excellently. Also the variety of diminites wheat (two mouths' wheat), which was imported from Greece last year and sown at Athalassa and Experimental Garden, has been a wonderful success. We can likewise say as much about many other forage plants referred to in their respective places. At other times, the influence of the climate and ground is injurious as is, for instance, the case with the six-rowed barley which, when sown in

(1) "Σηριβίδια" are called in Cyprus the grubs of Microlepidoptera which attack the apple-tree, corn crops, the vine, etc. According to Mr. Gennadius this word is derived from the root "σήρ" (silk-worm) from which is derived the word "σηροτροφία" (sericulture).

- Messaoria, will, in course of time, commence to degenerate. Also some varieties of wheat imported from Italy and France, and tried at Athalassa last year, did not succeed.

14. If the cultivators of plain villages, when procuring seed corn from the most mountainous places in the Island, notice some improvement in the produce of their lands or more abundant yields, this should be attributed, as also my predecessor Mr. Gennadius observed, to the cleanliness and soundness of the imported seeds. In mountainous places where lands are limited and clean by nature, the cultivation of corn is carried on with greater care, and consequently the produce is cleaner and more lusty.

15. These seeds of cereals, if conveyed to plain fields, will, in the course of time, become poor and gradually less productive, as they are treated in lands tilled more imperfectly and abounding with wild plants and weeds which interfere with the regular development of cereals, gradually spoil them, and consequently depreciate their market prices.

16. Also in Europe the farmers used to resort to that method for obtaining better seed. But as agriculture is carried on there under the ample light of progress, they, long ago, perceived the necessity of selecting the seed as more conducive to richer yields being obtained. My schoolmate Schribaux, now Professor in the Agricultural Institute in Paris, says that the keeping and improvement of native varieties of seeds, through the method of selection, is more certain and preferable.

17. I do not mean by the above to exclude the importation of new varieties of corn; on the contrary, I only want to advise those agriculturists who eagerly adopt such innovations, to undertake, first, the trial, in a small scale, of imported varieties so as to ascertain whether they prosper in their new home. Repeated experiments, on a small scale, of many varieties will, doubtless, always have a good result, whereas the trial of one or two varieties only, on a large scale, would, in case of failure, bring both loss and, what is worse, disappointment in the mind of the farmer.

18. It is therefore, most necessary for farmers to duly and invariably select their seeds from the native varieties of wheat and barley. There are many good varieties of wheat in the Island, viz.: the Kyperounda wheat which prospers in rich fertile lands, the Kampouris, the Mavrotheri, the Psathas, etc., most of which give delicious bread. Also in olden times the bread of Cyprus was greatly esteemed for its savour, which, like a magnet, attracted numerous consumers according to the following hexameter verse of two lines, which is rather Ptochoprodromic:

“Δεινὸν μὲν ἰδόντα παριππεῦσαι Κυπρίους ἄρτους
“Μαγνήτης γὰρ λίθος ὥς ἔλκει τοὺς πεινῶντας.”

19. In many places in Thessaly, farmers have, by the method of selecting seeds, obtained very good varieties of wheat such as the Devé, Mavrangani and Arnaout, which they keep unmixed, as they are much esteemed in breadmaking. These varieties we are experimentally growing this year at Athalassa.

20. By exercising the selection system on seeds, and by using a more perfect plough, the farmer could produce a richer harvest and get more profit from the high prices he will obtain from the sale of such produce. Besides, he will eat bread of better quality.

21. I have also lectured about the necessity of obtaining selected cotton seed, as well as about the cultivation of cotton on parched lands, the yield of which is not remunerative. It is true that I noticed that there was in some places such a tendency towards selecting seeds, but the selection system applied is very imperfect. The non-remunerative return of dry cotton is also due to its being sown late, in the beginning or about the middle of May, when the cotton plant does not find in the soil the moisture required for its good development; nor is it allowed the necessary time to ripen all its capsules. Therefore, the capsules growing from the middle of the stem to the top of the plant, not absorbing the necessary warmth for their perfect maturation, remain white or become snotty. Besides the injury that comes from the retention in the development of the plant, owing to its late sowing, another injury equally serious is occasioned to it, because the contents of the capsules that would open during the rainy season will be spoiled by the rain.

22. The practice of sowing the cotton seed late arose from the fact that the locust formerly used to cause great injury to the young cotton plants, but this cause having now disappeared, the sowing of cotton seed should be done earlier in the month of April. Thus, in addition to avoiding the damage which comes from late sowing, a larger yield could be obtained.

23. I have strongly invited the farmers' attention to the early sowing of cotton seed, and to the benefits that arise therefrom. Besides, they have before them, as a daily example, the growth and production of the native perennial cotton.

24. Cotton, like the vine and profitable plants in general, is not treated and well taken care of here. I have recommended to cotton growers to often hoe their cotton plantations, especially those which are not irrigable, as such hoeings are very necessary for the success of the latter, as they prevent the evaporation of the water enclosed in the plant-bearing soil, and clear the field from different weeds, thus rendering the land more suitable for subsequent cultivations. I have also demonstrated a method of sowing which greatly conduces to the early cultivation and development of cotton.

25. The object of this Report does not allow of my entering into details concerning the cultivation of the cotton plant, which, if carefully treated and favoured by commercial conditions, could prove to be one of the most important factors of the prosperity of the people of the Island. We omit mentioning the yield of the irrigated cotton which, under the present cultivating conditions, leaves a considerable profit; whereas the “dry” cotton will often prove prejudicial to the cultivator.

26. The question of promoting the cotton cultivation has been, for some years, taken by the Government into earnest consideration; it had also attracted the attention of Dr. Dunstan, Director of the Imperial Institute, who visited the Island at the request of the Colonial Office with the view of carefully studying the cotton cultivation in the Island.

27. This Department has this year arranged to carry out, in different places of the Island, experiments with good varieties of cotton seed for the purpose of demonstrating the cultivation of both the “dry” and “irrigated” cottons, so that we may be able to find out the suitable varieties of cotton seed for the different cotton-growing Districts in the Island. These experiments will be repeated next year.

28. In Cyprus cereals form the base of the working of land. But their treatment, on a large scale, under so warm and dry a climate, as well as under the present conditions of the agricultural production, is nothing less than a financial error.

29. In warm climates the development of annual plants meets with many obstacles where there are no irrigating waters, and the success of products depends on the generosity of Heaven; and it is often in vain that the soil is tilled with the best implements, the bosom of the earth is revived with the most suitable manures, and intrusted with the choicest seeds. The lack of sufficient moisture in the plant growing layer of earth for the seed to grow, or the destruction of the equilibrium between that moisture and the heat of the surrounding air, does not afford the necessary supply of water for the phenomenon of the evaporation from the leaves, and therefore the circulation of sap in the plant becomes scanty, and the harvest problematic.

30. Such failures of annually cultivated plants are not rare in the region of the olive-tree, and the people of the vast plains in that region are condemned to depend with agony on the uncertain fate of cereal crops; whilst that is not the case in arboriculture, i.e., the treatment of woody plants, the roots of which penetrate deep into the ground and seek for moisture in the lower layers of it, thus avoiding the influence of the climate.

31. Besides, the cultivation of cereals in Cyprus, where drought prevails for nearly eight months, and the plant bearing layer of the earth is baked by the sun, will often fail, and, even if the aqueous precipitations during the winter should be sufficient, again the harvest of such plants would be uncertain, as it depends on the spring showers. Very few are the corn-producing lands in the Island, on which that injurious influence of the sun could be turned into benefit by means of irrigation.

32. But, although the climate of the Island does not often favour the success of annual plants in the low plains, yet the constitution and formation of its soil are best adapted to the treatment of arboriculture. Cyprus, owing to both its mineral composition and orography, contains various and very fertile lands; there prevailing at the same time in it the temperature of most agricultural regions which favour the development of different fruit-trees from the banana tree to the apple and cherry trees. We give the following explanations.

33. The cultivation of the different plants for the subsistence of man and his live stock is distributed on the surface of earth in accordance with certain laws, some of which are coherent with the climate and ground, and some are the produce of social activity, of the inhabitants, of their development and, finally, of the means of communication; the former are natural and unalterable, and exercise an immediate influence on the agriculture of a country; whereas the latter are economic, affecting the choice and extension of each cultivation, and changeable in the course of time. Both of them delineate for the cultivation of plants natural and economic limits, beyond which the taking advantage of them becomes impossible or even prejudicial. The physical limits, partly following the geographical latitudes, describe what are called the agricultural regions, and in Europe we can distinguish five such regions, going northward to the pole: the region of the olive-tree, that of the vine, that of cereals, that of forage plants, and that of forests.

34. The cultivation of fruit-trees will not prosper equally in all the above mentioned regions. Fruit-trees, while developing and bearing fruit wonderfully in the region of the olive and fig trees, gradually lose their place in the treatment of the land, the nearer we go to the pole. In the region of the vine and in the lower degree of the region of cereals, they only serve as a secondary produce of some dry localities, which are as rare in these regions as cool lands are in warm climates. Further north fruit-trees leave the fields in order to shut themselves up in orchards where they find again thousands of precautions required for their maintenance or the alteration of the climate with artificial heat. This gradual diminution in number of trees from the southern climates to the northern ones is manifested not only by the steadily increasing success of herbaceous and annual plants, but also from the gradual loss in the quality of the fruits of trees. The people, for instance, who live in subtropical countries, get a palatable food from the bread-fruit-tree, ananas, bananas, etc.—these are so abundant and delicious there—and on the north of that region, and as far as to where water is frozen, during the winter, there occur citrus trees, the carob-tree, and a little further north the olive-tree and the fig-tree are to be met with. The vine, the almond-tree, and then the chestnut tree mark some degrees further north. After that, no other fruit-trees are found except the apple-tree, the pear-tree and at last the cherry tree, all of which, however, gradually lose their power of ripening the fruits which at length become unfit to eat owing to their smallness and acidity.

35. From the above we can safely gather that, owing to this wonderful harmony of creating nature, arboriculture, the privilege of warm and temperate climates, becomes, by degrees, less productive, whereas the success of annual plants is more certain there, and therefore the system of cultivation should be altered so as to agree with the relations indicated by nature. We cannot, with impunity, overlook that law, but, if we could, by means of expenses and continual efforts, succeed in establishing or successively raising annual plants in southern climates or in dry lands, such successful harvests should be attributed to meteorologic caprices, and would be as rare as caprices themselves are. Their steady success could be effected through the change of climate with irrigation. In tilling the ground we must take into consideration the aforesaid distinctions, and not rely on methods half-conquering the climate. We must either subdue the climate or place ourselves under its laws.

36. The different degrees of temperature, which mark out the limits of the different agricultural regions can be met with, to some extent, also in this Island. Commencing from the coast, we can distinguish (1) the region of plains, the largest of which is the one which unfolds itself between the two chains of mountains and terminates at Morphou and Famagusta seas; (2) the region about the skirts of the hills; (3) the hilly region; and (4) the mountainous region.

37. Such is roughly the distinction made by the natives with the words "Κάμποι" (plains), "Μεσορείνια" (half-hilly places), "Όρεινή" (highlands), and "Όρος" (mountain).

38. The region of plains is chiefly used for the cultivation of cereals and cotton, and in many places where running waters exist, or pumps and wheelwells have been set up, have sprung up gardens in which fruit-trees also are cultivated. In the second region, the "half-hilly places," grow cereals, the olive-tree⁽¹⁾ and the carob-tree. The latter is also to be met with, to some extent, in the third region—the region of highlands—where the vine, the apple-tree and cherry tree are cultivated. The fourth region in Cyprus is limited on the summits of the high mountains, and either is barren or harbours forests of pines.

39. From the above we see that the cultivation of fruit-trees finds a place rather in the two middle regions, while it is rare, which ought not to be the case, in the first region, in which unfolds itself between the two chains of mountains the vast and most fertile tract of land, that consists of the plains of Morphou, Nicosia and Messaoria, and for which Cyprus was once called "blessed." This land is almost exclusively devoted to the raising of cereals, whereas it would prove to be a "gold-flowing Pactolus," if it were also used for growing more and various fruit-trees to which the climate of Cyprus is so favourable. However, the cultivation of fruit-trees is not rare even in the plains where one may see, as I have said, in many a place, orchards in which chiefly grow citrus trees. And although these trees are not well taken care of, as they are left to themselves, yet they sufficiently remunerate their owners.

40. From the existence and maintenance of such orchards, and many fruit-tree growing lands to be met with in many places in the middle of the plains, which, though left to themselves, continue to exist and despise the inroad of various enemies, and resist the attack of winds and the merciless heat of the burning rays of the sun, we satisfy ourselves of the possibility of extending also in the region of cereals arboriculture, the productions of which remunerate, as is known, the owners of orchards much more—sometimes even five times as much—than cereals do. In proof of my statement, I can quote here the villages of Trikomo and Ormidia and other places in the Island, where arboriculture is carried on on somewhat more systematic lines.

41. Besides the larger profit that is obtained from the cultivation of fruit-trees, the production of corn is, from a financial point of view, unprofitable both on account of the great depreciation it suffers from the production of corn elsewhere under better conditions and through more perfect methods, thus reducing to a great extent the cost of cultivation, and because of the ample means of communication that exist now, which have done away with any impediments in the conveyance of cereals from the remotest parts of the world, where they are raised at little expense.

42. Another advantage arising from arboriculture is the side by side increase of the population of a country in which it is exercised; whereas the destruction of woody plants brings about the reduction of the inhabitants.

43. What plants chiefly require is moisture. When a country, which first is regularly irrigated by rain, becomes later dry, owing to certain reasons, it will some day become barren, and be abandoned by its people. Many such examples of thus desolated countries which had formerly flourished, occur in the history of mankind. In Asia, the countries Palestine and Mesopotamia were once thickly populated, whereas now they feed very thin populations. These countries were formerly much moister; even now rains do not lack in Judaea; but the rain-water, owing to the country being treeless, flows down quickly into the sea. Sicily, which of old flourished for having abundant supplies of water, owes its present deplorable condition to the dryness of its climate owing to the destruction of its woody plants. Lartorius de Walterhausen who made the best observations on Etna says that "in the first place, the general destruction of the forests took place, during the last centuries, in a helpless manner which brought about the draining of mountains, and therefore irrigation which is absolutely needed for a climate, almost tropical, as is the climate of Sicily, has become impossible." Mr. Paul Bourda, Director of Agriculture in Tunis, in his very interesting Report on the olive-tree—Tunis 1899—mentions the following about the state of Tunis: "The cause of the contrast between the extreme prosperity and extreme wretchedness, which the history of the centre of Tunis presents, is beyond doubt."

To explain this, we need not suppose any change in the climate and soil, as local investigations contradict such a supposition. The country is gifted with one and sole kind of cultivation—the olive tree. Previous to the Roman Occupation, the cultivation of Athene's tree was unknown there. The Romans introduced the cultivation of the olive-tree there before the close of the first century, and the country became rich. The Arabs destroyed the tree during the XIth century, and the country was again depopulated. It was in the introduction of the cultivation of the olive-tree that the secret of the colonization of Rome lay. Also the Greeks wherever they established colonies took along with them their most beloved olive-tree.

44. Cabylia, previous to its being conquered by France counted 14 inhabitants per square kilometre. Now, after the introduction of the cultivation of the olive-tree and fig-tree, the density of its population has become equal to that of the population of France.

45. The Island of Corfu, although 13 times smaller than Cyprus, and not withstanding its very rough surface, supports 95,000 inhabitants, and its dense population is chiefly due to the propagation of the olive-tree in it. In the history of its olive groves, we see that the advancing extension of olive plantations was followed by a proportional increase of the population.

46. Also in Cyprus now the existence of many villages is dependent on the cultivation of fruit trees, although not systematically carried on. If the inhabitants of these places are not distinguished from those of other Districts in the Island, this should be attributed rather to the fact that they do not afford the necessary treatment and care to the fruit-trees, which are generally abandoned to themselves, and plagued by various diseases and pests.

47. From the foregoing it is gathered that to increase the population of the Island, it is necessary to propagate fruit-trees, and to promote and establish the prosperity of the people, trees again are needed.

48. The cultivation of fruit-trees must have been in olden times greatly developed in the Island, as we can satisfy ourselves from their remains which are to be met with in many places in the Island, and from the sayings and old expressions concerning its paradisiacal felicity. Even now, the cultivation of fruit-trees could, more than ever, prove to be of great material and moral advantage to the country. If the inhabitants do not devote themselves, with the necessary zeal, to the treatment of trees, this is due, in the first place to the want of the necessary means for the husbandman to await, for six and even more years, the yielding of his trees, and, in the second place, to pasturage which is exercised in an immethodical system, from which arboriculture is greatly injured. Therefore, I am of opinion that, in order to encourage fruiting which is so profitable to the country both on account of climate and soil reasons, and on account of the geographical position of the Island which lies near to large centres of consumption, the farmers should be compelled by law and induced with pecuniary remuneration to plant each a number of fruit-trees yearly, and that care should be taken to impose a greater check on the damage caused by flocks to trees.

49. In view of the greatest benefit that could accrue to the advantage of the financial stability of the farming people, I have, since my arrival in the Island, devoted myself to the development rather of those trees, the profitableness of which is daily perceived as shown from the undermentioned comparative table of the receipts of the Nursery Gardens here.

50. In addition to the existing four Nursery Gardens, I recommended also the establishment of two more Nursery Gardens, one at Ktima, Papho, and the other at Morphou. The former commenced working since the early part of last year, the latter will, I hope, begin to work this year. But it is also necessary to establish one more Nursery Garden at Famagusta. Besides, the operations of the Pedula and Trikomo Nursery Gardens must be extended in the direction of raising fruit-trees suitable for the climate and soil of the villages in which each is situate. Such Nursery Gardens should be also established at Agros, Karavas and Contea.

51. Besides the fruit-trees cultivated, on a larger scale, in the Nursery Gardens here, I have also cultivated, experimentally, the following forage plants : (1) Reana Luxurians ; (2) Maize Conquistatori ; (3) Sula (Hedysarum Coronarium) ; (4) Gallega Officinalis ; (5) Medicago Arborea ; and (6) Moha California—the first two as irrigated ; Sula, Gallega and Medicago Arborea as irrigated and non-irrigated, and Moha as a dry plant. All of them grew and ripened regularly under the climate of Nicosia. As regards yielding, Reana Luxurians and Maize—of the irrigated plants—were the first.

52. Reana Luxurians was also experimentally cultivated by Mr. P. Christian in his property ; the seed was procured from the Agricultural Department. The results obtained by him were excellent. The above forage plants were cultivated, on a larger scale, at the Athalassa Farm, where, from 6½ okes of Moha seed which was sown broadcast on about 3 scalas of land, 400 okes of seed were obtained. Reana Luxurians yielded about 13,000 okes of green forage per scala. Sula and Gallega which were cultivated as “dry plants” failed.

53. With a view to introducing and propagating in the Island new varieties of garden plants, especially culinary vegetables, I have procured from England and Italy seeds of such plants, which were cultivated in the different Nursery Gardens of the Island. Seedlings and seeds of such plants were distributed gratis, on the approval of the Government, among land-owners here, and the results of such propagation were not long in showing themselves. In the Show of Agricultural Productions held at Limassol annually were exhibited many varieties of noble vegetables obtained from the distribution of such seeds.

54. I consider the raising of choice culinary herbs as of equal importance and equally profitable with the cultivation of fruit-trees ; because many a land in the Island could be worked profitably by raising vegetables which would form an important article of export trade. There are in the Island suitable lands for early vegetables, which might be consumed at Smyrna and in Egypt.

SERICULTURE.

Sericulture is one more factor of the prosperity of the inhabitants of many villages. The rearing of silk-worms, easy by itself, is accessible to all, as it does not require large capital. During the few past years, a tendency has been observed towards extending this industry by planting mulberry trees. However, more than half the quantity of silk-worm eggs used in the Island is imported from abroad as shown from the following Table.

Years.	Quantity of silk-worm eggs imported (in ounces.)			Quantity of silk-worm eggs raised in the country.			Total.
	Imported.	Exported.	Hatched.	Raised.	Exported.	Hatched.
1899	4,390	—	4,390	6,723	800	5,923	10,313
1900	11,198	384	10,350	5,524	185	5,339	16,189
1901	9,706	1,575	8,131	4,412	160	4,252	12,383
1902	10,118	—	10,118	3,876	—	3,876	13,994
1903	8,945	667	8,278	5,619	—	5,619	13,897
1904	6,887	1,345	5,542	5,899½	200	5,699½	11,241½

1906	7,621	200	7,621	4,975	—	4,975	12,596

Should the local production of silk-worm eggs continue to be exercised on the same lines as hitherto, it will certainly never be possible to raise sufficient quantity of silk-worm eggs for the sericultural industry of the Island.

I have already expressed my opinion on this subject in my Report of the 5th August, 1906.

ORIGANUM OIL.

The production of origanum oil during the year 1906-07 has exceeded that of the preceding years, and the price obtained 3s. 1d. per lb. is very satisfactory.

The following table shows the quantities of origanum oil produced during the last five years, as well as the prices fetched.

BELGIUM EXTRADITION ORDER IN COUNCIL, 1907.

THE following Order of His Majesty The King in Council is published for general information :—
(C.S. 2669/07.)

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,
the 6th day of July, 1907.

PRESENT,

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

LORD PRESIDENT.
LORD CHAMBERLAIN.
LORD SHUTTLEWORTH.
MR. McKENNA.

SIR W. BRAMPTON GURDON.
MR. EUGENE WASON.
MR. R. SPENCE WATSON.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient :

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twenty-ninth day of October, one thousand nine hundred and one, between Us and His Majesty the King of the Belgians, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, in the case of which Treaty the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1895, were applied by Order in Council of the sixth March, one thousand nine hundred and two.

And whereas a Supplementary Convention was concluded on the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and seven, between Us and His Majesty the King of the Belgians, for the purpose of completing Article XIV of the said Treaty of the twenty-ninth October, one thousand nine hundred and one, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Supplementary Convention is in the terms following :—

The Government of His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and the Government of His Majesty the King of the Belgians, having deemed it necessary to complete Article XIV of the Treaty of Extradition between Great Britain and Belgium of the 29th October, 1901, relative to the application of the stipulations of the Treaty to the extra-European Colonies and Foreign Possessions of the two States, the Undersigned, duly authorized to that effect by their respective Governments, have agreed as follows :—

ARTICLE I.

In the relations of each of the High Contracting Parties with the extra-European Colonies and Foreign Possessions of the other, the periods fixed by Articles IV, paragraph 1, and V of the Treaty of the 29th October, 1901, shall be extended as follows :—

1. A fugitive criminal arrested under the terms of Article IV shall be discharged in the dominions of His Britannic Majesty if, within the period of two months from the date of his arrest, a request for his extradition shall not have been made by the Government of the requisitioning State.

The fugitive criminal may be discharged in the dominions of His Majesty the King of the Belgians if within the same period a request for his extradition has not been made by the Government of the requisitioning State; he shall be released if within seven days following the expiration of this period the warrant issued by the competent authority shall not have been communicated to the fugitive criminal.

2. The person arrested shall be set at liberty if, within the three months, counting from the date of arrest, sufficient evidence in support of the demand for extradition shall not have been produced.

ARTICLE II.

The present Convention shall be ratified and the ratifications shall be exchanged at London as soon as possible. It shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the laws of the High Contracting Parties, and it shall have the same force and duration as the Treaty of Extradition to which it relates.

In witness whereof the Undersigned have signed the present Convention, and have affixed their seals thereto.

(L.S.) E. GREY.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Supplementary Convention were exchanged at London on the seventeenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and seven.

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to him by the said Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the nineteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seven, the said Acts shall apply in the case of Belgium, under and in accordance with the said Treaty as supplemented by the said Convention above set forth :

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada, being Part I of chapter 155 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,
the 6th day of July, 1907.

PRESENT,

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

LORD PRESIDENT.

SIR W. BRAMPTON GURDON.

LORD CHAMBERLAIN.

MR. EUGENE WASON.

LORD SHUTTLEWORTH.

MR. R. SPENCE WATSON.

MR. MCKENNA.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient :

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, between Her late Majesty Queen Victoria and His Majesty the King of Sweden and Norway, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, in the case of which Treaty the Extradition Acts of 1870 and 1873 were applied by Order in Council of the thirtieth September, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three :

And whereas an Agreement was concluded on the eighteenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and seven, between the British and Norwegian Governments, providing that the said Treaty shall remain in force between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Kingdom of Norway, in so far as its provisions apply to the Kingdom of Norway alone; and also declaring that certain additions shall be made to the offences set out in Article II of the said Treaty, which Agreement is in the terms following :—

The British and Norwegian Governments, who agree that the Treaty signed at Stockholm on the 26th June, 1873, between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Kingdoms of Sweden and Norway for the mutual surrender of fugitive criminals shall remain in force between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Kingdom of Norway in so far as its provisions apply to the Kingdom of Norway alone, and who deem it desirable to make certain additions to the said Treaty, have authorized the Undersigned to declare that the following additions should be made to the offences set out in Article II of the said Treaty for which, under the circumstances and conditions stated in the said Treaty, extradition is to be granted :

19. Perjury and subornation of perjury.

20. Receiving any money, valuable security, or other property, knowing the same to have been stolen or embezzled.

21. Malicious wounding or inflicting grievous bodily harm.

22. Unlawful carnal knowledge, or any attempt to have unlawful carnal knowledge, of a girl under the age of sixteen years.

Any offence which, by the laws of both countries, is for the time being an extradition offence.

In witness whereof the Undersigned have signed the present Agreement and have affixed thereto the seals of their arms.

(L.S.) J. LOVLAND.

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to him by the said Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the nineteenth day of July, 1907, the said Acts shall apply in the case of Norway under and in accordance with the said Treaty as supplemented by the said Agreement above set forth :

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada, being Part I of chapter 155 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

CYPRUS.

ORDER IN COUNCIL PROVIDING FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE ISLAND OF CYPRUS.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

The 6th day of July, 1907.

P R E S E N T :

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

LORD SHUTTLEWORTH
MR. McKENNA.

SIR W. BRAMPTON GURDON
MR. EUGENE WASON
MR. R. SPENCE WATSON.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision for the exercise of the power and jurisdiction vested by Treaty in his Majesty the King in and over the Island of Cyprus :

Dated 6th July 1907.

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by virtue of the powers in this behalf by the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890, or otherwise in His Majesty vested, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows :—

I. There shall be a High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief (herein-after called "the High Commissioner") in and over the said Island of Cyprus (herein-after called "the Island"), and the person who shall fill the said office of High Commissioner shall be from time to time appointed by Commission under His Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet.

Appointment of a High Commissioner.

II. The High Commissioner shall administer the Government of the Island in the name and on behalf of His Majesty, and shall do and execute in due manner all things that shall belong to the said office, according to the tenour of any Orders of His Majesty in Council relating to the Island, and of such Commission as may be issued to him under his Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet, and according to such Instructions as may from time to time be given to him, under his Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet, or by Order of His Majesty in Council, or by His Majesty through one of His Principal Secretaries of State, and to such laws as are now or shall hereafter be in force in the Island.

Powers of the High Commissioner.

Public Seal.

III. The High Commissioner shall keep and use the Public Seal of the Island for the sealing of all things whatsoever that shall pass the said Public Seal.

Succession to the Government.

IV. In the event of the death, incapacity, removal, or absence from the Island of the High Commissioner for the time being, all and every the powers and authorities herein granted to him shall, until His Majesty's further pleasure is signified therein, be vested in such person as may be appointed by an instrument under his Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet to administer the Government of the Island ; or if there be not in the Island any person so appointed, then in the person for the time being lawfully discharging the functions of Chief Secretary to the Government of the Island. Provided that no such powers or authorities shall vest in any such person until he shall have taken the Oath or Oaths directed to be taken by the High Commissioner by any Instructions under His Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet in the manner therein prescribed.

Grants of lands.

V. The High Commissioner may make and execute in His Majesty's name and on His behalf, under the Public Seal of the Island, grants and dispositions of any lands which may be lawfully granted or disposed of by His Majesty within the Island.

Appointment of Judges and other officers.

VI. The High Commissioner may constitute and appoint all such Judges, Justices of the Peace, and other necessary officers in the Island as may lawfully be appointed by His Majesty, all of whom shall hold their offices during His Majesty's pleasure.

Grant of pardons.

VII. The High Commissioner may, as he shall see occasion, in His Majesty's name and on His behalf, grant to any offender convicted of any crime in any Court, or before any Judge, Justice, or Magistrate within the Island, a free and unconditional pardon, or a pardon subject to such conditions as may at any time be lawfully thereunto annexed, or any respite of the execution of the sentence of any such offender for such period as to him may seem fit.

Remission of fines.

VIII. The High Commissioner may, as he shall see occasion, in His Majesty's name and on His behalf, remit any fines, penalties, or forfeitures which may accrue or become payable to Him provided the same do not exceed the sum of fifty pounds sterling in any one case, and may suspend the payment of any such fine, penalty, or forfeiture exceeding the said sum of fifty pounds, until His Majesty's pleasure thereon shall be made known and signified to him.

Suspension of officers.

IX. The High Commissioner may, upon sufficient cause to him appearing, suspend from the exercise of his office any person holding any office within the Island. Every such suspension shall continue and have effect only until His Majesty's pleasure therein shall be signified to the High Commissioner. In proceeding to any such suspension, the High Commissioner is strictly to observe the directions in that behalf given to him by any Instructions under His Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet that may from time to time be addressed to him.

Executive Council.

X. There shall be in the Island, for the purpose of advising the High Commissioner, an Executive Council, which shall be composed of such persons and constituted in such manner as may be directed by any Instructions which may from time to time be addressed to the High Commissioner by His Majesty, under His Sign Manual and Signet, and all such persons shall hold their places in the said Council during His Majesty's pleasure : and the said Executive Council shall observe such rules in the conduct of business as may from time to time be contained in any such Instructions as aforesaid.

XI. There shall be in the Island a Legislative Council constituted as herein-after mentioned.

Legislative Council.

XII. It shall be lawful for the High Commissioner, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council, to make all such laws as may from time to time be necessary for the peace, order, and good government of the Island, with this qualification, that it shall not be lawful for the High Commissioner and the Legislative Council to make any law altering the constitution of the Legislative Council. Full authority is nevertheless hereby reserved to His Majesty, His heirs and successors, through one of His or their Principal Secretaries of State, to confirm or disallow any such laws in the whole or in part, and to make and establish from time to time, with the advice of His or their Privy Council, all such laws as to Him or them may appear necessary for the peace, order, and good government of the Island, as fully as if this Order had not been made.

Power of Legislation.

Powers reserved to His Majesty.

Any law, or any part thereof, which shall be disallowed by His Majesty, His heirs and successors, shall cease to be of any force or effect so soon as the disallowance thereof shall be notified by Proclamation by the High Commissioner.

XIII. Whenever any law is presented to the High Commissioner for his assent, he may declare that he assents to such law, or that he refuses his assent thereto, or that he reserves the same for the signification of His Majesty's pleasure.

Assent to and reservation of Laws.

No law—other than a law reserved for the signification of His Majesty's pleasure—made by the High Commissioner, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council, shall take effect until the High Commissioner shall have assented thereto in the name of His Majesty, and on His behalf, and shall have signed the same in token of such assent.

No law so reserved shall take effect until His Majesty's pleasure that it shall take effect shall have been published in the Island.

XIV. The High Commissioner shall not assent to any law whereby any of the taxes, imposts, or duties at present levied shall be altered or discontinued unless His Majesty's approval of such alteration or discontinuance shall have previously been signified.

High Commissioner not to assent to law altering present taxation without previous signification of His Majesty's pleasure.

XV. The Legislative Council shall consist of the High Commissioner and eighteen Members, of whom twelve shall be elective and six non-elective.

Constitution of Legislative Council.

The Council shall not be disqualified from the transaction of business by reason of any vacancies among the elective or non-elective Members thereof.

XVI. The non-elective Members of the Legislative Council shall be the persons for the time being discharging the duties of such public offices in Cyprus as shall from time to time be designated by any Instruction under His Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet (who shall be styled "ex-officio" Members), and such other persons holding for the time being public offices in Cyprus as may from time to time be appointed by His Majesty by any Instruction or Warrant under His Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet or through one of His Principal Secretaries of State.

The non-elective Members other than ex-officio Members shall hold their seats until the next dissolution of the Legislative Council after their appointment or until they shall previously cease to hold any public office in Cyprus, or be removed by virtue of Instructions or Warrants under His Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet or suspended by the High Commissioner.

The High Commissioner may by an Instrument under the Public Seal of the Island suspend any non-elective Member other than an ex-officio Member from the exercise of his functions as a member. Every such suspension shall forthwith be reported by the High Commissioner to one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and shall remain in force unless and until it is either removed by the High Commissioner by an Instrument under the Public Seal of the Island or disallowed by His Majesty through one of His Principal Secretaries of State.

Provisional appointments on vacancies among non-elective Members.

XVII. If any non-elective Member of the Legislative Council shall by writing under his hand resign his seat in the Council or shall die, or from any cause cease to be or become incapable of acting as a Member of the Council, or be suspended from the exercise of his functions as a Member, or be temporarily absent from the Island, or shall either permanently or temporarily become an ex-officio Member, the High Commissioner may, by an Instrument under the Public Seal of the Island, appoint any fit person to be provisionally a Member of the Council in the place of such Member. Every such provisional appointment may be disallowed by His Majesty through one of His Principal Secretaries of State, or may be revoked by the High Commissioner by any such Instrument as aforesaid.

A Member provisionally appointed shall forthwith cease to be a Member if his appointment is disallowed by His Majesty, or if the Member in whose place he was appointed shall return to the Island, or be declared by the High Commissioner capable of exercising his functions as a Member of the Council.

Precedence.

XVIII. The non-elective Members of the Legislative Council shall take precedence of the elective Members, and shall have seniority and rank among themselves in the order of precedence of their respective Public Offices, or, in case of any doubt, as His Majesty shall direct through one of His Principal Secretaries of State.

Elective Members.

XIX. Of the twelve elective Members of the Legislative Council three shall be elected by the Mahometan and nine by the non-Mahometan voters.

Electoral districts.

XX. The Island shall be divided into three electoral districts, each returning four Members, one elected by the Mahometan, and three by the non-Mahometan voters.

Until the High Commissioner shall otherwise order by proclamation, the said districts shall consist of the following Cazas, namely,— 1st District, Nikosia and Kyrenia.

2nd District, Famagusta and Larnaca.

3rd District, Limassol and Papho.

Every non-Mahometan voter may vote for as many candidates in each district as there are Members to be elected for whom he is entitled to vote; he may only give one vote for any candidate, but he need not vote for the full number to be elected.

XXI. Every male person, being either an Ottoman or a British subject, or having resided in the Island not less than five years, who has attained the age of twenty-one years, and who is a payer of any class of the taxes called Verghi, and has on or before the 13th day of January ("new style") in any year paid in respect of any electoral district all Verghi payable by him up to that date, shall be entitled to be registered in following year as a voter, and when so registered, to vote at the election of Members for such district:

Qualification of voters.

Provided that any such male person who, on or after the 14th day of January ("new style") in any year, and before the time appointed for making the lists of voters in that year, shall have paid all Verghi payable by him up to the 13th of January ("new style") shall be entitled to apply to the officer appointed to make the list for the Claimant's Nahieh to insert his name therein, and the said officer, on production of the receipt for such payment, shall insert the name of such person in the list.

XXII. Such Officer of the Government in every Nahieh as the High Commissioner shall by proclamation appoint shall, at such time in each year as may be fixed by the High Commissioner, make a true list of all persons, being payers of Verghi in respect of such Nahieh, who shall be at such time qualified to be registered as voters at the election of Members of the Legislative Council for the electoral district in which such Nahieh is situated.

List of voters to be made out.

The said Officer shall forthwith transmit such list to the President of the District Court of the Caza in which such Nahieh is situated; and the President of the District Court shall as soon as conveniently may be cause every list so transmitted to him to be published, together with a notice in English, Greek, and Turkish, that all objections thereto will be heard and determined by him at a time or times to be specified in such notice, being such time or times as shall be appointed for that purpose by the High Commissioner.

Publication of lists.

The President of the District Court, after hearing any objections which may be made, shall strike out of the lists all names which shall, in his opinion, have been improperly inserted therein, and shall insert all names which shall, in his opinion, have been improperly omitted therefrom, and shall take care that the name of the same person is not retained in more than one of the said lists. Provided that no objection to the insertion of the name of a voter shall be entertained unless the person objecting first deposits, in respect of such objection, the sum of five shillings with the Registrar of the District Court, as a guarantee of good faith, which shall be forfeited to His Majesty if the objection fails from any cause.

Lists to be revised by President of the District Court.

Every person whose name shall be in any list of voters so revised as aforesaid shall be deemed to be registered as a voter within the meaning of this Order, and the revised lists shall be conclusive evidence of the right of the persons therein named to vote at any election that may take place prior to the making of the lists of voters in the next succeeding year.

Revised lists to be deemed conclusive.

Qualification of Members.

XXIII. Every person who is for the time being registered as a voter in any electoral districts for the election of Members of the Legislative Council, and who is not subject to any of the disqualifications herein-after mentioned, shall be eligible as a Member of the Council for any electoral district.

Disqualifications.

The following persons shall be disqualified for being elected and for sitting or voting as Members of the Council ; that is to say,

Judges of any Court in the Island.

Public contractors.

Uncertificated bankrupts.

Persons convicted of any offence and sentenced to imprisonment for a term of not less than six months, until the expiration or remission of such sentence or of the unexpired residue thereof.

If any person who is not eligible under this Order as a Member of the Council shall be returned as a Member at any election, such election shall be void as regards such person, but not as regards any other person elected at the same time, and a new writ shall be issued in the same manner as if such person had been duly elected, and his seat had been vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise.

Penalties.

Every person who having been ineligible at the time of his election, or whilst subject to any of the disqualifications herein-before mentioned, shall sit or vote in the Council as an elective Member, shall, for every day on which he sits or votes, forfeit the sum of fifty pounds, to be recovered by action in any District Court by any person who shall sue for the same.

Definitions :—

“ Public contractor.”

For the purposes of this Order the term “ public contractor ” means and includes any person who is in any way whatsoever beneficially interested in any contract or agreement for or on account of the public service of the Island, otherwise than as a shareholder in an incorporated or joint stock company, or as a shareholder or partner in any company or partnership of the description specified in Article 10 of the Ottoman Commercial Code, where such incorporated or joint stock company, or other company or partnership, shall consist of more than twenty persons ; and the term “ uncertificated bankrupt ” includes any person who has made a declaration of inability to pay his debts, under Article 148 of the Ottoman Commercial Code, or who has been declared a bankrupt under the provisions of either Article 289 or Article 290 of the same Code, and who has not obtained the benefit of Article 305 of the same Code, and any person declared bankrupt under Article 292 of the same Code.

XXIV.. In case an election is disputed by an unsuccessful candidate on the ground that the majority of a successful candidate was made up by illegal or informal votes, or was obtained by bribery, treating, or intimidation, or that the successful candidate was not eligible as a Member of the Council, or on the ground that the provisions of any proclamation under Clause XXVI. of this Order, determining the manner in which the election is to be conducted, have not been observed or have been disobeyed in some particular whereby according to the directions of such proclamation the election is rendered subject to inquiry on petition, he may present a petition to the Supreme Court, praying an inquiry, and the matter shall be inquired into by a Judge of the Supreme Court, whose decision shall be final. Until the Legislative Council otherwise provide, the law in force in England for the time being relating to corrupt practices at elections, and disputed elections, shall, so far as practicable, be applied by the Judge to the adjudication of such cases. The Judges of the Supreme Court may make, alter, and repeal rules for the conduct of such election inquiries.

XXV. For the purpose of every general election of Members of the Council, and in the case of any vacancies among the elective Members by death, resignation, or otherwise, the High Commissioner shall issue writs of election, under the Public Seal of the Island, addressed to the Returning Officers of the respective electoral districts for which Members are to be returned.

Writs of election.

Such writs may be in the form in the Schedule to this Order.

XXVI. The High Commissioner may, from time to time, by proclamation, provide for the formation, revision, and custody of voters' lists, and for the appointment and duties of Returning Officers, and for determining the time and place for holding elections, and the manner in which elections shall be conducted and a poll taken when required, and the manner in which votes shall be given and the result ascertained, and for the return of the writs, and for all other matters necessary to the orderly and impartial conduct of elections.

High Commissioner to provide for conduct of elections.

Every such proclamation shall take effect from such date as shall be named therein, or, if no date be named therein, from the date thereof, and shall have the force of law, but shall be subject to disallowance in whole or in part by His Majesty, signified through one of His Principal Secretaries of State. The High Commissioner shall, by proclamation, give notice of any such disallowance, and thereupon the provisions so disallowed shall cease to be of any force or effect.

XXVII. Any elective Member may resign his seat in the Council by writing under his hand addressed to the High Commissioner, and upon the receipt of such resignation by the High Commissioner the seat of such Member shall become vacant.

Vacating of seats of elective Members by resignation, absence, &c.

If any elective Member fails to give his attendance in the Council for one whole session without the leave of the Council entered in its journals, or if he is appointed a Judge of any Court in the Island, or becomes a public contractor or an uncertificated bankrupt, or is convicted of any offence and sentenced to any term of imprisonment amounting to six months or more, the seat of such Member shall thereby become vacant.

XXVIII. There shall be a session of the Council once at least in each year, so that a period of twelve calendar months do not intervene between the last sitting in one session and the first sitting in the next session.

Session of Council to be held at least once a year.

The High Commissioner shall, by proclamation, appoint the place and time for holding each session of the Council, and every such session shall be holden accordingly.

XXIX. The High Commissioner in person or by proclamation may prorogue or dissolve the Council whenever he thinks fit, and, unless the Council be sooner dissolved, the elective Members shall hold their seats until the expiration of five years from the date of the return of the first writs at the last preceding general election. At the expiration of such five years, the High Commissioner shall dissolve the Council.

Prorogation and dissolution of Council.

General election after a dissolution. Bye elections.	A general election shall be held within two calendar months after a dissolution, and in case of a vacancy by death, resignation, or otherwise, an election shall be held as soon as possible after the vacancy occurs.
High Commissioner or senior non-elective Member to preside.	XXX. The High Commissioner when present shall preside at all meetings of the Council, and in his absence such non-elective Member as he shall from time to time appoint for that purpose, and in default of such appointment the senior non-elective Member of the Council present shall preside.
Quorum.	XXXI. No business (except that of adjournment) shall be transacted unless there be present six Members of the Council besides the High Commissioner or presiding Member.
The Council to conform to Instructions under the Royal Sign Manual and Signet.	XXXII. The Council shall, in the mode of transaction of business, whether for the passing of laws or other matters, conform as nearly as may be to such Instructions under His Majesty's Sign Manual and Signet as may from time to time be addressed to the High Commissioner in that behalf.
Standing Rules and Orders.	Subject to such Instructions, the Council shall, as soon as convenient after its first meeting, and from time to time afterwards as occasion may require, make standing Rules and Orders for the regulation of their own proceedings. And such Rules and Orders shall take effect when confirmed by the High Commissioner.
High Commissioner to initiate matters of finance. Any Member may propose other matters for debate.	XXXIII. No vote, resolution, or law for the appropriation of any part of the public revenue, or for the imposition of any tax or impost, shall be proposed except by the High Commissioner or by his direction; but with the foregoing exceptions, any Member may propose any question for debate in the Council, and such question, if seconded by any other Member, shall be debated and disposed of according to the standing Rules and Orders.
Questions.	The elective Members shall have the right to put questions to the non-elective Members on matters of public concern affecting the administration of their several departments.
Language of Minutes and debates.	XXXIV. Either the English, Greek, or Turkish language may be used in the debates of the Council. In taking down the Minutes and in Bills laid before the Council the English language shall be used, and Greek and Turkish translations shall be appended to the Minutes and Bills when printed for the use of Members.
Majority of votes to decide.	XXXV. All questions proposed for debate in the Council shall be decided by the majority of the votes of the Members present, and if upon any question the votes are equal, the High Commissioner if presiding shall have a casting vote, and if a non-elective Member be presiding, such non-elective Member shall have a casting vote in addition to his own original vote.
Casting vote.
Civil List reserved.	XXXVI. The several sums required for the under-mentioned services shall be permanently charged on the Consolidated Revenue of the Island, and shall be payable to His Majesty, His heirs and successors, every year until it shall be otherwise ordered by His Majesty, His heirs or successors, with the advice of His or their Privy Council :—

92,799*l.* 11*s.* 3*d.*, being a sum equal to the sums payable under the Annex, dated the 1st of July 1878, to the Convention of Defensive Alliance between Great Britain and Turkey, signed on the 4th of June 1878, and under an agreement respecting Cyprus lands signed by the Representatives of Great Britain and Turkey on the 3rd of February 1879.

4,000*l.* for the High Commissioner's salary.

600*l.* for the High Commissioner's establishment.

13,000*l.*, for salaries of Judges, Magistrates, Village Judges, and Officers of the Law Courts, and for the allowances and expenses of the said Courts.

5,000*l.*, for salaries of public offices the holders of which are non-elective Members of the Legislative Council.

XXXVII. For the purposes of this Order the term "High Commissioner," unless inconsistent with the context, shall include every person for the time being administering the Government of the Island.

Interpretation of "High Commissioner."

XXXVIII. His Majesty hereby reserves unto Himself, His heirs and successors, full power with the advice of His or their Privy Council to revoke, alter, or amend this Order as to Him or them shall seem fit.

Power of revocation reserved.

XXXIX. So much of the Order in Council of the 14th day of September 1878 as has not already been revoked, and the Orders in Council of the 30th November 1882, the 14th February 1883, the 3rd August 1886 (making an additional permanent charge on the Consolidated Revenue of Cyprus), and the 26th February 1897, relating to the Island, are hereby revoked, but without prejudice to anything lawfully done thereunder.

Revokes unrevoked part of Order in Council of 14th September 1878 and the Orders in Council of 30th November 1882, 14th February 1883, 3rd August 1886, and 26th February 1897.

XL. This Order shall commence and come into operation on publication in "The Cyprus Gazette."

And the Right Honourable the Earl of Elgin, K.G., one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State is to give the necessary directions herein.

A. W. FITZROY.

CYPRUS.

INSTRUCTIONS passed under the Royal Sign Manual and Signet to the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of the Island of Cyprus.

EDWARD R. & I.

Dated 9th August 1907.

INSTRUCTIONS to Our High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Island of Cyprus, or, in his absence, to the Officer administering the Government of the said Island for the time being.

WHEREAS by Our Order in Council bearing date the Sixth day of July 1907, We have ordained and declared that there shall be a High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief (hereinafter called the High Commissioner) in and over the Island of Cyprus (hereinafter called the Island), and that the person who shall fill the said office of High Commissioner shall be from time to time appointed by Commission under Our Sign Manual and Signet. And whereas by our said Order in Council We have further ordained and declared that the High Commissioner shall administer the Government of the Island in Our name and on Our behalf, and shall do and execute in due manner all things that shall belong to his said office, according to the tenour of any Our Orders in Council relating to the Island, and of such Commission as may be issued to him under Our Sign Manual and Signet, and according to such Instructions as may from time to time be given to him under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or by Our Order in Council, or by Us, through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State :

Recites Instructions of 14th September 1878, 14th December 1882, and Additional Instructions of 2nd June 1897.

And Whereas Her late Majesty Queen Victoria did issue under Her Sign Manual and Signet certain Instructions bearing date the Fourteenth day of September 1878, and the Fourteenth day of December 1882, and certain Additional Instructions bearing date the Second day of June 1897 :

And Whereas We are minded to substitute fresh Instructions for the aforesaid Instructions and Additional Instructions :

Revokes above recited Instructions and Additional Instructions.

Now We do by these Our Instructions under Our Sign Manual and Signet revoke—as from the date of the coming into force of Our above-recited Order in Council of the Sixth day of July 1907—the aforesaid Instructions and Additional Instructions but without prejudice to anything lawfully done thereunder and instead thereof We do direct and enjoin and declare Our Will and Pleasure as follows :—

Publication of High Commissioner's Commission.

I. Every person appointed to fill the office of High Commissioner shall, with all due solemnity, before entering on any of the duties of his office, cause Our Commission appointing him to be High Commissioner to be read and published in the presence of the Chief Justice or of some other Judge of the Supreme Court and such Members of the Executive Council of the Island as can conveniently attend: which being done he shall then and there take before them the Oath of Allegiance in the form provided by an Act passed in the Session holden in the Thirty-first and Thirty-second Years of the Reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, intituled "An Act to amend the Law relating to Promissory Oaths," which Oath the said Chief Justice or Judge, or, if they be unavoidably absent, the senior Member of the Executive Council then present is hereby required to administer.

Oath to be taken by High Commissioner, &c.

II. The High Commissioner may whenever he thinks fit, require any person in the public service of the Island, to take the Oath of Allegiance, together with such other Oath or Oaths as may from time to time be prescribed by any laws in force in the Island. The High Commissioner is to administer such Oaths or to cause them to be administered by some Public Officer of the Island.

High Commissioner empowered to administer Oaths.

III. The Executive Council of the Island shall, save as herein-after provided, consist of such persons not exceeding four, holding public offices within the Island as the High Commissioner may by an Instrument or Instruments made in Our name and under the Public Seal of the Island, constitute and appoint to be Members thereof. Whenever any such Member shall die, or resign his seat in the said Council, or be absent from the Island, or be lawfully suspended from his office, or become from any cause incapable of discharging the duties thereof, the High Commissioner may by any such Instrument as aforesaid nominate any other person whom he shall think fit, being within the Island, to fill any such vacancy.

Executive Council.

IV. In addition to the Members appointed under the preceding clause the High Commissioner may by an Instrument made in Our name and under the Public Seal of the Island, appoint any fit persons residing in the Island, not exceeding three in number at any one time, to be Members of the said Executive Council, and summon such Additional Members to the meetings of the said Executive Council on any occasion on which he shall think it desirable to obtain their advice.

Additional Members.

Provided that meetings of the said Executive Council shall be held to be duly constituted notwithstanding that the said Additional Members may not have been summoned thereto.

If any elected Member of the Legislative Council of the Island be appointed an Additional Member of the said Executive Council he shall cease to be such Additional Member as soon as he ceases to be a Member of the Legislative Council, and if any person who is not an elected Member of the Legislative Council be appointed to be an Additional Member of the Executive Council he shall vacate his seat as such Additional Member at the end of three years from the date of the Instrument by which he is appointed.

Vacation of Seats.

V. The High Commissioner shall without delay report to Us, through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, every appointment to the Executive Council, and every such appointment may be disallowed by Us through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, or may be revoked by the High Commissioner by an Instrument issued in Our name and under the Public Seal of the Island.

Appointment to the Executive Council to be reported.

High Commissioner to communicate Instructions to Executive Council.

Executive Council not to proceed to business unless summoned by the High Commissioner's authority.

Quorum.

Seniority of Members.

High Commissioner to consult Executive Council.

Proviso. Urgent cases.

High Commissioner to propose questions.

High Commissioner may act in opposition to Executive Council.

Reporting the grounds for so doing.

Members may require their opinions to be recorded on the Minutes.

Journals or Minutes of the Executive Council to be kept.

To be sent home twice a year.

VI. The High Commissioner shall communicate forthwith to the Executive Council these Our Instructions, and likewise all such others, from time to time, as he shall find convenient for Our service to impart to them.

VII. The Executive Council shall not proceed to the despatch of business unless duly summoned by authority of the High Commissioner, nor unless two Members at the least (exclusive of himself or of the Member presiding) be present and assisting throughout the whole of the meetings at which any such business shall be despatched.

VIII. The High Commissioner shall attend and preside at the meetings of the Executive Council, unless when prevented by some necessary or reasonable cause, and in his absence the senior Member of the Executive Council, actually present, shall preside at all such meetings; the seniority of the Members of the said Council being regulated according to the order of their respective appointments as Members of the said Council, unless the High Commissioner shall in any case otherwise direct.

IX. In the execution of the powers and authorities committed to the High Commissioner by Our said Order in Council, he shall in all cases consult with the Executive Council, excepting only in cases which may be of such a nature that, in his judgment, Our service would sustain material prejudice by consulting the Council thereupon, or when the matters to be decided shall be too unimportant to require their advice, or too urgent to admit of their advice being given by the time within which it may be necessary for him to act in respect of any such matters: Provided that in all such urgent cases he shall subsequently, and at the earliest practicable period, communicate to the Executive Council the measures which he may so have adopted, with the reasons thereof.

X. The High Commissioner alone shall be entitled to submit questions to the Executive Council for their advice or decision, but if the High Commissioner decline to submit any question to the Council when requested in writing by any Member so to do, it shall be competent to such Member to require that there be recorded upon the Minutes his written application, together with the answer returned by the High Commissioner to the same.

XI. The High Commissioner may act in opposition to the advice given to him by the Members of the Executive Council if he shall in any case deem it right to do so; but in any such case he shall fully report the matter to Us, by the first convenient opportunity, with the grounds and reasons of his action. In every such case it shall be competent to any Member of the Council to require that there be recorded at length on the Minutes the grounds of any advice or opinion he may give on the question.

XII. A full and exact Journal or Minute shall be kept of all the proceedings of the Executive Council; and at each meeting of the Council, the Minutes of the last preceding meeting shall be read over and confirmed or amended, as the case may require, before proceeding to the despatch of any other business. Twice in each year a full and exact copy of all Minutes for the preceding half-year shall be transmitted to Us through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

XIII. The non-elective Members of the Legislative Council as constituted by Our said recited Order in Council shall be the persons for the time being lawfully discharging the duties of the offices of Chief Secretary to the Government of Cyprus, King's Advocate, and Receiver General, and such other holders of public offices in the Island, not exceeding three in number at any one time, as We may from time to time appoint by any Instruction or Warrant under Our Sign Manual and Signet, or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

Non-elective Members of the Legislative Council.

XIV. In the passing of laws by the High Commissioner and the Legislative Council, the following rules and regulations shall be observed:—

Rules to be observed in the passing of laws.

1. The High Commissioner shall cause the draft of every law, whether proposed by an elective or non-elective Member, to be published in the Government Gazette, for general information, a reasonable time before the same is brought forward in the Council, unless the occasion for any such law appears to the High Commissioner to be too urgent to admit of the delay necessary for such publication.

Draft of laws to be published.

2. All laws shall be styled "Laws," and the enacting words shall be, "Enacted by the High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief (or, as the case may be, by the Officer administering the Government) of the Island of Cyprus, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof."

Style of laws.

Form of enacting laws.

3. All laws shall be distinguished by titles, and shall be divided into successive clauses or paragraphs, consecutively numbered, and to every such clause there shall be annexed in the margin a short summary of its contents. The laws of each year shall be distinguished by consecutive numbers, commencing in each year with the number one. All laws passed in any one year shall be assented to by the High Commissioner in that year, and shall be dated as of the day on which the assent of the High Commissioner is given and shall be numbered as of the year in which they are passed. Laws not assented to by the High Commissioner, but reserved by him for the signification of Our pleasure, shall be dated as of the day and numbered as of the year on and in which they are brought into operation.

Numbering, &c., of laws.

4. Each different matter shall be provided for by a different law, without intermixing in one and the same law such things as have no proper relation to each other; and no clause is to be inserted in or annexed to any law, which shall be foreign to what the title of such law imports, and no perpetual clause shall be part of any temporary law.

Different subjects not to be mixed in the same law.

Temporary laws.

XV. The High Commissioner shall not assent in Our name to any law of any of the classes herein-after specified; (that is to say,)

Description of laws not to be assented to.

1. Any law whereby any grant of land or money, or other donation or gratuity, may be made to himself.

2. Any law whereby any increase or diminution may be made in the number, salary, or allowances of the public officers.

3. Any law affecting the currency of the Island or relating to the issue of bank notes.

4. Any law establishing any banking association, or amending or altering the constitution, powers, or privileges of any banking association.

5. Any law imposing differential duties.

6. Any law the provisions of which shall appear inconsistent with obligations imposed upon Us by Treaty.

7. Any law interfering with the discipline or control of Our forces by land or sea.

8. Any law containing provisions to which Our assent has been once refused, or which have been disallowed by Us.

Proviso in case of emergency.

Unless such law shall contain a clause suspending the operation of such law until the signification of Our pleasure thereupon, or unless the High Commissioner shall have satisfied himself that an urgent necessity exists requiring that such law be brought into immediate operation, in which case he is authorised to assent in Our name to such law, unless the same shall be inconsistent with any obligations imposed on Us by Treaty. But he is to transmit to Us by the earliest opportunity the law so assented to, together with his reasons for assenting thereto.

Laws to be sent home duly authenticated.

XVI. When any law has been passed by the High Commissioner and the Legislative Council, he shall transmit to Us, for Our approval or disallowance, through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, a full and exact copy in duplicate of the same, together with a marginal summary thereof, duly authenticated under the Public Seal of the Island and by his own signature; and such copy shall be accompanied with such explanatory observations as may be required to exhibit the reasons and occasion for passing such law.

With marginal summary and explanatory observations.

Collection of laws to be published every year.

XVII. In the month of January, or at the earliest practicable period at the commencement of each year, the High Commissioner shall cause a complete collection to be published, for general information, of all laws enacted during the preceding year.

Minutes of proceedings of Legislative Council to be kept.

XVIII. Minutes shall be regularly kept of the proceedings of the Legislative Council, and the Council shall not proceed to the despatch of business until the minutes of the last preceding meeting have first been confirmed or corrected, as may be necessary; but the Minutes need not be first read over except upon motion to that effect by a Member. Twice in each year the High Commissioner shall transmit to Us, through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, a full and exact copy of the Minutes of the Council.

Minutes to be sent home twice a year.

Appointments to be provisional and during pleasure.

XIX. All Commissions to be granted by the High Commissioner to any person or persons for exercising any office or employment shall unless otherwise provided by law be granted during pleasure only, and whenever the High Commissioner shall appoint to any vacant office or employment any person not by Us specially directed to be appointed thereto, he shall at the same time expressly inform such person that such appointment is to be considered only as temporary and provisional until Our allowance or disallowance thereof be signified.

Suspension of officers.

XX. Before suspending from the exercise of his office any public officer whose emoluments exceed 100*l.* a year the High Commissioner shall signify to such officer, by a statement in writing, the grounds of the intended suspension, and shall call upon him to state in writing the grounds upon which he desires to exculpate himself. The High Commissioner shall lay both statements before the Executive Council, and having consulted them thereon shall cause to be recorded on the Minutes whether the Council or the majority thereof does or does not assent to the suspension; and if the High Commissioner thereupon proceed to such suspension he shall transmit both of the said statements, together with the Minutes of the Executive Council, to Us, through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State, by the earliest opportunity. But if in any case the interests of Our service shall appear to the High Commissioner to demand that a person shall cease to exercise the powers and functions of his office instantly, or before there shall be time to take the proceedings hereinbefore directed, the High Commissioner shall then interdict such person from the exercise of the powers and functions of his office.

XXI. Whenever any offender shall have been condemned to suffer death by the sentence of any Court within the Island the High Commissioner shall call upon the Judge who presided at the trial to make to him a written report of the case of such offender and shall cause such report to be taken into consideration at the first meeting thereafter which may be conveniently held of the Executive Council, and he may cause the said Judge to be specially summoned to attend at such meeting to produce his notes thereat. The High Commissioner shall not pardon or reprieve any such offender unless, upon receiving the advice of the Executive Council thereon, it shall appear to him expedient so to do; but in all such cases he is to decide either to extend or to withhold a pardon or reprieve, according to his own deliberate judgment, whether the Members of the Executive Council concur therein or otherwise; entering, nevertheless, on the Minutes of the Executive Council a Minute of his reasons at length, in case he should decide any such question in opposition to the judgment of the majority of the Members thereof.

XXII. The High Commissioner shall not upon any pretence whatever quit the Island without having first obtained leave from Us for so doing through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

XXIII. For the purposes of these Our Instructions, and of such other Orders and Instructions as have been or shall hereafter be addressed to the said High Commissioner, the term "High Commissioner" shall unless inconsistent with the context include every person for the time being administering the Government of the Island.

Given at Our Court at Saint James's, this Ninth day of August 1907, in the Seventh year of Our Reign.

PANAMA EXTRADITION ORDER IN COUNCIL, 1907.

THE following Order of His Majesty the King in Council is published for general information :—

(C.S. 2974/07.)

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

the 12th day of August, 1907.

PRESENT,

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

LORD PRESIDENT.

LORD STEWARD.

LORD CHAMBERLAIN.

LORD DENMAN.

LORD TWEEDMOUTH.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient;

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twenty-fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred and six, between His Majesty and the President of the Republic of Panamá, for the extradition of criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following :—

Extradition Treaty between the United Kingdom and Panamá.

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and the President of the Republic of Panamá, having determined, by common consent, to conclude a Treaty for the extradition of criminals, have accordingly named as their Plenipotentiaries :

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India,

Claude Coventry Mallet, Esquire, Companion of His Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, and His Consul for the Republic of Panamá, and

The President of the Republic of Panamá,

His Excellency Ricardo Arias, Secretary of State for the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs ;

Who, after having exhibited to each other their respective full powers and found them in good and due form, have agreed upon the following Articles :

ARTICLE I.

The High Contracting Parties engage to deliver up to each other, under certain circumstances and conditions stated in the present Treaty, those persons who, being accused or convicted of any of the crimes or offences enumerated in Article II, committed in the territory of the one Party, shall be found within the territory of the other Party.

ARTICLE II.

Extradition shall be reciprocally granted for the following crimes or offences :—

1. Murder, or attempt or conspiracy to murder.
2. Manslaughter.
3. Administering drugs or using instruments with intent to procure the miscarriage of women.
4. Rape.
5. Carnal knowledge, or any attempt to have unlawful carnal knowledge of a girl under the age of 16 years, so far as such acts are punishable by the law of the State upon which the demand is made.
6. Indecent assault.
7. Kidnapping and false imprisonment, child stealing.
8. Abandoning, exposing, or detaining children. ;
9. Abduction.
10. Bigamy.
11. Maliciously wounding or inflicting grievous bodily harm.
12. Assault occasioning actual bodily harm.
13. Threats, by letter or otherwise, with intent to extort money or other things of value.
14. Perjury, or subornation of perjury.
15. Arson or attempt to commit arson.
16. Burglary or housebreaking, robbery with violence, larceny, or embezzlement.

17. Fraud by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, director, member, or public officer of any Company.

18. Obtaining money, valuable security, or goods by false pretences; receiving any money, valuable security, or other property, knowing the same to have been stolen or unlawfully obtained.

19. (a) Counterfeiting or altering money, or bringing into circulation counterfeited or altered money.

(b) Knowingly making without lawful authority any instrument, tool, or engine adapted and intended for the counterfeiting of the coin of the realm.

20. Forgery, or knowingly uttering what is forged.

21. Crimes against bankruptcy law.

22. Any malicious act done with intent to endanger the safety of any persons travelling or being upon a railway.

23. Malicious injury to property, if such offence be indictable.

24. Piracy and other crimes or offences committed at sea against persons or things which, according to the laws of the High Contracting Parties, are extradition offences.

25. Dealing in slaves in such manner as to constitute a criminal offence against the laws of both States.

Extradition shall also be granted for participation in any of the aforesaid crimes, provided such participation be punishable by the laws of both Contracting Parties.

Extradition may also be granted at the discretion of the State applied to in respect of any other crime for which, according to the law of both the Contracting Parties for the time being in force, the grant can be made.

ARTICLE III.

Neither Party is obliged to surrender its own subjects or citizens to the other Party.

ARTICLE IV.

Extradition shall not take place if the person claimed on the part of His Britannic Majesty's Government, or of the Government of Panamá, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is waiting trial in the territory of the United Kingdom or in the Republic of Panamá respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed on the part of His Britannic Majesty's Government, or of the Government of Panamá, should be awaiting trial or undergoing sentence for any other crime in the territory of the United Kingdom, or in the Republic of Panamá respectively, his extradition shall be deferred until after he has been discharged, whether by acquittal or on expiration of sentence or otherwise.

ARTICLE V.

Extradition shall not be granted if exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applying or applied to.

Neither shall it be granted if, according to the law of either country, the maximum punishment for the offence charged is imprisonment for less than one year.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he proves that the requisition for his surrender has, in fact, been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VII.

A person surrendered shall in no case be kept in prison or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made for any other crime, or on account of any other matters, than those for which the extradition shall have taken place, until he has been restored, or has had an opportunity of returning to the State by which he has been surrendered.

This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents or Consuls-General of the High Contracting Parties respectively.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by a copy of the judgment passed on the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A sentence passed in contumaciam is not to be deemed a conviction, but a person so sentenced may be dealt with as an accused person.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

ARTICLE X.

A criminal fugitive may be apprehended under a warrant issued by any competent authority in either country, on such information or complaint, and such evidence, or after such proceedings, as would, in the opinion of the authority issuing the warrant, justify the issue of a warrant if the crime had been committed or the person convicted in that part of the dominions of the two Contracting Parties in which the said authority exercises jurisdiction; provided, however, that in the United Kingdom the accused shall, in such case, be sent as speedily as possible before a competent Magistrate.

He shall, in accordance with this Article, be discharged, as well in the Republic of Panamá as in the United Kingdom, if within the term of sixty days a requisition for extradition shall not have been made by the Diplomatic Agent or Consul-General of his country in accordance with the stipulations of this Treaty. The same rule shall apply to the cases of persons accused or convicted of any of the crimes or offences specified in this Treaty, and committed in the high seas on board any vessel of either country which may come into a port of the other.

ARTICLE XI.

The extradition shall take place only if the evidence be found sufficient according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the same State, or if extradition is claimed in respect of an offence of which the fugitive has been already convicted, to prove that the prisoner is the person convicted, and that the crime of which he has been convicted is one in respect of which extradition could, at the time of such conviction, have been granted by the State applied to.

ARTICLE XII.

The extradition of fugitives under the provisions of this Treaty shall be carried out in His Britannic Majesty's Dominions and in the Republic of Panamá, respectively, in conformity with the laws regulating extradition for the time being in force in the surrendering State.

ARTICLE XIII.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the Authorities of the State applied to shall admit as valid evidence the sworn depositions or the affirmations of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, and certificates of, or judicial documents stating the fact of a conviction, provided the same are authenticated as follows :—

1. A warrant must purport to be signed by a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of the other State.

2. Depositions or affirmations, or the copies thereof, must purport to be certified, under the hand of a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of the other State, to be the original depositions or affirmations, or to be true copies thereof, as the case may require.

3. A certificate of or judicial document stating the fact of a conviction must purport to be certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of the other State.

4. In every case such warrant, deposition, affirmation, copy, certificate, or judicial document must be authenticated either by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice or some other Minister of the other State; but any other mode of authentication for the time being permitted by the law of the country where the examination is taken may be substituted for the foregoing.

ARTICLE XIV.

If the individual claimed by one of the High Contracting Parties in pursuance of the present Treaty should be also claimed by one or several other Powers on account of other crimes or offences committed upon their respective territories, his extradition shall be granted to the State whose demand is earliest in date.

ARTICLE XV.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within ninety days from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, or within such further time as the State applied to, or the proper Tribunal thereof, shall direct, the fugitive shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XVI.

All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery of such articles, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XVII.

All expenses connected with extradition shall be borne by the demanding State.

ARTICLE XVIII.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the colonies and foreign possessions of His Britannic Majesty, so far as the laws in such colonies and foreign possessions respectively will allow.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or chief authority of such colony or possession by the chief Consular officer of the Republic of Panamá in such colony or possession.

Such requisition may be disposed of, subject always, as nearly as may be, and so far as the law of such colony or foreign possession will allow, to the provisions of this Treaty, by the said Governor or chief authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender or to refer the matter to his Government.

His Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of criminals from the Republic of Panamá who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, so far as the law of such Colony or foreign possession will allow, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

Requisitions for the surrender of the fugitive criminal emanating from any Colony or foreign possession of His Britannic Majesty shall be governed by rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XIX.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties by a notice not exceeding one year, and not less than six months.

It shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Panamá as soon as possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and affixed thereto their respective seals.

Done in duplicate in Spanish and English languages at Panamá the twenty-fifth day of August, nineteen hundred and six.

(L.S.) C. MALLET.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at Panamá on the fifteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and seven :

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Him by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the twenty-sixth day of August, one thousand nine hundred and seven, the said Acts shall apply in the case of Panamá, and of the said Treaty with the President of the Republic of Panamá :

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada, being Part I of chapter one hundred and fifty-five of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

SWEDEN EXTRADITION ORDER IN COUNCIL, 1907.

THE following Order of His Majesty The King in Council is published for general information :—
(C.S. 2828/07.)

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

the 12th day of August, 1907.

PRESENT,

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

LORD PRESIDENT.

LORD STEWARD.

LORD CHAMBERLAIN.

LORD DENMAN.

LORD TWEEDMOUTH.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, it was amongst other things enacted that, where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that His Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of His Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient :

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, between Her late Majesty Queen Victoria and His Majesty the King of Sweden and Norway, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, in the case of which Treaty the Extradition Acts of 1870 and 1873 were applied by Order in Council of the thirtieth September, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three :

And whereas an Agreement was concluded on the second day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seven, between the British and Swedish Governments, providing that the said Treaty shall remain in force between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Kingdom of Sweden, in so far as its provisions apply to the Kingdom of Sweden alone; and also declaring that certain additions shall be made to the offences set out in Article II of the said Treaty, which Agreement is in the terms following :—

The British and Swedish Governments, who agree that the Treaty signed at Stockholm on the 26th of June, 1873, between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Kingdoms of Sweden and Norway for the mutual surrender of fugitive criminals shall remain in force between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Kingdom of Sweden in so far as its provisions apply to the Kingdom of Sweden alone, and who deem it desirable to make certain additions to the said Treaty, have authorized the Undersigned to declare that the following additions should be made to the offences set out in Article II of the said Treaty for which, under the circumstances and conditions stated in the said Treaty, extradition is to be granted :—

19. Perjury and subornation of perjury.

20. Receiving any money, valuable security, or other property, knowing the same to have been stolen or embezzled.

21. Malicious wounding or inflicting grievous bodily harm.

22. Unlawful carnal knowledge of a girl under the age of fifteen years.

23. Bigamy.

24. Indecent assault.

25. Administering drugs or using instruments apt to procure the miscarriage of women, with intent to procure such miscarriage.

26. Any malicious act done with intent to endanger the safety of any person travelling or being upon a railway.

27. Knowingly making, without lawful authority, any instrument, tool, or engine adapted and intended for the counterfeiting of the coin of the realm.

28. Malicious injury to property, if such offence be indictable.

In witness whereof the Undersigned have signed the present Agreement and have affixed thereto the seals of their arms.

(L.S.) E. GREY.

(L.S.) HERMANN WRANGEL.

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to him by the said Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1906, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the twenty-sixth day of August, 1907, the said Acts shall apply in the case of Sweden under and in accordance with the said Treaty as supplemented by the said Agreement above set forth :

Provided always that the operation of the said Acts shall be and remain suspended within the Dominion of Canada so long as an Act of the Parliament of Canada, being Part I of chapter 155 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, and entitled "An Act respecting the Extradition of Fugitive Criminals," shall continue in force there, and no longer.

THURSDAY, 17TH OCTOBER, 1907.

(No. 8776.)

HIS EXCELLENCY THE HIGH COMMISSIONER directs the publication for general information of the following reports of addresses of, and replies to, deputations of Elected Members of the Legislative Council received at Nicosia on Saturday the 12th October, 1907, by the Right Honourable W. S. CHURCHILL, M.P., Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies.

THE HONOURABLE HAMI BEY, M.L.C., representing the Moslem Elected Members of Council, said :—

On behalf of the Moslem Community, I beg to offer thanks, and to express gratitude for the visit with which so high a personage as you, Sir, has been pleased to honour our Island.

The non-attendance of the Moslem Community at the ceremony of meeting and welcoming you, Sir, was due to the fact of their having been unable to reconcile with their national feelings their appearance among Greek flags, and I consequently pray that you may be pleased to accept their apology, and to kindly excuse them in that respect.

We absolutely repudiate the union of the Island with Greece, and request that the delivering of speeches on the subject in places of official and high standing may be categorically prohibited.

The indulgence hitherto shown in such matters having increased the boldness of the Greeks, we are even at this moment hardly able to pass through the streets because of the shouts of "zeto" and the display of Greek flags. You having personally been an eyewitness of these demonstrations, Sir, we entreat that they may in earnest be prohibited, because the contemptuous and aggressive acts taking place against the Moslems have passed all bounds; neither our persons nor our places of worship escape their insults and jeerings; the occurrence of such regrettable incidents in the towns being manifest, imagine, Sir, the state of the people in the villages. As a prolongation of this state of things would, God forbid, bring about grave results, it is solicited that measures for their prevention may be taken as soon as possible.

Neither do we want autonomy. We particularly desire that the conduct of public affairs should in any case be presided over by impartial and just Englishmen.

The granting of more extensive powers to the Legislative Council being also dangerous for the future, the preservation of the status quo is under all circumstances to be preferred.

As the discontinuance or reduction of the tribute of £92,000 would be an infringement of the provisions of the treaty, we absolutely repudiate this also. The illustrious British Government having just granted us in kindness an annual sum of £50,000, it is evident that a kindly assistance for the continuation and increase of that amount will be accepted and welcomed with great satisfaction.

Right Honourable Sir, the tranquillity of the country being threatened by reason of this true state of things, it is extremely necessary that British Troops in sufficient numbers should be stationed in all parts of the Island as a means of inspiring the public with a feeling of security.

As regards local requirements, we hope to be able to settle these with the able High Commissioner, and with the administrative staff of the Government of Cyprus ; but I wish to say this only that whereas a substantial increase in the amount of the grant-in-aid for education for the proper propagation and development of instruction in Cyprus, and the establishment of a university under the direct supervision of the Government would be greatly beneficial in every respect, I beg to earnestly draw your attention, Sir, to this important matter also.

By direction and on behalf of the Greek-Cypriot people who compose the four-fifths of the whole population of the Island, we the undersigned Representatives thereof in the Legislative Council, have the honour to express its and our unqualified joy for the visit of Your Honour in our country, and to greet you cordially on this occasion.

The presence of Your Honour amongst us is a strong proof of the lively interest which you and your Government take in order to ascertain closely and more directly, in your well known sound judgment, the various aspirations, needs and grievances of the peoples under the glorious sceptre and protection of His Majesty EDWARD VII. among which, we venture to believe, we hold a prominent position by reason of our descent, history, traditions and language.

The Cypriot people, therefore, quite justly attaches the proper importance to your visit in our country and calls to mind, on this occasion, a pleasant event which has held an immortal position in our national history : We mean the great, for us, national event, the visit to our Sister Ionian Islands of Great Gladstone whose principles you genuinely represent in the present Administration of the affairs of Great Britain. As that great Statesman has been the harbinger of the Union of the Sister Ionian Islands with Mother Greece, so we wish to look at Your Honour, whom we have since long expected as a beloved harbinger, and we do not doubt that from the moment you have landed, you must have certainly understood the strong and earnest desire which burns the breasts of every Cypriot, pushing him, since many centuries, steadily and undeviatingly to the fulfilment of his historical mission.

Long and odious servitude, oppressions and trials have been unable to check the irresistible impulse of this desire, which, gradually increasing, has formed, in stormy days, the infallible compass of the whole course of the Cypriot people, and has held it always fixed with sacred piety on its great national ideals.

National Aspirations.

Cyprus, Your Honour, as far as the lights of the latest archaeological researches have shewn, has been firstly inhabited by Greeks, and successive settlements have renewed the National ties and strengthened National spirit through centuries, which was always preserved strong, and was manifested on every opportunity, in the Letters and Arts as in the struggles and martyrdoms for the common Liberty and progress of the Greek race and humanity.

The Cypriot people has solemnly declared its glorious descent and strong National aspirations to the magnanimous English Nation from the first day of the British Occupation through the mouth of its highest ecclesiastical chief, and has never ceased since declaring publicly on every occasion given, by various Memorials to the Home Government and through its Representatives in the Legislative Council.

In expressing this desire to-day with greatest joy and sacred enthusiasm for the last time, as we venture to hope, we must above all declare that the Cypriot people unhesitatingly believes its realisation as the only basis and inexhaustible source of its true prosperity and as the only final goal of its historical career, from which no interest and no power either moral or material can ever possibly keep it away.

We confidently expect the realisation of this desire as soon as possible from the magnanimous English Nation which, continuing its liberal traditions, as formerly in the Ionian Islands, and adding another immortal page to its glorious history, and attracting the eternal gratitude not only of the people of Cyprus, but of all Hellenism all over the world, will restore this Island to whom it belongs, viz. : to the beloved Mother Greece, in the bosom of which only will it enjoy the blessings of liberty on which every people has imprescriptible rights, and especially a people by reason of descent, language, religion and civilisation, forming as it does an integral part of the immortal Greek race, which has born and promoted civilisation and developed humanity.

On this occasion, we deem it our duty to add that the Hellenic population of the Island follows, with a psychical pain, what takes place in Macedonia and Thrace where the imprescriptible rights of the Hellenic race are being immolated and where unheard of atrocities are being perpetrated by an intruded people, renewing the savage cruelties of bygone centuries. The Hellenic population of the Island considers it its bounden duty to protest to the Noble Representative of the British Government, asserting the inseparable national solidarity of the Hellenic Sections—only politically disunited, but closely united nationally—of the Hellenic Country, and solicits for the Brother victims the high protection of Great Britain.

The recognition and fulfilment of the historical National Right of the Cyprus Hellenes, the small Mahomedan minority might disapprove, actuated, no doubt, by religious rather than racial feeling : but its numerical existence in the Island is not so strong as to entitle it to dispose of the National fate of this most Hellenic Island, nor can it be alleged that its real activity in civilising and economical progress is possessed of any significance. Trade, Science, Arts, Letters, Industry and every work connected with mental or economical progress, are almost exclusively exercised by the Cyprus Hellenes.

It would be a great injustice to the co-habiting majority and a flagrant denial of the sacred right of Nationalities, were it hampered by a small alien minority from its highest National Rights and the fulfilment of its great mission. The Mahomedan minority will not be prejudiced by following the National fate of the Hellenic Majority ; but, on the contrary, will in a good many respects be benefited, as the Hellenic race has practically exhibited a remarkable religious tolerance and a tendency to communicate its own blessings to the foreign races, from the remotest years up to-day, as in Thessaly, Epirus, Crete and elsewhere.

Political Rights.

Moved by the above feelings, the Cyprus people considered very rightly since the very beginning the present political regime as a temporary and transitory one. Viewing it as such, we feel bound, declaring the general wish of the people, to emphasize the fact that the present Constitution granted to Cyprus is very limited, and, as such, altogether inadequate both to the spirit of the century and to the character and culture of the Cyprus people who, more than any other, is to-day conscious of the necessity of taking a more effectual part in the management of its own affairs.

We therefore beg to suggest :—

(1) That the Legislative Council may henceforward consist exclusively of Elected Members in proportion to the population of the two predominant races of the Island, the Government being represented by the Members of the Executive Council (i.e., Chief Secretary, King's Advocate and Receiver General) who should, however, have no vote.

(2) That the Legislative Council may be accorded full liberty in the management generally of the interests of the Island—the restrictions embodied in the Order in Council of 6th July 1907, Clause 33, being removed—the Crown reserving to itself the power of disallowance.

(3) The aptitude of the Cyprus people and its political maturity point to the need of larger and more effectual co-operation, on its part, in the Executive Authority. The Administrative and Judicial Authority should be entrusted in the hands of the Natives, due allowance being made to the proportion of the population.

Financial Condition of Cyprus.

Your visit to our Island will, certainly, recall to your mind the declarations in regard to the occupation of the Island made by those who administered the affairs of Great Britain in 1878, and will, more especially, remind you of the promise officially given that Cyprus was destined to become, under the British administration, a paradise of the East and a model of administration, as well as of the official and historical proclamation issued in the name of the late Queen Victoria by the first High Commissioner, Sir Garnet J. W. Wolseley, at the time of the occupation of this most famous country, whereby Her Majesty, within the hearing of the whole world, set the seal of her royal approval on the liberal promises of Great Britain to Cyprus. Bearing in mind those great promises to the English people by a responsible Government and those royal words promising a marvellous advancement of the Island, and seeing now the actual state of things in the Island, you must have felt your national amour-propre wounded and you must have been surprised to see with your own eyes how greatly the state of things in the Island differs from that which was promised.

You have passed, Right Honourable Sir, through that portion of the Island where the most numerous and the most important public works have been executed since the English occupation, and on which the whole of the loan made by the British Exchequer has been spent. It happens that you visit Cyprus at a time when she is in her happiest days owing to abundant harvests through an unbroken series of years and to an enhancement in the prices of all Cyprus products, but it will not, we believe, escape your perspicacity, that this prosperity is but temporary and that, in reality, the Island is in an unprosperous state.

It is to be regretted, Right Honourable Sir, that you have not more time at your disposal so as to visit the whole Island and, especially, the most neglected districts, and thus have a fuller picture of our financial condition and perceive from close observation the industry, the intelligence, the merit of the Cypriots, their love for progress and the multitude of their wants, their financial inability to improve their condition and the just vexation aroused by their deplorable financial condition, caused not by the economic conditions of the country itself but by entirely foreign pecuniary obligations—a vexation which, in spite of the gratitude they owe in other respects, leads them to describe the policy of the Government as a totally heartless policy.

It is admitted by all, Right Honourable Sir, that, from a financial point of view, the misfortunes of Cyprus are due to the yearly alienation of a sum of money which, in proportion to her resources and public revenue, is enormous.

His Majesty's successive Governments, the parties in opposition, and the Island's successive Governors—Sir Charles King-Harman occupying a prominent position among the latter—have all confessed that the Island's financial troubles are due to the great annual draining of the public revenue and that, owing to this draining of the public revenue, all that ought to be done under an English Government has not been done.

The English Government have, in a manner worthy of the noble traditions of the British nation and in disregard of the integrity and the sovereign rights of Turkey, assumed the initiative in the taking away from the hands of Turkey of the revenue of a most important Turkish province in Europe and in the application of that revenue for the improvement and advancement of that same province. While congratulating the British Government for that, we feel a still greater grief that such a Government and such a nation should, till now, suffer the people of Cyprus, who, by the help of God, have been freed of the Turkish administration for some decades past, to be wronged in a manner which is unheard of in the colonial history of Great Britain.

As regards the truly great injustice of imposing an entirely foreign obligation on the people of Cyprus, to which foreign obligation a very great portion of the country's public revenue is annually applied in spite of the just outcry raised by the people from the very first days of the English occupation and in spite of the cogent reasons for which we, on good grounds, consider that Great Britain is herself liable to pay what, on account of the strategical importance then attached to Cyprus, was privately agreed upon with the Sublime Porte, we will, in order not to speak at length herein, request that you will, Right Honourable Sir, have recourse to the copy hereto attached of a memorial of the representatives of the country under date the 12th February, 1903, and more especially to the contents thereof from its fifth to its twenty-eighth paragraphs. We emphatically declare that the squandering away in this manner of the public revenue of the Island was bound to bring about such financial enervation as to place the people of Cyprus at a disadvantage in comparison with other peoples in many most important respects, and to place them at this disadvantage in spite of the fact that they are under British administration, a fact which perplexes both the - Government and the people.

The sum of £1,781,942 which has, till now, been taken away from the Island would have been sufficient to make Cyprus in very truth a paradise of the East as promised by Great Britain. But owing to that action: (1) the grant-in-aid of the people's education is not even the fourth of what it ought to be in comparison to the population, which has manifestly shown hitherto how very eager it is for spiritual and moral development and culture and which, owing to that cruel abandonment, has been compelled to undertake a burden of additional taxation for the sake of education and which, in spite of this extraordinary sacrifice, is unable to make sufficient provision for education because of the fact that it is in want also of school buildings and of school furniture and of school apparatus, whilst, moreover, the school personnel, because of the meagre salaries given, is unable to satisfy the just claims of the country the more so because the best of the teachers give up their profession and follow other safer avocations to earn their livelihood and because even those school-masters who stand by the scholastic profession fail because of want of the necessary means. It is in vain that school groups have been devised whereby many villages maintain schools in common, because the regular attendance of children is rendered difficult by the lack of bridges and the great distances, especially in winter, and also because of the youth of the pupils. Further, with a view to obtaining a higher and more practical education in foreign languages and in business pursuits, a very great number of young men expatriate themselves and seek elsewhere the said higher and more practical education and thus take away with them from this financially exhausted country a great amount of money. (2) Owing to the insufficient provision in the estimates, not even the absolutely necessary public works have been performed, although a period of thirty years has elapsed; moreover a great part of the public works actually performed—these latter works are the most important ones being the Famagusta Harbour, the Railway and the Irrigation Works—have been made by means of a loan of over three hundred thousand pounds, and the public revenue of the Island has thus been burdened with a yearly charge of £13,000 for interest and sinking fund. With the exception of the Famagusta sea-port town all the rest of the Island remains without harbours, and, although Cyprus comes third in size among the Islands in the Mediterranean, she is the last of all as regards harbours, notwithstanding that heavy port dues are levied in all natural roadsteads of the Island; a great many torrents in the Island are yet bridgeless and, moreover, many public roads which have been laid out for many years past are still unexecuted and others which have been left incomplete are destroyed, and such of them as have been accomplished are deficiently maintained. Most necessary railway lines whereby flourishing district towns must be connected either with the capital town or other places which are thickly peopled and of a great production and with excellent summer resorts much appreciated by Cypriots and foreigners and especially by Europeans settled in Egypt, have not yet been constructed. In the face of the parsimoniousness of the Government, these progressive people have felt compelled to construct public roads by paying the one-half of the expenditure and to maintain many of those roads for many years out of their own purse, and also to subject themselves to a corvée for roadmaking for the purpose of developing the communication between towns and villages and to grant private properties for the purpose. There are district towns wherein no buildings for the offices of their Commissioners, their Courts and the other branches of the public service have yet been erected. (3) The chief wealth-creating source of the Island, i.e., agriculture, has not been duly protected or sensibly improved, but is still in a primitive state and is, moreover harassed by manifold diseases, by animals and by insects of which the locust has become a permanent financial scourge owing to the extra taxation, called the Locust Tax, which the Government has, in a great extent, succeeded to consolidate for the fulfilment of its own obligations, for which the Government ought to spend out of the general revenue. Agriculture is bent down and stifled by the oppressive system of the tithes. (4) Tracts of land which have no trees or have been denuded of their trees have not been re-afforested to the hygienic, climatic and financial detriment of the people. (5) Public health is not duly guarded, sanitary works have not been made, whilst malarious places are to be found not only in the open country but even near the towns. The rural medical service is still very scanty and the villages are in a very unhealthy state, and the loss by contagious diseases of various animals and cattle is great. In the towns, the Municipalities, on account of the heavy taxation levied on townspeople, are yet unable to impose Municipal taxes so that they may be able to make provision for the absolute wants of their communities. (6) No sum of money is provided for archæological excavations in the Island, although archæological treasures of great scientific value lie hidden under the soil of Cyprus, nor has it been possible to build an archæological Museum after such a great period of time. (7) A great many of the villages of the Island are without a mail communication. (8) The living of the native Government officials has become precarious owing to the enhancement in the cost of the necessaries of life and the unusual meagreness of their salaries, and the public service runs the risk of being deprived of its able officials. The Police branch, especially, runs the risk of being dissolved to the incalculable detriment of public peace because of the fact that its abler and better elements withdraw from it and idlers and incapable persons are enrolled in their places. (9) No provision proportionate to the resources of the country has been made for the support and encouragement of native industries and for a professional and practical education of the heavily taxed people.

The Cyprus people, Right Honourable Sir, are justified in thinking then that all the above requirements as well as others besides could be satisfied with their own money and it is with good reason that they see, with great pain, this money being taken away from them by force, and themselves in consequent misfortune, but they find a consolation now in the fortunate fact of your presence which enables them to submit an expression of all their feelings and of all their wants and to invoke the kindly attention of His Majesty's Government and the sympathy of the British people for the removal of so great an injustice—an injustice which is perpetrated under British sovereignty and administration.

The fact that Great Britain has now undertaken to disburse in the future more than she has disbursed in the past in meeting the liability under the Convention of 1878 is regarded as the beginning of a rapid and complete deliverance of the country from that burden, and is, therefore, hailed as the dawn of a better future without which any marked progress in the Island is impossible.

We take advantage of this opportunity of tendering our thanks to His Majesty's Government for having entrusted the administration of this Island to the hands of His Excellency Sir Charles King-Harman, who, by his uprightness and sincerity, by his political perspicacity and wisdom, by his deep study of the needs and just complaints of the country, and by his sincere co-operation with the elected representatives of the people, has succeeded in removing, to a very great extent, acute friction between the people and the Government, and has thus deservedly won the appreciation and respect of the Cypriot people.

In conclusion, the Hellenic people of this land of Cyprus, so famed in history, now temporarily entrusted by Divine Providence to the governance of the glorious British sceptre, and under the rule of the most beloved of all powerful sovereigns, ardently yearn for the grant from the great and magnanimous British nation in accordance with the will of God, and to the eternal gratitude of the whole Hellenic race—of their most speedy Union with their glorious Mother Greece.

We remain, Right Honourable Sir, your most obedient servants,

The Greek Representatives of Cyprus,

MR. CHURCHILL replied as follows :—

I find it a great pleasure and a very useful experience in my travels to meet here to-day so many capable and experienced parliamentary representatives of the people of Cyprus.

I congratulate Cyprus and I congratulate your constituents on the ability with which they find their representatives endowed ; and I congratulate you, gentlemen, on the eloquence and force with which the Bishop of Kitium has unfolded his case. And this brings me to the consideration of one of the important questions raised in the address, namely, an alteration of the existing Constitution to secure what you describe as a widening of political liberties, but what might also be described as a greater predominance and power for the Greek element in the Constitution of the Island. Because I am quite sure there can be no question of importance affecting the Greek Community, to the discussion of which its representatives are not able to bring a great fund of knowledge, and upon the decision of which they are not able to bring an effective influence.

In reviewing the proceedings of the Legislative Council, it does not appear to me that the wishes of the representatives of the people have suffered from any insufficiency of expression or from any failure to shape or control legislation. I have carefully examined and considered the Constitution of the Government, and I fail to discern at present any way by which the influence and power of the Greek Elected Members could be increased which would not in fact involve a surrender of sovereignty and an inability, not only on the part of the British Government but also in that of the Moslem minority, to exercise any further influence on the course of affairs. It may be that in the course of time such a way may be discovered ; and though I do not see it now, I will not fail to think about it.

But when it is suggested that the elected representative element in the Legislative Council should actually have power to initiate expenditure, I am bound to remind you that that power does not belong to private Members of the House of Commons, and that the initiation of expenditure is confined, I believe in all countries possessing parliamentary institutions, to the Executive Government, on which the responsibility also rests.

And when I pass from the question of amending the Constitution to the even larger political question which the Greek Elected Members have brought forward, of the Union of Cyprus with Greece, I must speak at a little greater length.

That is a very grave question, in fact the gravest and most serious question which could possibly be raised by the representatives whom I see before me. It involves not only an absolute change in the Government of the Island, but also the abrogation of the Treaty with Turkey. It involves further the setting aside of the views of nearly one-third of the population, and the creation of what would probably be a permanent and dangerous antagonism between the two sections of the community. Strongly as you, gentlemen, may feel on this question, you will agree with me that it is the gravest which could possibly be raised by the people of the Island.

I think it is only natural that the Cypriot people, who are of Greek descent, should regard their incorporation with what may be called their Mother-country as an ideal to be earnestly, devoutly, and fervently cherished. Such a feeling is an example of the patriotic devotion which so nobly characterises the Greek nation ; and while I trust that those who feel so earnestly themselves will not forget that they must show respect for the similar feelings of others, I say that the views which have been put forward are opinions which His Majesty's Government do not refuse to regard with respect. On the other hand the opinion held by the Moslem population of the Island, that the British occupation of Cyprus should not lead to the dismemberment of the Ottoman Empire, and that the mission of Great Britain in the Levant should not be to impair the sovereignty of the Sultan, is one which His Majesty's Government are equally bound to regard with respect.

It has not been represented to His Majesty's Government that the Greek nor yet the Moslem population of Cyprus is actually discontented with the British administration of the Island. Many complaints, some of which are well founded, have been made that the progress of the Island during the British occupation has not been so rapid or so substantial as had been anticipated. But I do not think that any just-minded man who remembers the past history of Cyprus, and observes the fortunes of other countries in other parts of the world, would commit himself to any absolute condemnation of the existing state of the Government. Nor, be it remarked, even in the memorials presented to me, do I find any facts alleged or any reasons adduced which would lead me to believe that the material welfare of the Island would be appreciably increased were the administration to be transferred to any other Power. His Majesty's Government may therefore be encouraged to hope that the people of Cyprus, while cherishing great national ideals, are content, for the present at least, to be governed in accordance with British ideas of justice and freedom.

His Majesty's Government believe that the people of Cyprus appreciate the fact that their condition, social, political and economical, has been considerably improved during the last 30 years; and if complaints exist that the progress of the Island has not been commensurate with the promises made, and the hopes entertained, at the time of the occupation, it will be the duty of the Government by all possible means to remove the grounds which may exist for those complaints.

With reference to the cession of the Ionian Islands to Greece, and the comparison made between those Islands and Cyprus, I must observe that the analogy is by no means complete, if only for this reason—that the Ionian Islands, at the time of cession, were in the possession of Great Britain, and accordingly at the disposal of Great Britain—which is of course by no means the case with regard to Cyprus.

In these circumstances, and in view of the considerations which I have put before you, it is the duty of Great Britain to remain in occupation of Cyprus, and I think it is my duty to say to you that His Majesty's Government cannot recognise that the time has come when the Island should be abandoned, or when any change in its political status should be effected.

I have left the question of the Tribute to the last, because it is the most practical of the questions on which you have addressed me. It is a matter which has a political as well as a financial aspect. From the political point of view, it is clear that payment could only cease with the abrogation of the treaty by which the occupation of the Island is secured; and His Majesty's Government do not contemplate any abrogation of the treaty.

The financial aspect of the matter has already received the serious consideration of His Majesty's present advisers. By recent arrangements, which fix the amount of the annual grant-in-aid at £50,000, the pressure on the Island Treasury has already been reduced and relieved. I hope that larger funds may be available in the near future for the development of public works in various parts of the Island. But any advantages which may have been conferred on you by these arrangements you owe in the first place to the exertion made on your behalf by His Excellency Sir Charles King-Harman. He is the best friend Cyprus has had for some time; and as I know from my own knowledge, he is neglecting no opportunity of pressing the interests of Cyprus on the Home Government.

Now that I have had the pleasure of seeing your beautiful Island, and have had opportunities of making friends, or at any rate of making acquaintance, with so many of its leading persons of influence and authority, I shall join my efforts to his in the attempt to secure more liberal treatment and greater advantages for the Island. It is quite true that the new arrangement of the grant-in-aid is limited to a period of three years. But I daresay that when the time to reconsider it is reached, if the British Government see encouraging results from the new arrangement already achieved, it will certainly not be altered to the disadvantage of the Island.

The financial condition of the Island is improving, and will continue to improve; and with the increasing prosperity of the people means will be found for repairing past failures and undertaking further improvements. I shall report all that I have seen and all that you have said to me to Lord Elgin when I return to England; and I am sure you will find in him a Minister who is most desirous of using his influence to promote the highest interests and most rapid advancement of the people of Cyprus.

By His Excellency's Command,

J. E. CLAUSON,

Chief Secretary to Government.

ANTIQUITIES LAW, 1905.

AN election of five members of the Museums Committee to be established under the above-named Law will take place in accordance with the directions hereinafter given.

Annual Subscribers of not less than 10s. to the Cyprus Antiquities Fund will be entitled to vote thereat.

All persons desiring to subscribe are invited to send their subscriptions to the Commissioners of their respective Districts.

In exercise of the power vested in him by the above-named Law His Excellency the High Commissioner is pleased to give the following directions as to the said election :—

1. All persons who, not later than the 1st day of November, 1907, shall have subscribed the sum of 10s. or upwards to the Cyprus Antiquities Fund will be entitled to vote.

2. Persons desiring to vote shall write or cause to be written the name or names of the person or persons, not being more than five in number, for whom they wish to vote on the official voting paper which will be given to them on payment of their subscriptions.

3. No fraction of a vote will be counted and no voter may give more than one vote to any candidate.

4. If any voter purports to give more than one vote to any candidate, only one vote in favour of such candidate shall be counted in respect thereof, and if the names of more than five persons, for whom any voter purports to vote, be written on the voting paper, the names of the first five only shall be counted.

5. No vote will be counted unless it be on an official voting paper nor unless the signature of the person entitled to vote therewith, or the mark of such person together with the signature of a witness to the making of such mark, appear upon the face of the voting paper.

6. Persons desiring information as to the proper method of recording their votes may apply to the Commissioner of their District. Commissioners may draw the attention of voters to any errors in the filling up of their voting papers with a view to such errors being corrected by the voter. Such corrections should be initialled by the Commissioner.

7. All voting papers shall be delivered by voters, or on their behalf, to the Commissioner of the District (personally or at his Office) in which such voters respectively reside not later than 4.30 p.m. on the 1st day of November, 1907.

8. Persons may also vote by sending their voting papers, so written upon as aforesaid, by post or by hand to the Chief Secretary, but no voting paper so sent shall be taken into account unless it reach the Chief Secretary's Office on or before 4.30 p.m. on the said 1st day of November, 1907.

9. Except as provided by Clause 6 hereof, voters shall not be entitled to make any alteration in their voting papers, nor to have them returned or cancelled, when they have been delivered at the Chief Secretary's Office or to the Commissioner of the District as hereinbefore mentioned.

10. Persons losing their voting papers must apply personally or by their agents duly authorised by power of attorney so to do, to the Commissioners of their respective Districts who will furnish them with a new voting paper. The Commissioner shall write or cause to be written the "Voting paper cancelled" across the counterfoil of the voting paper and shall have all necessary entries made on the counterfoil of the new voting paper which latter shall thenceforward be in lieu of the old voting paper and subject to all the directions herein contained originally applicable thereto.

11. All votes not recorded at the Chief Secretary's Office shall be forwarded to the Chief Secretary's Office as soon as possible after the said 1st day of November and shall be counted by the Chief Secretary, the Receiver General and the Registrar General, with such assistance as they may deem it necessary to employ. Any question as to the validity of any vote shall be decided by the said three persons whose decision shall be final.

12. The result of the election shall be notified in the Cyprus Gazette as soon as possible after the said counting.

THE COLONIAL PRISONERS' REMOVAL ORDER IN COUNCIL, 1907.

THE following Order of His Majesty the King in Council is published for general information :—
(C.S. 3377/07.)

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,
The 9th day of September, 1907.

PRESENT,

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY

LORD PRESIDENT

LORD DENMAN

SIR CHARLES HARDINGE

MR. HARCOURT.

HIS MAJESTY, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf vested in Him by the Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1884, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council to make the following Order as to the removal and return of prisoners and criminal lunatics under the said Act :—

I. Every prisoner removed under the said Act from a British Possession to the United Kingdom for the purpose of undergoing the residue of a sentence involving confinement in a prison combined with hard labour, shall, in the United Kingdom, be dealt with as follows that is to say,

If the original period of his sentence did not exceed two years, in the same manner as if he had been sentenced in the United Kingdom to imprisonment with hard labour for the same period.

And if the original period of his sentence exceeded two years, in the same manner, as nearly as may be, as if he had been sentenced in the United Kingdom to penal servitude for the same period.

II. Every prisoner removed under the said Act from one British Possession to another British Possession for the purpose of undergoing the residue of a sentence shall in such last-mentioned British Possession be dealt with in the same manner as if he had there been sentenced to such punishment authorized by the law thereof as in the opinion of the Secretary of State signing the Order of Removal shall most nearly correspond to the punishment to which he was sentenced in the first mentioned British Possession, and for the same period.

III. If the prisoner or criminal lunatic is to be removed to the United Kingdom—

- (1) A Secretary of State shall make out and sign the Order of Removal in duplicate and shall send one copy to the Governor of the Colony from which the prisoner is to be removed, and the Governor shall thereupon make out and sign in duplicate a Notification of Concurrence in the Order of Removal.
- (2) One copy of the Order of Removal shall be retained in the Colony and the other copy shall be transmitted by a Secretary of State to the Home Office for record.
- (3) One copy of the Notification of Concurrence shall be retained in the Colony and attached to the Order of Removal and the other shall be sent to a Secretary of State and shall by him be transmitted to the Home Office for record.

IV. If the prisoner or criminal lunatic is to be removed to a British Possession—

- (1) A Secretary of State shall make out and sign the Order of Removal in triplicate and shall send one copy to the Governor of each Colony concerned, who shall thereupon make out and sign in triplicate a Notification of Concurrence in the Order of Removal.
- (2) The Governor of the Colony from which the prisoner is to be removed shall retain the copy of the Order of Removal and one copy of the Notification of Concurrence which he shall attach to the Order of Removal, and shall send the second copy of the Notification to the Governor of the Colony to which the prisoner is to be removed, and the third copy of the Notification to a Secretary of State.
- (3) The Governor of the Colony to which the prisoner is to be removed shall retain the Copy of the Order of Removal and one copy of the Notification of Concurrence which he shall attach to the Order of Removal, and shall send the second copy of the Notification to the Governor of the Colony from which the prisoner is to be removed, and the third copy of the notification to a Secretary of State.

Provided that the above procedure shall not apply to the removal of a prisoner or criminal lunatic from one British Possession to another in pursuance of an agreement made between such Possessions and sanctioned by Order in Council under the provisions of the Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1869.

V. A Removal Warrant duly made out and signed shall be transmitted with every prisoner or criminal lunatic who is removed. The Warrant shall be handed over with the prisoner or criminal lunatic to every person from time to time authorized to receive him in custody for the purpose of giving effect to the Order of Removal.

VI. The forms in the Schedule to this Order or forms to the like effect varied as circumstances may require may be used under the said Act.

VII. This Order shall commence and come into operation on the first day of November 1907.

VIII. The Order in Council of the thirteenth day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty nine made under the Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1884, shall continue in force until the commencement of this Order, and shall thereupon be revoked without prejudice to anything lawfully done thereunder.

IX. This Order may be cited as "The Colonial Prisoners' Removal Order in Council 1907."

A. W. FITZROY.

SCHEDULE REFERRED TO IN THE FOREGOING ORDER IN COUNCIL.

I.—ORDER OF REMOVAL OF A PRISONER.

Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1884.

Whereas A.B. was on the day of convicted before the Court of of the crime (or offence) of and sentenced to penal servitude (or imprisonment, or, as the case may be) for the term of years (or for life), and is now undergoing the said sentence in the Colony (or Protectorate, or) of :

And whereas it is likely that the life (or health) of the said A.B. will be endangered (or permanently injured) by further imprisonment in the said Colony (or Protectorate, or) :

[Or whereas the said A.B. belonged at the time of committing the said offence to the Royal Navy (or to His Majesty's regular military forces)] :

[Or whereas the said offence was committed wholly (or partly) beyond the limits of the said Colony, (or Protectorate, or)] :

[Or whereas by reason of there being no prison in the said Colony (or Protectorate, or) in which the said A.B. can properly undergo his sentence (or, for other reasons to be stated) the removal of the said A.B. is expedient for his safe custody (or for more efficiently carrying his sentence into effect)] :

[Or whereas the said A.B. belongs to a class of persons who under the law of the said Colony (or Protectorate, or) are subject to removal under the Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1884] :

Now I do hereby in pursuance of the Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1884, with the concurrence of the Government of the said Colony (or Protectorate, or) [and the Government of the Colony (or Protectorate, or) of], order that the said A.B. be removed to the United Kingdom [or to the Colony (or Protectorate, or) of] there to undergo the residue of his said sentence (with such variations of the conditions thereof as are or shall be provided by any regulations in force for the time being under the said Act) in accordance with the said Act.

Given under the hand of the undersigned, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, this day of 190 .

II.—NOTIFICATION OF CONCURRENCE IN ORDER OF REMOVAL OF A PRISONER.

Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1884.

Whereas an order has been made under the Colonial Prisoners' Removal Act, 1884, by one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State for the removal of A.B. a prisoner now in custody in the Colony (or Protectorate, or) of to the United Kingdom [or the Colony (or Protectorate or) of] :

Now I, the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor or the Officer Administering the Government) of the Colony (or Protectorate, or) of , with the advice of the Executive Council of the said Colony (or Protectorate, or) hereby concur in the said Order of Removal.

As witness my hand this day of 190 .

III.—WARRANT FOR REMOVAL OF A PRISONER.

PERAPEDHI IRRIGATION WORKS.

RULES DRAWN UP BY THE COMMITTEE UNDER LAW XI. OF 1887, FOR THE PROTECTION AND REPAIR OF WATER COURSES AND CHANNELS CONNECTED WITH THE IRRIGATION OF THE LANDS OF PERAPEDHI.

1. Every owner of land entitled to irrigation from the Kryos Potamos shall pay 3cp. per donum, per annum, to defray the expenses connected therewith.

2. The money shall be paid as follows: one half on or before the 1st July and the other half by the 1st September in each year.

3. The assessment will be based on the lists set out in the Schedule hereto, which show the names of the proprietors who will be benefitted by the Perapedhi Irrigation Works, and the number of donums possessed by each, subject always to any changes of ownership which may have occurred since that date and which will be notified by the Committee to the Commissioner.

4. The money shall form a fund to be called the "Perapedhi Water Fund" and shall be administered by the Committee, one member being appointed Cashier.

5. The Cashier shall keep careful account of all moneys collected and expended.

6. If the Committee find that the sum of 3cp. per donum is insufficient to cover the expenses of the year, they are hereby authorised to levy one more piastre per donum from each proprietor on the list, provided the sum levied shall not exceed four piales per donum.

Provided always that, in the event of the accounts at any time showing a surplus revenue, the Committee are authorised to reduce the assessment imposed under rule one by such amount as they may deem practicable.

7. If the Committee report in writing to the Commissioner that a proprietor has neglected to pay his dues under rule two, such proprietor, as long as he shall continue in default, shall be precluded from taking water from the channel. If he persists, by fraud or force, in taking water he shall be prosecuted by the Committee under Law XI. of 1887.

8. The owner of the water mill situate near the Troödos Road, near the premises of the Perapedhi Wine Association, shall pay £1 yearly, for the water to which he is entitled, in addition to any payments due under rule one.

9. Lists shall be annually published in the Cyprus Gazette, and shall be always open to inspection, showing the names of proprietors of and of the area of land owned by each. A copy shall be sent to the office of the Commissioner.

10. The Committee shall appoint a guard, with pay at a rate not exceeding £2 a month, for such months as the Committee shall think necessary.

11. All channels and dams shall be maintained in good condition by the owners of lands through which they pass, without interfering with the flow of water.

12. Any person damaging or destroying any channel or dam shall make good the damage within a time to be fixed by the Committee.

13. No person shall enlarge or lessen the width of any branch or canal or open any new channel, or interfere in any way with the works without the leave in writing signed by the Committee, and no leave shall be given under this rule until 10 days after a notice has been published in the village of Perapedhi so that any complaints against the application may be enquired into by the Committee and the Commissioner.

14. No one shall be allowed to cut the water either with a view of obtaining more water for his own fields or for any other purpose whatever. Should any person take water to which he is not entitled, he shall pay a fine at the rate of five shillings per hour and compensation to the owner thereby affected.

15. Every person upon whom a notice for that purpose has been served by the Commissioner or the Committee shall, at once, clean such part of the channel as runs through his fields of any stones or rubbish which might divert the water or stop its proper course, and shall even (if required to do so in the said notice) remove all stones and other things intended to direct the water on to his field at the proper time.

16. Any Court or other expenses necessary for the prosecution of offenders shall be paid from the funds collected under these rules.

17. The mode of making sluices shall be as the Committee may indicate.

18. The dam of the mill stream, and the channel up to the garden of Yannis Papa Christodoulou shall be kept in repair by the owner of the mill.

19. The arch of the channel of the outflow of the mill water to the garden of the mill called "Koronos," shall be kept in repair by the owner of the mill.

20. All the gardens which have hitherto been irrigated by the water of the Kryos Potamos, shall continue to be so irrigated, subject to the directions of the Committee.

21. The Committee shall hold office for two years, and a new Committee shall be elected at a meeting of proprietors interested, to be held every two years.

22. Two members with the Commissioner shall form a quorum. If all four members present are equally divided on any question, the Commissioner as President shall have a casting vote.

23. A statement of Receipts and Expenditure under these rules shall be furnished by the Committee to the Commissioner and a copy shall be posted in the village of Perapedhi between June 15th and 30th each year.
